The official flag of the City of Coon Rapids was designed in 1969. Members of the Flag Committee were: LeRoy Johnson, Chair; Jack Blesi; Garth Lappin; Jack Dorholt; and Joseph and Gladys Cook. The flag was presented to the City by American Legion Post #334. The official presentation was made to the City Council by Post Commander Orrin Randall on March 17, 1970.

Inside Back Cover
Coon Rapids, "A Fine City by a Dam Site" - this title is no accident. This book will excite your curiosity to seek out unrecorded information about this City located adjacent to the mighty Mississippi River. There has been no thorough, recorded and documented history of the City of Coon Rapids written previously to this time.

The Coon Rapids Historical Commission has been promoting the writing of a Coon Rapids history for some time. The research and time required to do this was, however, overwhelming for a volunteer commission. As the 25th anniversary year for Coon Rapids as a City came closer, the Commission had stronger feelings about having a documented history of Coon Rapids produced. As budget time approached in 1983 for the 1984 fiscal year, the Commission decided to request funds for research and to write the history. Through two channels, funding for the project was finally approved. The City Council provided funds in addition to funding obtained through the Minnesota Emergency Employment Development Act (MEED).

In December of 1983, Leslie Randels-Gilund was employed by the City of Coon Rapids to research and write the history. Mrs. Gilund is a board member of the Association for Certification for Minnesota Genealogists, Inc. She has compiled and produced a book on Randels Roots and Branches, a well-documented history of her family. She has written articles for the Minnesota Genealogist Newsletter and has had columns in the Sun Newspaper entitled Roots and Branches. She has done research work on history for attorneys, authors, and many individuals. Mrs. Gilund was president of the Anoka County Historical Society from 1975 through 1979. While president, she was coordinator and instrumental in publishing the book Silent Cities, a book on cemeteries in Anoka County. She also helped in compiling information on two other booklets about cemeteries in Champlin and Dayton in Hennepin County. Mrs. Gilund is a certified specialist in Minnesota history research.

The history of Coon Rapids is written in three chapters. Chapter I - In the Beginning - takes you from 1849 to 1952. It was during this era that Anoka Township (Coon Rapids) was in a very rural setting. There were times within this period that activity flourished, such as the brickyards era and the busy times during the dam construction in 1912 and 1913. Population of the Township in 1952, just prior to the time of the incorporation as a Village, was under 3,000 people.

Chapter II covers the period of time in which Coon Rapids was a Village, October 1952 up to June of 1959. Many things happened during the change from a rural setting to a suburban community. Population of the Village went from under 3,000 to just under 15,000 in the short span of eight years. The name Coon Rapids was now becoming known in the greater Metropolitan area.

The next 25 years of the City's growth, the activities in government and in semi-public development are contained in Chapter III. No city can progress and develop unless it has the help and cooperation of its citizens. Coon Rapids is very fortunate in that respect because many citizens from all walks of life have helped and participated in the government affairs of the City. Those people who have helped in forming the City are mentioned in this chapter.

"The survival of democracy depends upon the ability of a large number of people to make realistic choices in the light of adequate information." This quote by Aldous Huxley is the introduction to Chapter III and precisely identifies why the City of Coon Rapids is known for its progressiveness and leadership in the Metropolitan area.

Ultimately the freeway from the bridge will extend eastwardly from Highway Nos. 10 and 47 through Blaine and will be the new route of State Trunk Highway No. 10 through the County. The total impact of the freeway and bridge on the City of Coon Rapids is impossible to gauge at this time but it will undoubtedly enhance commercial, industrial, and housing development by providing fast, efficient access to the Twin Cities area and to the interstate system. It will provide a fast route south to people of the north suburban area who work in the Twin Cities. An increased flow of traffic is expected on East River Road, however traffic will be decreased south of the system. Total cost of Phase I of the project is approximately $25,000,000. The date for completion of the project is late 1987. Coon Rapids City Council's 18 years of continued interest and determination was finally successful. The bridge over the Mississippi River at Coon Rapids is to become a reality.
COON RAPIDS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION PARKS

In conjunction, but not associated with the City Parks and Recreation Commission, is the totally volunteer organization of the Coon Rapids Athletic Association (CRAA). This private, non-profit corporation was organized in 1964 with the dedicated purpose of developing recreational activities for City youth. It is governed by a Board of Directors, elected from the membership which is made up of parents whose children are enrolled in any of the programs offered. It is one of the largest all-volunteer athletic associations in the State of Minnesota. The Coon Rapids Athletic Association Auxiliary is a large group of mothers who volunteer their time in the areas of registration, team photos, operation of the concession stands, and coordinating the annual sales of candy and mixed nuts. Through the fund-raising efforts of these important volunteers, registration fees are kept to a minimum. The Auxiliary has generated an average of $20,000 annually for a five-year period. The CRAA Board of Directors work closely with the Coon Rapids City Council, City staff, the Community Services Department of Anoka-Hennepin School District No. 11, and the Community School Directors. No direct tax money is received by CRAA; however, the City’s park facilities are utilized for all recreational programs. The City of Coon Rapids and the School District supply administrative and clerical assistance. The CRAA uses 1,400 square feet of space in the City Garage for storage of athletic equipment through a Joint Powers Agreement. A concession building was erected by the organization at Sand Creek Park for use during their activities. Programs offered by CRAA include softball, soccer, football, basketball, hockey, wrestling, and track. In 1968-69, registration totaled 2,105 and in 1980 had grown to 4,130 participants. Over 200 men and women volunteers serve as referees, umpires, and groundkeepers. Maximum participation is emphasized rather than competition.

HIGHERWAY NO. 610 RIVER BRIDGE

While the first official reference to a bridge over the Mississippi River in Coon Rapids is found in the Coon Rapids City Council Minutes of March 16, 1965, rumors of such an event abound as early as the 1950’s.

City Council minutes reflect the preference regarding the location of such a bridge in 1965 was at the foot of Hanson Boulevard. At this time Resolution 65-11 was drawn by the City Manager, at Council’s request, and the Planning Commission was charged with the study and submission of their recommendations. At the culmination of this activity, it was determined that no funds were available for such an undertaking and the matter was dropped.

In 1970 several communities from Hennepin and Anoka Counties, the Counties of Anoka, Hennepin, and Ramsey, the Minnesota Highway Department, and the Metropolitan Council discussed the steps necessary to initiate the river crossing. The Metropolitan Council was requested to serve as the lead agency for a cooperative study between all the governmental units and agencies. A study team composed of administrative officials from each of these governmental units and agencies was selected. A technical task force composed of professionals was created to provide ongoing technical direction. In July of 1971, a Study Design was prepared by Bather-Ringrose-Wolfsfeld, Inc. describing major work tasks to be conducted in the course of the river crossing. The Design Study stressed citizen involvement and environmental concerns. A contract was executed in March of 1972 between the Metropolitan Council and Barton-Aschman Associates, Inc. on behalf of the other agencies to conduct a further study. Over the course of the next few years, all the governmental units and agencies met several times to discuss the study and various problems associated with the river crossing.

The location of the bridge in Coon Rapids is approximately one mile south of the Coon Rapids Dam, or at about 88th Street, angling southwest across the Mississippi River to 99th Street in Brooklyn Park in Hennepin County.

The final location of the bridge is not ideal from an engineering viewpoint, but the most desirable location—south of the Coon Rapids Dam and the adjacent residential district—would have required the removal of the homes in that area to accommodate the bridge approach.

The bridge will ultimately accommodate six lanes of traffic; however, the initial phase of construction will allow four single lanes with the future second phase of construction being an identical span parallel to the existing structure which will provide the additional two lanes. Phase two is a planned future project with the construction dates not available at this time.

The bridge approach will over pass Coon Rapids Boulevard, East River Road and the railroad tracks with a major interchange at Trunk Highway No. 10 and No. 47 (same road). Off freeway south bound access to the bridge will be at both Coon Rapids Boulevard and East River Road, egress off the freeway at the same locations will be northbound only.

As the eastern bridge approach crosses an area of wetlands, it is estimated that 500,000 cubic yards of fill material will be needed.

The bridge, designed by the Minnesota Department of Transportation, will be constructed of pre-stressed concrete and of a simple functional design. It will contain 1 spans for a total of 1,325 feet, and the height from water level to the top of the structure is approximately 30 feet.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

One might credit authorship of this history of Coon Rapids to the name shown on the title page; however, a number of people were responsible for providing assistance in varied capacities, and they should be recognized here. Pat Schwappach, Museum Director/Curator, Anoka County Historical Society; Dixie Mason and Peter Bodley, ABC Newspapers; Roland Anderson, Anoka County Surveyor; Ruth Ellen Bower, Ruby Shields, and Steve Nelson, Minnesota Historical Society, Division of Archives and Manuscripts; Ted Ondah, Anoka County Recorder; Carollyn Schomaker, Acting Special Agent, Bureau of American Indian Studies, University of Minnesota; David Wold, Communications Director, Anoka Electric Cooperative, Thelma Boeder, Archivist, Minnesota Annual Conference, United Methodist Church; Karen Koby, Interpretative Naturalist, Hennepin County Park Reserve District; Charles Hudrich, Project Manager, MnDOT; Richard Bower, Pre-Design Engineer, MnDOT; Dick Tolletto, Manager/Golf Pro, Bunker Hills Golf Course; Sandi Hatch, Director of Community Relations, Anoka-Ramsey Community College; Douglas Holt, Editor; Betty Bell, Coon Rapids City Clerk; Anne-Marie Anderson and Kim Barc, Coon Rapids City Hall Word Processing; Coon Rapids Historical Commission; Leslie G. Rust, who typed and retyped; and last but not least, Gaylord Aldinger, Coon Rapids Association, offered suggestions, critique, and guidance throughout this effort. Thank you all.
Chapter I

IN THE BEGINNING . . .

"To bring together the records of the past where they will be preserved for the use of men living in the future, a nation must believe in three things. It must believe in the past. It must believe in the future. It must, above all, believe in the capacity of its people, so to learn from the past that they can gain judgement for the creation of the future."

Franklin Delano Roosevelt

each community school to offset program costs for youth participants. The School District pays 30 percent of Coordinators' salaries, the salary of a full-time director, all District support staff, all support clerical staff, as well as all fringe benefits.

At this time there are six full-time and four part-time participating community schools within Coon Rapids. Full-time elementary schools are: Adams, Mississippi, Morris Bye and Sorteberg. Part-time elementary schools are: Hamilton, Hoover, L.O. Jacobs and Sand Creek. The two secondary schools which participate on a full-time basis are Coon Rapids Junior High and Northdale Junior High.19

MERCY MEDICAL CENTER

In November 1963 the Ray Swanberg property south of Coon Rapids Boulevard was the site of a gathering of people who had dedicated many years to the dream of a modern community hospital. As the earth mover scraped off the sod and the first layer of dirt, the chilled spectators were warmed by the knowledge that their sustained efforts were reaching fruition.

In the mid-1950's the first meeting of the Anoka Community Hospital Association was held and officers were elected. Plans to relocate the dining hall at the Anoka County fair as a fund raising project were made by the Women's Auxiliary. Proceeds of this effort were designated to purchase material for hospital gowns, bedding, etc.

A community survey was developed to define the area to be served by the projected hospital cost, cost of operating the hospital, and other factors. A donation of $5,000 was presented by Charles L. Horn of Federal Cartridge Corporation to facilitate the survey. The survey was completed in March 1956 and showed the need for a 65-bed hospital in the Anoka area. Investigation of sites and possible plans for financing the hospital took place during 1956 through 1958.

At the annual meeting in September 1961 the Hospital Association of over 700 members discussed various methods of financing, resulting in a $1,000,000 bond issue for hospital construction. The issue was defeated.

The Anoka Hospital Board voted unanimously on January 30, 1963, to accept the offer of Glenwood Hills Hospital to build a 100-bed hospital for the Anoka-Coon Rapids community. Mayor Joseph Craig of Coon Rapids was named Vice President of the Board at this meeting.

At a meeting February 25, 1963, the membership of the Anoka Community Hospital Association voted to increase the number of directors from 17 to 27. This action was taken to allow the addition of nine members from the City of Coon Rapids and two members at large. The Board met on February 27 to approve the following directors from Coon Rapids: Arnold Wichterman, John Steelman, Hugh D. Putnam, Howard Nordstrom, Harry Goldstein, Mrs. Lee Stuffle, Don Olson, Leroy H. Johnson, and Harold Bar-tholow.

An agreement between Glenwood Hills Hospital and the Anoka Community Hospital Association was signed March 20, 1963. The Board of Directors voted unanimously to build a 300-bed hospital on the Ray Swanberg property. Swanberg donated four acres to the hospital project and the remaining ten acres of the tract were purchased.

A contest was held to select a name for the hospital and on May 24, 1963, the announcement was made that the new facilities be named "Mercy Hospital". The cash prize of $100.00 was split four ways, as four people had submitted the same name.

A fund drive over the preceeding months had raised $500,000 of the necessary $600,000 to let bids. Federal Cartridge Corporation agreed to donate $50,000 upon the total reaching $550,000 to bring the funds to the necessary amount. In November 1963 the Finance Committee Chairman announced that a total of $609,033.93 had been collected or pledged. In November 1963 bids for construction of Mercy Hospital were opened and contracts awarded. That same week, a new Board of Directors were elected at the annual meeting. Those placed on the Board from Coon Rapids were: Harold Barthlow, ReRoy Johnson, Mrs. Norman Beckwall, Ivaedl Cornelius, and Joseph Craig.

The date for the official opening of Mercy Hospital was scheduled for March 22, 1965, and all was in readiness for that event, but fate had other plans. The need for the hospital was clearly demonstrated on the night of the 17th, when inclement weather prevented an expectant mother from reaching the nearest Minneapolis or suburban hospital.

The baby, Merci Jeannine Melton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Melton, was born on March 18th, and the hospital was off to a running start!

At the end of 1965 Mercy Hospital had reached its capacity of 144 beds. In 1970, Mercy Hospital became a division of Health Central, Inc., a diversified non-profit health care management and service organization headquartered in Brooklyn Center. A $12,000,000 six-story addition was completed in 1974.

On the tenth anniversary (March 17, 1975) the Mercy Hospital Board of Governors changed the hospital name to Mercy Medical Center to more clearly reflect its increased medical services and facilities.

The Adult Mental Health and Chemical Dependency Units were opened in the fall of 1976, and adolescent services were first offered in September 1978. A Home Health Care and Hospice Program was developed in 1979. In 1981 the CT Scan was purchased and a new Short Stay Surgery area was opened.

The current Board of Governors are: Albert Bailey (Chairman), Sherwood Cleveland, Lee Carlson, Neil Christensen (Vice Chairman and resident of Coon Rapids), Joseph Craig (former Mayor of Coon Rapids), Donald Esman (resident of Coon Rapids), Daniel Janiga, MD, Naomi Johnson, Ruben Kravik, Ed Lynde, John Wingard, Ronald Villotta, MD (ex-officio), Shirley Weidner (ex-officio), Jerry Blume (ex-officio Chief Executive Officer), and Charleen Shields (ex-officio).

population, traffic flow, and the aesthetics of the area.

The Anoka County Board of Commissioners unanimously voted to approve the purchase of 65 acres from Arthur McCAuley and 20 acres from Wilfred Leitschuh and to give it to the state.

Construction began in the spring of 1966 and continued while second year enrollment at the temporary location grew to over 1,000. During the summer of 1967 students and faculty devoted weeks to moving to the new campus.

Anoka-Ramsey officially opened the doors of the new facilities to 1,400 students on September 16, 1967, becoming the first permanent junior college campus in the metro area.

Programs grew and others were added in cooperation with the new Anoka Area Vocational-Technical School which also opened in 1967. The initial Anoka County Youth Employment and Training Program began in 1962 and had also been instrumental in bringing the Anoka AVTI to the Anoka-Hennepin District No. 11.

The first plans of construction included the College Services, Library, Science and Humanities Buildings. The Gymnasium/Activities Building was finished in 1969. Phase III—the College Center, Fine Arts, and Business/Technology Buildings—was finished in 1972. In 1976, the Theatre Building completed the campus as it now stands.

During this growing process, the State Legislature also changed the names of its junior colleges to community colleges.

Many people of the area maintain a strong commitment to Anoka-Ramsey. Cooperative agreements between Anoka-Ramsey and the Anoka AVTI and the City of Coon Rapids provide educational programs and athletic facilities for area students. Other local agencies and organizations make use of Anoka-Ramsey services and facilities on a regular basis. A few examples are the Anoka Theatre Ensemble, the Outdoor Summer Concert Series, the Arts Do-It Day, and the Social Studies Current Events Contest for high school students.

Recognition has come to Anoka-Ramsey as a result of outstanding work by advisors and students in academics, athletics, and athletics. Full accreditation has been granted by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, the National League for Nursing and the Engineering Council for Professional Development. The joint programs in health services with Anoka AVTI are accredited by their respective organizations.

Committed service area residents have served on the Anoka-Ramsey College Advisory Committee since it began. A total of 38 people have been named to that committee over the years. Of the 38 people serve on the Cambrige Center Advisory Committee.

The staff of the college has also shown long-standing commitment to the institution. Those who were part of the original 22-member faculty and are still instructors at Anoka-Ramsey include Bill Jackson, Ron Hunter, Phil DeWolfe, Mary Wethington, Lou Glasser, and Loyda Tiffieron. One, Bob Cutting, recently retired.

The Personnel Officer, Norma Paulson was also there at the beginning in 1965.

Prior to the selection of Dr. Neil Christenson as President in December 1975, administrative heads were Dr. Emil Wilken and Dr. Ronald Denison.

The students, staff, and area residents continue to help Anoka-Ramsey grow and update priorities to meet the changing needs of the people it serves. The "people" story continues.

The foregoing information on Anoka-Ramsey Community College was prepared by Sandi Hitch, Director of Community Relations for the College and is presented here with her permission.

COMMUNITY SCHOOL PROGRAM

In November 1971 the Coon Rapids City Council and Anoka-Hennepin Independent School District No. 11 entered into a Joint Powers Agreement to share in the establishment and funding of a Community School Program. The objective of the Community School Program is to bring together the schools and the community in an effort to share resources to the benefit of all.

Each designated school building, grounds, special facilities and equipment are used by the entire community. Human resources are channeled into the schools where they are made available to the entire community.

The Community School concept consists of three main components: recreation, education, and enrichment for youth, kindergarten through grade 12. Programs are developed to meet local needs as determined by the citizens.

Neighborhood advisory councils assist in forming a meaningful program and they are a vital asset in bringing together people from all walks of life; i.e., representatives from business communities, churches, schools, community organizations, and parents.

Under the terms of the Joint Powers Agreement, the city pays 70 percent of the cost of salaries for the Community School Coordinators and a supplemental dollar amount to

THE RED RIVER TRAIL

An early reference to the Coon Rapids area is found on a map charted in 1849 by Captain John Pope of the United States Corps of Topographical Engineers shows Coon Creek as “Peter’s”. Translated as "burning coals" in the Sioux language, this name may have related to the occurrence of fires in the peat bogs along Coon Creek.

The area which is now the City of Coon Rapids was well known to travelers on the Red River Trail as early as 1837. The colorful metis (Indian and European) known as Bois Brule, (“burnt wood”), followed the trail, carrying furs and trade goods to Fort Snelling from the settlement at Fort Garry near Winnipeg, Canada. On the return trip the Red River carts were filled with a variety of supplies which were needed at Pembina and points along the way.

The course of the Red River Trail ran from Point Douglas to Fort Gaines (now Camp Ripley) entirely on the east side of the Mississippi River and, with few exceptions, within a mile or so from the river. (Fort Gaines was changed in 1850 to Fort Ripley as the name “Fort Gaines” had been selected for a fort in Alabama.)

The United States Military Road was rechristened in May 1851 by James Simpson. Construction of the Fort Ripley road began the following year and was completed in 1858. According to Simpson: “The principal rivers to be crossed are, Coon Creek, forty-eight and a half feet wide, a distance from Point Douglas forty-five miles . . .”. A letter from J.W. Bond written to the MINNESOTA DEMOCRAT newspaper in St. Paul, dated April 30, 1851, states, “The road to Coon Creek, five miles [is] very bad and the country to Rum River [from Barrington’s] uninhabited, flat, marshy and very unin- tentious. . . .” (Federalists had a two-stage plan of road building, the first to develop a road through the marshlands. This plan included the building of a road to the present day city of Anoka.)

The road was surveyed by the Minnesota Surveyor General, the land was surveyed and the road was ready for use.

TRAVEL

After the Fort Ripley Military Road was no longer used as a main artery to the northwest, the trail continued to be utilized by settlers. While the road ran through farm fields, the property owners allowed “trespasers” as a matter of common practice and their use of the trail was not questioned.

STAGECOACH LINE

One of the earliest stagecoach lines in Minnesota Territory ran between St. Paul and St. Anthony in 1849. Trips were made daily with passengers as well as small amounts of freight. Stagecoach travel in summer and “stage sleigh” in the winter months was the most common form of transport until the coming of the railroads.

Travel by stagecoach was most uncomfortable and time-consuming, with many stops along the way. It was not unusual for the passengers to get out of the coach to walk up hills to lighten the load for the horses, nor uncommon for them to push the stagecoach when it became mired after a rain.

Before the railroad, a stage line ran from St. Paul to St. Cloud, the route following East River Road, continuing somewhat south and parallel to the present route of Highway 10.

The trade that had grown up over the Red River Trail between 1820 and 1870 was a major factor in the planning and building of railroads through the area. Travel and freightage on the trails themselves came to a final close in 1872 with the opening of the Northern Pacific to Moorhead.

RAILROAD

The first railroad in Anoka County, the St. Paul and Pacific, was completed from the Twin Cities to Anoka in 1863, pushed to Elk River in 1864 and reached St. Cloud and Sauk Rapids in 1866. The Coon Creek cut-off between Coon Creek and Hinckley was built in 1898-1899 by the Eastern Railway Company of Minnesota. Both lines passed into the possession of the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railroad Company. In 1884 the St. Paul and Northern Pacific absorbed into the Northern Pacific. The Coon Creek cutoff was also known as the "Duluth Branch".

"HURRAH FOR THE RAILROAD!" THE ANOKA COUNTY UNISON headlines reflected the importance of the arrival of the railroads. The St. Paul and Pacific, along with its successors to the Minnesota and Pacific, was completed to St. Anthony in 1862. By December 6, 1863, passenger trains were running between St. Paul to Manomin (Fredley), with the service extended to Coon Creek by December 9. The trains ran back and forth on the return trip to Manomin, as there was no turn-around at Coon Creek.

THE ANOKA STAR, of November 28, 1863, reported, "We are told the cars are to run as far as Coon Creek, four and a half miles from Anoka. The freight and passengers are thus to be brought! We are gratified to hear the whistle!" On December 12, 1863, the headlines exclaimed, "The whistle of the engine is now heard in Anoka!"

Traveling by train was a good deal more comfortable than traveling by stagecoach, although passengers became covered by dust and dander. The Coon Creek and Paul and Pacific Railroads of the 1870's had upholstered seats, a wood-burning stove, and kerosene lamps.

The cut-off from Coon Creek Junction was laid by the Great Northern in 1899 and this became a switching point which included a large freighthouse and station. Local brickyards and farmers shipped cattle, potato, and other farm products from this point, creating a bustling center of activity.

In 1942, the railroad considered closing the station due to declining shipments. The decision was made by fate when a freight train jumped the track, crashed into the station house, which set ablaze, nearly killing the telegraph operator. The station was a total loss.

FIRST MAIL

Thursday, April 1, 1869, "... Mailed the first letters at Coon Creek Post Office..." Albert James Caswell Day from the Arthur D. Caswell and Family Papers (Minnesota Historical Society).

Youth Coordinator in 1975, and is presently the Director of Human Services.

The fall of 1977 saw the move to the "new" building, which previously had housed Fire Station No. 1 and the municipal liquor store on Coon Rapids Boulevard.

In 1975 the LEAA grant expired at which time the NSFSC became an independent organization and was renamed Suburban Family Service Center. Edith Sheldon was hired as receptionist, and became known as "Resident Mother" to the staff.

In 1985, Moody LeLand Johnson has been Teen Center Director since 1980.

The programs are still somewhat different than those originally offered. The job program was dropped when the County C.E.T.A. Program for teenagers began and others were integrated into community programs.

Services currently offered are: Family Counseling—which includes: Individual psychotherapy, marital counseling, family therapy, group counseling, divorce counseling, psychological testing, chemical dependency, after-care counseling, and community education. The therapy staff includes: A. J. Forsman, LAI; Terri Melnychenko, MALP (Director of Human Services); Patricia Peverill, MSW; Stan Rosenthal, Ph. D. LCP; William Rott, M.D.; Patricia Rygg, BS. MSW; and Shari Byza, LCP (A.C.S.W. Therapists). A short- term summer job and recreational opportunity for 150 Coon Rapids youth 13 to 15 years of age. Trailblazers work six hours a week for three weeks. By helping to maintain City parks, participants also have the opportunity to take part in recreational programs such as picnics and trips. Nucleus Clinic—The Clinic serves the target population of Anoka County with a special emphasis on serving women 21 years and under. Services include pregnancy testing and decision counseling; V.D. testing and treatment, birth control and education. The Clinic is open three nights per week and serves approximately 1,900 persons annually. Teen Center—Cooperative teen programs are offered to the Coon Rapids schools. The Teen Center Programs and in 1983 the Teen Center served 600 participants. A drop-in center for Coon Rapids teens is maintained at the SFSC building. Senior Activity Center—The Center opened its doors in 1980 with Debbie Hild as Senior Activity Coordinator. A congregate dining program serves 150-200 meals annually and 600 seniors enjoy crafts, bingo, cards, and other recreational programs, including trips. A van is provided through the joint efforts of Jerry Wright, President of the First Bank of Coon Rapids, and Grant McKay of Coon Rapids Hardware. The City of Coon Rapids provides van driver and maintenance.

In 1981 the counseling program at NSFSC was approved by the Department of Public Welfare, State of Minnesota, to become a Mental Health Center.

The goal of the Center counseling program was reached in 1983. The goal was to run the counseling program without cost to the City, except for the per-unit charge for Coon Rapids residents. In 1983 the City paid $19,000 for City residents receiving counseling.

Anoka Rapids City Councils have been very supportive of the NSFSC through the years, another example of the City government's recognition of community need.

ANKOA-RAMSEY COMMUNITY COLLEGE

The story of an institution like Anoka-Ramsey Community College is the story of a college that has always been committed to making it a reality and those who continue to contribute to its improvement and excellence.

Anoka-Ramsey’s “people” story really goes back to before 1962 when civic and education leaders in the Anoka County area were working in a way to combat juvenile delinquency.

In 1962 the Anoka County Board of Commissioners, at the specific request of the superintendents of school districts in the County (Anoka, Hemnepin, Spring Lake Park, Fridley, Columbia Heights, and Centennial), formed an Anoka County Youth Employment and Training Program Committee, which later became the Youth Employment and Education Program Committee. On the Board at that time were Edward Fields, Mike O'Bannon, and Al Kordak.

Irving Barrett, Director of Youth services for Anoka County, was appointed to this Committee along with County Attorney Robert Johnson, State Senator Vern Houis, State Representative Connie Burckett, Superintendents Morris Burns (Spring Lake Park), Herman Jansen (Columbia Heights), John Hanson Fridley, A.P. Bergese (Centennial), District No. 11 Board member Leland Sorteborg, and other interested citizens.

Their 40-page report supported their commitment to seeing that a junior college be built in what was, in their opinion, a "college-void" area.

To further their cause, the Anoka County Board of Commissioners in December 1963 appointed a site committee and purchased the land when the site was selected and give it to the State for a campus. Members of the Committee were residents of the five County Commissioner districts: Arnold A Kelling, Harvey Peterson, D.H. Gregerson, Wayne Anderson, and Donald Harstad. Irving Barrett, Youth Employment and Training Program Director for Anoka County, was named to work with the group.

City Councils of Anoka, Coon Rapids, Blaine, Fridley, Circle Pines, and many civic groups and private citizens also participated in these initial efforts and meetings.

The site selection committee met with groups throughout the County, and on October 12, 1964, presented seven sites in the County to the State Legislature, with County Attorney R.W. Judge and Commissioner Earl Williams delegation. In December Anoka County was chosen as a junior college site. Centennial School District in Circle Pines opened its doors for the temporary home of Anoka-Ramsey in the fall of 1965 while a permanent location was being chosen.

The Minnesota Junior College Board investigated the seven and in November 1965 selected the "WCCO Radio" site on the Mississippi River, largely because of the student

POST OFFICE

The Coon Creek Post Office was established February 8, 1869, by the Postmaster General of the United States. On the same day, Moody Caswell was named the first Postmaster. He apparently served in this capacity until October 29, 1874, when his son, Albert James Caswell was appointed to the Postmaster position.

The Coon Creek Post Office was located at the farmhouse of the Caswell family, which was near the railroad. The mail was "dropped" as the train passed by an arm which was closed, the track and caught the mail bag as the mail car swept by.

According to local tradition, A.A. Bergeron was the next Postmaster when he rented the Caswell farm. He served in this position for several years, moving away when the Caswell farm was sold. The Coon Creek Post Office was discontinued October 14, 1893, and transferred to Anoka, until November 6th of the same year when it was re-established. The post office remained at Coon Creek until February 15, 1905, when it was again moved to Anoka.

The first mail carrier was Forrest Hunter, who served for over 30 years from 1902.
Ice hockey constitutes 100 percent of Arena use from October to March. The largest user is the Coon Rapids Athletic Association. The Coon Rapids High School hockey teams utilize the arena as well as community teams. When first built, Cook Arena was used by Blaine and Anoka High School hockey teams as a practice area.

The Ice Arena is supporting its operating and maintenance expenses; however, the City collects approximately $50,000 annually from property taxes, which is used to pay off the bonds that were issued to finance the construction of the Arena.1

NORTH SUBURBAN FAMILY SERVICE CENTER

In the spring of 1971, a group of high school students and teacher Mike Babcock of Coon Rapids Senior High School organized Workshop Inc. That same concern were youth employment, crisis intervention, low-cost medical service, drug prevention, diagnosis, and education. John Melde of the Coon Rapids Police Department and Dr. William Rodman of the Unity Hospital staff were early supporters of the organization and instrumental in gaining community acceptance.

A Teen Medical Clinic was opened which soon evolved as the Nucleus Clinic in space provided by Anoka-Ramsay Community College. All equity of the clinic was volunteer staff of Mr. John Rodman, Donna Kittelson, Medical Technican, with Norm Nelson and Judy Toensmeyer of ARC supporting as volunteer counselors. They were soon joined by Jane Spier, Lab Technician, and Dr. William Carr of the Silver Lake Medical Clinic. Dr. Carr became Chief of Staff at Unity Hospital in 1971. Unity Hospital provided services and today continues to serve the Clinic in that capacity.

In 1972 a Law Enforcement Assistance Act (LEAA) grant application was approved. With the funds the organization obtained, they purchased the former Thompson Business Office building at Riverview. The County provided $2,500 to move the building to 103rd and Hanson where North Central Gas Company provided a site at one dollar per year.

Through funds provided by the Coon Rapids City Council and the LEAA grant in 1975, a staff was hired. Don Wegscheid, Director; Joseph Breslin, Coordinator of Volunteers; and Karen Robinson, Part-time Coordinator of the Clinic and Board of Directors which included Debby Bigelow, Kathy Antus, Mark Gwinn, and Carl Thein.

After the grant was approved, the name was changed to North Suburban Youth Service Center, with Joel Koempelgen as Executive Director and a paid staff of four persons. The Center served an average of 150 to 200 people per month.

JOE COOK ICE ARENA

Upon recommendation of the Capital Improvement Committee in 1972 the Coon Rapids City Council approved the issuance and sale of $560,000 in Gross Revenue Ice Arena Bonds for the construction of Joe Cook Ice Arena.

The Arena initially provided year-round ice skating, but in the late 1970’s energy costs became prohibitive and it was determined to close the facility for the spring and summer months.

In the spring of 1971, a group of high school students and teacher Mike Babcock of Coon Rapids Senior High School organized Workshop Inc. John Carlstrom, Youth Coordinator for the City of Coon Rapids and liaison to schools and community organizations, was hired to work with the teens in 1973. Debby Krovitz-Davis joined the staff in 1976 as Family Counselor and was in charge of the teen dinner program. Jacky Frentz, Family Counselor since 1978, is now Associate Director. Terri Melnychenko replaced John Carlstrom as

DUNN HOUSE

On what is now the southeast corner of Coon Rapids Boulevard and Egret stood the "Dunn House". This site has had a progression of houses, kept as hotels or stopping places for travelers on the United States Military Road.

Prior to 1872 the property was owned by Mary and Isaac Kimball. Isaac Kimball was an early settler of Anoka County, having purchased the Inn at Rice Creek in Manomin (now Fridley) from John Bank in the spring of 1853. He later became the proprietor of the Kimball House in Anoka. In 1872, the Kimball property was sold to Emily P. Campbell, who in turn sold it to John Dunn in 1880.

While historical accounts indicate that the "original building on the site was built by a Robert Campbell", it is unlikely that he was actually the builder of the first hotel or inn in that location. Isaac Kimball had been in the hotel business as early as 1853, and would be more apt to have begun such an enterprise than this much-used thoroughfare. By 1872, when the site was sold, traffic on the United States Military Road had trickled to a few travelers, with railway transportation readily available.

Emily Campbell may well have been keeping the house for travelers at the time it burnt, and another hotel began at the time John Dunn purchased the property.

JARED BENSON RESIDENCE

This is a drawing of the Jared Benson residence and stock farm which was located in Section 27 of Anoka Township (now Coon Rapids). The farm was located in the area of Fishtail and Coon Rapids Boulevards. Jared Benson came from Worchester County, Massachusetts, to Minnesota in 1856. The sketch is from the illustrated Historical Atlas published by A.T. Andreas in 1874 and republished in 1979 by Ugricograph, Inc., of Evansville, Indiana.

SCHOOLS

Schools in Anoka County were in number of their organization. District No. 1 was organized in the village of Anoka in 1855. District No. 2 in Anoka Township in 1856. The original building stood on what is now Coon Rapids Boulevard across from the WCCO transmitter station in Section 17. By 1869 20 school districts were functioning within the County. At this time most of the schoolhouses were built of logs. The average school term was four and one-half months.

It is interesting to note that by 1882 only one log schoolhouse remained in the County. Forty-five were frame and one was brick. (District No. 2).4

In 1876 District No. 2 built a brick school on the northwest corner at the intersection of Crooked Lake and Coon Rapids Boulevards near the site of an earlier schoolhouse. This brick building and the earlier structure both existed for many years, eventually being remodeled as residences.

DISTRICT NO. 2 SCHOOLHOUSE

This brick schoolhouse was constructed in 1876. The building stood near the present intersection of Crooked Lake and Coon Rapids Boulevards. School District No. 2 was the second school district in Anoka County, being organized in 1856. The photo was taken around the turn of the century.

DISTRICT NO. 2

The earliest available school records are from 1876, at which time the following persons were School District Officers for District No. 2: Jared Benson, Clerk; N. Parks and Jacob Schwab, Directors; and A. Worcester, Treasurer.

Mary Molloy, teacher, opened the school on Tuesday, October 23, 1877, for a term of three months. The teacher the following year was E.A. Braden for a term of four months. Subjects taught included reading, spelling, writing, arithmetic, grammar, geography, and history.1

By 1914 the school term had expanded to eight months. The teacher was Mrs. Clara "Casey" Talley, whose salary was also $52.50 per month. This was a one-room school, the schoolroom being 28 feet by 20 feet with a 12-foot ceiling, two outhouses (20 feet apart) which were scrubbed twice a

March 1, 1879, "Anoka County Winter Schools, District No. 2. Teacher Mr. E.A. Bradeen, Number present 13; three schools in 14th week of school. A good review lesson in Geography #1. A class of 6 are dealing in fractions in Arithmetic and are drilled on priming and writing their work. The class is backward and thoughtless. The teacher is holding a steady hand with them, and secures their respect and attention."

District No. 15, "Teacher Miss Mary Tierney. Schoolhouse accommodations in this district until lately have been limited; the house was too small and the seats in the schoolroom not convenient, but a marked change has come over these accommodations. They have now one of the largest and most convenient rooms in the county. The term has been long-four months and the scholars have got tired; they are not showing sufficient interest in their studies. The teacher is capable and discreet and during another term will increase the enthusiasm."

DISTRICT NO. 50

District No. 50 schoolhouse was built in 1884 on Northdale Boulevard, nearly opposite Sand Creek Park in Section 15. The residents referred to this as "Wilhelm School". The Methodist Episcopal Church, of which the girls were members, had constructed Joyce Chapel in the "Old Wilhelm School house", circa 1900.

State Aid Records for 1913 reveal the following information:

The teacher was Josie Goodrich, whose salary was $45.00 per month for a term of eight months. District No. 50 Clerk, John D. Wilhelms. The schoolroom size was 30 feet by 26 feet and had 100 square feet of slate blackboard in good condition. One dictionary was available as well as a total of 95 library books. The total costs during the school year were $414.29, of which $30.00 was spent on paint for the walls and woodwork. There were two outhouses which were 20 feet apart.

After the destruction of the old "Foley School" in 1919, a committee of the residents of the Ana Town section of the City's General Fund from liquor profits and revenue from the county gave $2,000 to erect a school building to replace the temporary building erected to complete the school year.

On August 31, 1920, a special meeting was held in the Ana Town Hall and plans were made for the construction of the four districts known as "Anoka Rapid Consolidated School District No. 2". The Moderator of this meeting was Lyman H. Hoyt. The first Board of Education was elected. The members were: Ed. F. Bryan, L.O. Jacobs, Lyman Hoyt, Stewart W. Laird, Henry Libby, and R.P. Roberts. L.O. Jacobs was elected as the President of the Board for over 30 years and was later on the Ana-Hennepin School District No. 11 Board. Some others who served on the Anoka Rapids Consolidated School District No. 2 Board were: Rudy Beckebenck, Herbert Gunther, A.T. Dingman, Clarence Anderson, and Donald Womack.

The school building, which was planned by the first Consolidated School District No. 2 in 1920, is now a part of the L.O. Jacobs Elementary School which was constructed in 1959. The school included a gymnasium (in two rooms), a cafeteria, and a and a combination gymnasium/auditorium. In 1925 the total enrollment was 800 students in grades 2. By 1950 there were 400 students in four grades.

After a failure to pass a school bond issue to remodel and expand the school building in April of 1950, the School Board sold the school building for $10,000 at a public sale on May 31, 1950. In May of 1950, the school building was sold to a private buyer for $160,800, for a school addition in keeping with the present school structure. Votes in favor were nearly two to one, and the current Public Works Director is Russ Ward who has been a member of the City staff since January 1978. Bill Ottensmann was the previous director. Marge Miller is Secretary to the Public Works Director and was employed by the City on June 3, 1976.

The Foreman of the Streets Division is Eugene Gage. As of June 1, 1984, Gage had served the City the longest. His employment began on October 2, 1959. Present members of the Streets Division are Vernon Weiss, Donald Card, Dick Michaelson, Chris Gorsegner, Jeff Nemorow, Harold Robins, Larry Glore, Robert Hostetter, and Charles Nevala.

The Parks Division is presently headed by Foreman Dick LaBeau. Members of his division are Donald Lord, Eugene Becker, Conrad Hauer, Harold R. Johnson, David Johnson, Art Powley, Jerold Jorgenson, Ronald Main, Charles Geringer, Jerry McDaniel, Robert Larson, Gerald Beckwell, and Randy Christensen.

William Dunn is the Foreman of the Utility Division. The present employees in this division are: LeRoy Moon, Douglas Frisch, Vern Bates, Bruce Johnson, LeRoy Sibell, Gary Dahlberg, and Michael Kieyel.

The Trees Division is under the direction of Forest Lowen, Landscape Designer, Glenn Vetteggod, and Doug Meyenburg are members of this staff.

The Fleet/Building Maintenance Division is presently headed by Robert Hagen. Mechanics are Craig Borchardt, Tom Dahleimher, Stephen Yost, and Greg Cronin. The Building Maintenance crew is composed of Jerry Holum, Ken Phelps, and Lloyd Tyge.

DISTRICT NO. 15

Built prior to 1874, District No. 15 schoolhouse was located at the northeast corner of Foley Boulevard and East River Road and was called "Foley School". The teacher in 1876 was Thomas Kelly. School officers were: S.S. Owens, John Bowers, M. Tigue, J. Drum, and Thomas Foley, Treasurer. In 1889 a new building was erected on the site of the original school, which was formerly a cow barn. The temporary building was erected to complete the year.

The notice of a "Special School Meeting" on October 11, 1981, reads: "To consider a motion which was carried at the last Annual Meeting instructing the Board of Trustees not to pay wages to any teacher to exceed thirty dollars per month." Signed: A.J. Carles.

For this year, the outcome of the above meeting is not known. One may suggest it failed as school records for 1913 reflect the following: Teacher Alice C. Ryan at a salary of $50.00 per month for a term of nine months. There were 38 students; 198 square feet of slate board (in good condition); one di-cast blackboard (in poor condition); 3000 sheets of paper (in good condition); tin and cocoa mat; total number of library books, 118; and two outhouses, 24 feet apart with an added note, "have sanitary facilities for students." Total enrollment for the school year, $667.20, which included: Apparatus, $2.00; library books, $15.00; textbooks $12.45; and repairs and improvements, $187.74 for a new chimney and sanitary closets.

In 1913 a Special School was held at "Coon Rapids in District No. 2" for the convenience of pupils whose parents were at work on the big power dam across the Mississippi River at St. Paul. The teacher, Margaret Doherty, served for a term of eight months with 39 students. She was paid $50.00 a month. While there is no information on the location of this school, it is shown to be "large, well-lighted, and heated". A note shows, "Mrs. Doherty did excelent work. This school was held with the consent of the Department of Education. Mr. Casander was personally on the site and the school was conducted as he suggested."
In February of 1952 the completed addition was dedicated. It contained ten classrooms, an office, and a library. On April 8, 1952, an election was held to reorganize 26 Anoka County school districts and five Hennepin County districts into one large district. This was approved with voters of Coon Rapids Consolidated School District No. 2 casting 196 yes votes to 89 no votes. In July of 1952, the Coon Rapids educational system became part of Anoka-Hennepin Independent School District No. 220.

During the 1950's, several new subdivisions were developed, making housing available in large numbers on easy purchase plans. A large percentage of home buyers were young families with children of elementary school age, and the impact of the rapid surge in population was in the elementary schools. The Junior High School in Anoka, which served the entire District No. 220, would be the next to feel the impact of growth. In 1955 it became clear that plans would have to be made for additional facilities. In 1956 Anoka Junior High School had an enrollment of 1,334.

In April 1955 the Board of Education purchased a 40-acre site on Northdale Boulevard from Alfred and Hannah Bomberger for $12,000. Toltz, King, Duval and Anderson were retained as architects and the Coon Rapids Junior High School was built at a cost of $4,152,529 and opened in September of 1958.

In 1957 the Minnesota Legislature enacted a law requiring the State Commissioner of Education to assign a number to each school district within the state with no duplications. As a result, Anoka-Hennepin Independent School District No. 220, was assigned District No. 11. As more and more developments took place, the need for additional high schools became critical. Growth within the area is reflected in the following enrollments for District No. 11, kindergarten through grade 12:

BRICK CHIMNEY

This 109-foot-high chimney was located at 86th Lane and East River Road. The chimney was a silent witness to brickmaking and it was demolished on July 2, 1980, after being struck by lightning and severely damaged on June 29, 1980.
the required 27,000 tons of coal and/or 81,000 barrels of oil necessary to run the plant each year.

The diary of Albert James Caswell, an early settler and member of the Town Board, wrote on September 15, 1888, "I went to the brickyard near Coon Creek and bought 500 bricks—paid $3.00."

THE ANOKA COUNTY UNION of July 27, 1909, stated, "The Anoka County Board of Equalization met last week. The Board seemed to be in a peevish mood, for they raised valuations right and left. The corn harvest is hit is the brickyard at Coon Creek. The raise there amounted to 100 percent."

Many of the red brick buildings in the city of Anoka today were built of brick from the Coon Creek area after the fire in 1884. The eye of the fire for paving city streets began at the turn of the century and some existing brickyards changed from manufacture of building material to that of paving bricks. These bricks were dense and quite large, being about nine inches by three and one-half inches and were economical and practical for well-traveled streets.

For many years the chimney of the Minnesota Clay Company stood at the corner of 86th Lane and East River Road, a sentinel of the first locally-based industry in Anoka County. The chimney was severely damaged when struck by lightning during a storm on July 25, 1980, and the remainder demolished in the interest of public safety.

RAPID THRASHING "A job was put on the Coleman Brothers of Coon Creek last Saturday. They were threshing wheat with horse power on the farm of George Smith three miles below the city, and some dissatisfied parties thought it would be a good joke to time the work done without the knowledge of the Coleman Brothers. The suggestion was accepted and at the end of the hour twenty bushels of wheat was found to be the result. Parties who have work done by these gentlemen and their machine say that they never had better work." THE ANOKA COUNTY UNION, September 9, 1880, p. 5, col. 4

POOR FARM Earlier generations were brought up with a reverence for God, the hope of Heaven, and a fear of the poor house.

In the years prior to Social Security, Medicare, and financial assistance programs, indigents were cared for in County-sponsored homes which were supported through taxes and other means of revenue. The National poor house population reached its peak in the 1920’s, but by 1923, the number of residents, officially referred to as “inmates”, showed a decline. However, in this same year, the Anoka poor house population, which consisted less than one percent of the states aged, was still on the increase.

Eighty-eight percent of Minnesota poor houses/farms were managed by County officials through a salaried superintendent. This appears to have been the practice in 1904 in Anoka County, as John D. Wilkinson is cited as “Supervisor of the Poor Farm.”

The Anoka County Poor Farm was located in Sections 9 and 10 in Anoka Township on land now used as the Coon Rapids High School athletic field, and consisted of 200 acres. The indigent residents lived here free of charge in exchange for assistance with the farm and household chores. All food stuffs were raised on the farm and any surplus was sold for additional income. There was a vegetable garden, a herd of cows, a flock of chickens, and horses which were used in the farming operation. The Anoka County Farm consisted of a large two-story frame house. The manager and family lived on the ground level with the residents occupying the second floor, usually two to a room. On the residents floor was a dining room, cupboard, and sink, as well as separate dishes. Food was prepared by the manager’s wife and carried to the material man’s use. It was also the duty of the manager’s wife to care for any inmates of the farm. The farm buildings included a large barn and a silo which stood for many years.

The first County Poor Farm was on property owned by S. Farrington and leased by the County in 1898. The buildings burnt in 1900, at which time the County Board purchased the Case farm. In 1902, there were five residents and in 1923, the number remained the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hofman were managers in 1923 and efficient ones. In the previous year there was a revenue of nearly seventeen hundred dollars from the milk alone. The Hofman’s were assisted by their children, Gladys, Frances, Laura, Leonard, and Ervin.

In the 1920’s eighties of the Poor Farm were leased by the State of Minnesota as a part of an experimental agricultural project. As a result of this project, Canary grass was introduced to Anoka County. Alfalfa was also grown and commercial fertilizer was tested.

The farm manager was William G. Smith from 1926 through 1928 and he was followed by George Chamberlain from 1928 to 1936 when the farm was closed.

PERSONNEL/PURCHASING DEPARTMENT

The Personnel and Purchasing Departments are combined into one office. The Director of these departments is Miriam Porter, Assistant to the City Manager, who joined the City staff on August 16, 1962.

The Assistant to the City Manager, in the capacity of Personnel Director, performs many administrative duties, including the supervision of the City’s personnel activity. Additional duties of the Director include assisting department directors in the operation of the City’s administrative office, assisting in preparation of the annual budget, and other administrative tasks as defined by the City Manager. Others who have served in this administrative capacity in the past are Kevin Frazell (1978-1983), Robert Middaugh (1976-1978), and James Main (1972-1976).

Also in the Personnel Department is the position of Personnel Technician/Administrative Aide. Colleen Kline currently holds this position and has been a staff member since September 7, 1971. Sara Tollefson is Clerk/Typist for the Department.

The Purchasing Department is responsible for purchasing on an informal or contract basis, including writing and revising specifications, writing requests for Council action, expediting back orders, and maintaining a current file of price lists and catalogues for reference. The Purchasing Department maintains contacts in the trade field, explaining the City’s position on purchasing procedures and bidding. The Agent of the Purchasing Department is Mickey Ferrigan. She has been with the City staff since September 5, 1978.

The Assistant to the City Manager, in the capacity of Purchasing Director, supervises this Department. William Feltes was Purchasing Director from 1973 to 1978.

PLANNING DEPARTMENT

The Planning Department consists of three divisions—Planning, Housing, and Zoning. The Director of this Department is responsible for directing the activities of the City’s Planning Department, which involves interdepartmental planning and zoning. These activities include the preparation and maintenance of the City’s Comprehensive Plan, development of long range plans, review of plans and permits, and other means of revenue. The National poor house population reached its peak in the 1920’s, but by 1923, the number of residents, officially referred to as “inmates”, showed a decline. However, in this same year, the Minnesota poor house population, which consisted less than one percent of the states aged, was still on the increase.

One month later the Council of the Village of Coon Rapids voted unanimously to offer the position of Chief of Police to A. Grillo directs the Housing Division with the assistance of Yvonne Schwartz. Diana Rite is Secretary for the Planning Department.

POLICE DEPARTMENT

In early times the public peace was guarded by military bodies. When the Normans conquered England in 1066 they found the country divided into Counties, or Shires, with a Shire-Reeve at the head of each. The Normans turned this situation into a system of public safety, making the Shire-Reeve, or “Sheriff,” the chief law enforcement officer in his county.

The slang term “cop” is often applied to a policeman in the United States. One explanation is that in earlier times, when policemen were called Constables, an officer, when writing his report would write C.O.P. after his name, meaning “Constable on Patrol”.

During the Township and Village periods of Coon Rapids, protection of the residents was the responsibility of Constables, who apparently served two-year staggering terms. (See Chapters I and II for names of Constables, 1882-1956).

As residential development took place and the population grew, the problem of domestic crime accelerated.

In February 1957, a meeting of local leaders and representatives of the Coon Rapids area was called to discuss the possible formation of a full time police department. This meeting was prompted by a series of break-ins at the Coon Rapids Shopping Center, Thompson Park Homes, and Anoka Gardens. Vandalism in the village parks was also a problem. Darrell Bomberger and Horace F. "Hutch" Hutchinson were village Constables at the time, and the County Sheriff’s office also provided regular patrols via sheriff’s cars.

One month later the Council of the Village of Coon Rapids voted unanimously to offer the position of Chief of Police to A. Grillo direct.
HUMAN SERVICES DEPARTMENT

The Human Services Department is composed of four divisions: Counseling, Clinic, Teen, and Senior Divisions.

The Director of this Department is responsible for administering and directing the activities of the North suburban Family Service Center (NSFSC). Activities in which the Center is engaged include the operation of a Teen Center, counseling programs, the Nucleus Clinic, Trailblazers, and the Senior Citizens Division. The building housing this Department is located at 1323 Coon Rapids Boulevard.

The current Director of the Human Services Department is Terri Melnychenko. A staff member since January 1975, Melnychenko succeeded Don Wegscheid as department head in July 1981. The Associate Director is Jacky Frentz.

The Counseling Division functions under Rule 29, and is a State-approved mental health center. The Center provides individual and familial counseling to the residents of Anoka County. Under the direction of Terri Melnychenko, the Counseling staff includes Jacky Frentz, Pat Rygg, Clay Sankey, Pat Peerwell, Stan Rosenthal, and Bill Routil, M.D.

The Nucleus Clinic is a teenage medical clinic providing low-cost health care to Anoka County residents. Pat Rygg is the Coordinator and is assisted by Volunteer Coordinator Barbara Schmidt and a group of approximately 40 volunteers.

The Teen Center is coordinated by Jacky Frentz. Lee Johnson is the Director and is assisted by Dan Sadowski. This Division is operated as a recreational drop-in center for Coon Rapids youth.

Another program operated at this facility is the Trailblazer Program. This Program provides work experiences for the 14 and 15 year olds of Coon Rapids. The Program is coordinated by John Havner, assisted by a staff of four. Approximately 155 students are busily occupied in work-related experience through this program each summer.

The Senior Activity Center is an educational, recreational, and nutritional program center for senior citizens. The current Senior Center Coordinator is Sandy Senkryk. Debbie Hiber held this position until March 1984.

The Senior Center Activity Planner is Connie Dussell. The Coordinator for the Outreach Program is Arlis Tawdle and the Senior Transportation Coordinator is John Hauer. Member of the Dis Charg Coordinating Committee is the Well Senior Clinic Program.

Support staff for the Human Services Department include Receptionist Ed Sheldon, Secretary Carole Mathena, and Typist Laurie Holden.

JOYCE CHAPEL

On the corner of Hanson Boulevard and 115th Street stands a modest frame building which was built in 1902. It was the first church building in Anoka Township.

Many early residents of what is now the city of Coon Rapids were Irish Catholics who attended services at St. Stevens in the town of Anoka. Protestant worshipers also traveled to Anoka or to Chamin to attend the various churches there.

In 1900 James Carter, an Anoka blacksmith and member of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Anoka, desired to establish a church for the Protestant farmers east of the City. The Carters taught Sunday School classes in the "Wilhelm School" (District No. 50) to farm children after the morning services in Anoka.

Reverend E.C. Clemens, pastor of the Methodist Church in Anoka, held a revival in July of 1901 for this new group, assisted by the Carters, at which 25 persons joined the infant church. These new members were organized into a Bible class with membership in the Anoka church.

In December 1901 the quarterly conference of the Anoka Methodist Church inaugurated the new rural congregation under the name of Joyce Chapel, after Bishop Isaac W. Joyce, Methodist Bishop of Minnesota. The Anoka conference elected the Reverend William Fielder as presiding Elder and James Foot, Secretary. The first trustees were: B. Shattuck, C.W. Ball, C.E. Pendell, John P. Swanson, Gust Berg, and James Carter. 7

B. Shattuck donated a one-half acre site for the church building and cemetery. In January 1902 the corner stone of the property was set. The work of building began in earnest directed by Erick Johnson. All labor was donated by the members.

Using a nail keg as a pupil, James Carter preached the first sermon to members seated on chairs and boxes brought from home. The nail keg was replaced the following Sunday by a "Timberland" table presented by the Reed and Sherwood Lumber Company of Anoka. The Chapel, free of debt, was dedicated on July 17, 1902, by Bishop Isaac W. Joyce.

JOYCE CHAPEL

This is a picture of the chapel as it appeared in 1912. The building was built in 1902 and is now the Lang real estate office at 115th and Hanson Boulevard. In 1959 Joyce Chapel was sold to the church for Eugene Williams, the 2011 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Swanson. This was the first interment in the cemetery adjoining the church. 8

Physical ties with the “mother” church in Anoka were severed in November 1909, as Joyce Chapel membership was growing and the congregation was in a stable financial position.

It is interesting to note the pastorsates of two women who were "able to stir the congregation to greater activity than ever before". One of these women was Reverend Mrs. Ina Gates Stout, a Free Baptist minister, appointed to Joyce Chapel in October 1912. During her pastorate a unique year was initiated. The Baptists of the area, having no church of their own, were invited to organize a class and worship with the Methodists. This was an unusual but a noble cooperation between the two groups. Each group contributed jointly to their local church, but gave separately to their missions. Mrs. Stout served as Pastor from 1912 to 1916, during which this cooperative effort of Methodists and Baptists brought about a number of improvements in the church. Joyce Chapel doubled its membership and thousands of dollars in improvements to the property. Reverend Stout also organized a Ladies Aid Society, a Christian Endeavor Society, and a Farmers Club.

The other woman pastor was the Reverend Edith Grays, an ordained Methodist minister, who became Pastor when her husband, Reverend Crawford Grays, pastor of the Carlyle Avenue, became ill and had to curtail his activities. Reverend Edith Grays took over work at Joyce Chapel where she served until 1928. The church and Sunday School flourished under her direction and the church was painted outside as well as wallpapered and painted inside. During her pastorate all outstanding bills were paid in full.
In January 1954 the Coon Rapids Village Council authorized the purchase of Joyce Chapel for $2,500 intended for use as a temporary town hall. Today 21st-Century Lang Agency has remodeled the church as their real estate office.

Continued under the name of Coon Rapids Methodist Church, pastors were:

Electricity

In this era of microwave ovens, personal computers, dinners switches, and cordless telephones, it is difficult to imagine an everyday existence without electricity. However, many will remember with great nostalgia such things as the warm glow of the Edison light bulb or the "good old days" when the family played games in the light of an Adalind lamp.

The Rural Electrification Administration was created by the federal government in 1935 for the purpose of assisting rural areas to participate in a loan program which carried a two percent interest.

On January 3, 1936, a meeting was held for all farmers in Anoka County to determine the amount of interest in setting up an organization in association with the REA program. This meeting was held at Coon Rapids schoolhouse. (L.O.лауд) Anoka County was the first in the nation to have electric service. Plans were made to reconvene on January 18 at the L.O. Jacobs farm in Coon Rapids. At this second meeting, election was held and a President was designated. President of the Board; L.O. Jacobs, Director at Large; and Ed Swanson, Representative of Anoka Township.

The operating capital raised at this meeting amounted to $26,000 donated by those in attendance who included:
Ernest Stone; Bethel Township; George Morris, Burns Township; Louis Matusiak, Blaine Township; Walter Houle, Columbus Township; Harry Edmunds, Oak Grove Township; Oscar Swan, St. Francis Township; William Lumber, New Brighton Township; Sam Orr, Grow Township; Dale Clark, Lake Township; Charles King, Linwood Township; C.W. Rogalla, (out of township); Peter Nadeau, Centerville Township (not present); and L.O. laud, Anoka Township (Secretary and Treasurer).

In 1952, established a fire department in the village. A Chief, Assistant Chief, Fire Marshal, and not less than 15 men were designated. The department was equipped with 15 fire fighters and five fire districts were announced on April 12, 1953. The roster at that time included: Harold Bartholomew, Chief; Joe George, Assistant Chief; Frank Miller; Second Assistant Chief; Frank Miller, Second Assistant Chief; District 1—Larry Beaulnaine, Captain; Robert Lawrence, Lieutenant; Roy Sienko, Lieutenant; Clarence Yanger; Ronald Green; Herb Gunther; C.E. Waldeen; Will LaBounty; and Robert Wallum. District 4—Russell Mueller, Captain; Howard Field, Assistant Captain; Don Johnson; Lester Palmer; Elmer Rieder; Edward Beech; J.V. Brock; R. Dingman; George Doolittle; Owen Hyland; Donald Jacobson; Ralph Nelson; Ken Ystebro; Donald Bland; Lundaught; District 5—Paul Talbot, Captain; Don Olson, Lieutenant; Arnie Strand; Wayne Janzig; C.A. Nygaard; V.W. Hendrick; Walter Gaidow; and Ernest Sharpe. The Fire Department was represented by President; Don Johnson as Secretary; and Howard Lewis as Treasurer.

Until 1953 the Village contracted for fire services with the City of Anoka. In April of that year the Volunteer Fire Department was organized and continued to function for three months. In May of 1953 the paid Fire Department took over. On October 1, 1953, reveal that the Fire Chief's annual sales was $300.00. Volunteers first received pay for firefighting in 1956. The first paid replacement was demonstrated December 1, 1959. The new position was paid as a part-time, non-reimbursed for the men gasoline used in responding to fires.

In November 1954 the voters approved construction of the first fire station in the Village, to be built on Highway 10, across from the Coon Rapids Shopping Center. The station was completed in 1955.

Volunteer pay in 1958, was placed on a point basis to be paid for time the men were out on call. The pay scale was determined by the amount of money budgeted for each fire attendant. At the end of the year, the amount of points accumulated by the entire department was divided into those in attendance and each was awarded $10.00 per point. The amount of the individual fires calls was multiplied by the number of fire runs with an individual was credited.

In 1959 volunteers were assigned night watches at the fire station to assist in fire and ambulance calls. At that time the rate was raised to $15.00 per night, while on duty.

A special election was scheduled for April 12, 1960, to vote on a bond for construction and equipment of a fire station not to exceed $51,250.00 (Fire Station No. 2). The result was a vote of 756—YES to 225—NO. (City Clerks File, Citation: "Excellent" by Francis X. (City Clerk) for a full in-depth publication). See Police and Fire Civil Service Commission for further data.

On March 18, 1964, the Council to meet and accept and award the bid on a new fire rescue truck to Art Goebe Ford in the amount of $4,166.00. The next large equipment purchase was approved by the Council on February 16, 1965, when the City purchased a new fire truck for $16,000.00 for an International Harvester fire truck and pumping apparatus for $24,433.00. (Official Council Minutes, February 17, 1965, p. 13). By January 1965, the full-time staff included 9 members for 24 hour on-duty service.

The full-time firemen are assisted by 20 public spirited volunteers who serve "on call" as necessary. They are: Jerry Botko, Douglas Boeht, Lewis Brostrom, Michael...
Engineer is Tom Mathisen, Engineering Aides are Ron Sample, Chet Conger, Tim Halberg, Gary Beckenstein, David Full, Jim George, Mike Manners, and Mike Sheehan. Chris Monetti and Cheryl Ridout are Department Secretaries.

The Chief Building Official is responsible for the enforcement of the building, plumbing, and housing codes as they apply to the City of Coon Rapids both by personal inspection and direction of the staff.

The Building Inspection Department is headed by Chief Inspector Jack Dorholt. Ben Amborn is the Building/Mechanical Inspector and Tom Flynn is a Building Inspector. Sandy Michies is the Secretary of this Department. Joe Prause was formerly Chief Building Inspector and retired in 1980.

FINANCE DEPARTMENT

The City’s Finance Director is responsible for administering, supervising, and directing the financial activities of the City. The Division of the Finance Department which are directed by the Finance Director including Assessing, Accounting, Liquor operations, Ice Arena operations, Golf Course, Utility Billing, and Treasury Management.

The Director is accountable for preparation of the annual financial report, budgeting in preparation of the annual budget, and ensuring compliance with state and federal accounting regulations in the handling of the City’s money. The Finance Director is designated as the chief administrative officer in the event of the absence of both the City Manager and the City Attorney. Under the Finance Director’s supervision is Management/Budget Analyst Kay Schmadluch.

There have been only two Finance Directors since the office was created in July 1958. Lyle Haney succeeded Norman Werner in that position in 1969.

One of the functions of the Finance Director is supervising the Assessing Division. This Division, under the direction of the City Assessor, maintains the Assessing and Utility Billing operations of the city. The City Assessor coordinates and supervises the physical and clerical employees involved in the appraisal and assessment of all real property in the City.

The preparation of special assessment rolls, coordination of the utility billing operations, and the preparation of payroll and mailing of bills are functions of this office. The City Assessor also serves as staff liaison to the Historical Commission.

The present City Assessor, Gaylord Aldinger, has served in that position since February 1969. Lyle Haney was City Assessor (1967-1968), having taken over the position from Fern Bergeron who had been Assessor since the Village days. Members of the Assessor’s staff are Dennis Monigale, Doug Holt, Judy Dold, Edlen Knowlton, Adrienne Hedman, and Anita Schramm. Sharon Marquart does the utility billing and Maxine Bates the accounting. Mary Ness serves as part time bookkeeper.

The Accounting Division, also a function of the Finance Department, is composed of three sections—Accounting, Treasury, and Payroll. This Division is presently headed by Ruth Franklin, Director of Accounting/City Treasurer. The Payroll section is under the direction of Shirley Herness. The Accounting and Treasury functions are under the direction of Ruth Franklin, with the assistance of Assistant Treasurer Kevin Voyk and Accounting Clerk Selma Erlandson. Walter Shepard was City Treasurer from 1967 to 1981.

The City’s liquor and recreation enterprises (see City Enterprise section) are also under the direction of the Finance office. Richard Johnson directs the liquor operation. His assistant is Mary Ness. Store employees are Lillian Kroll, Gerd Rapp, and Diane Fetting. Steven Krogstad is in charge of the Ice Arena. Dick Tollefson manages the Golf Course and Jim Nicol is the Groundskeeper.

FIRE DEPARTMENT

The science of fighting fires dates back to early Roman times. Hand operated pumps, the first directed by water, were developed in the second century B.C. served as the chief means of fighting fires in Europe for many centuries. A crude leather hose was devised in Holland during the late 1600’s, and the first fire engine, with hand operated pumps, went into service in England about 1725. Steam-operated pumps pulled by horses became popular in Europe around 1850.

In colonial America, the first fire protection was provided by bucket brigades, made up of lines of men passing buckets of water by hand. The earliest paid fire department was established in Boston in 1860. The first volunteer fire department was organized in Philadelphia by Benjamin Franklin about 1735. Thirty years later George Washington imported the first fire engine from England, and presented it to the volunteer fire company of Alexandria, Virginia, of which he was a member.

Although the process of firefighting has changed as modern technology developed, one ingredient remains much the same—the hardly citizens who serve in either volunteer or paid positions.

Anoka Township, through Council authorization, had a mutual aid agreement with the North Suburban Mutual Aid Association as early as 1948. The intention of this agreement was to augment the quality of fire service to the township.

Ordinance No. 9, passed by the Village Council in December, Utility Billing operations are a part of the City’s conventionally staffed and paid operations.

First directors of the Anoka Cooperative Electric Association with the addition of the following elected in 1937: Edwin C. Swanson, Anoka Township and Carroll Broadbent, Linwood Township.

In order to secure funds from the REA, it was necessary to prepare maps of each township showing the potential number of members and actual number of members secured. To become the responsibility of each of the directors, who agreed to canvass their townships to gain as many members as possible for the Anoka Electric Association.

Because of the extreme financial hardship of farmers at this time (the height of the depression), it was often difficult to get the $2.00 subscription, but by December of 1936, a membership of 469 was reported, covering 152 miles of line. The estimated cost of this line was $162,210. An application for funds was forwarded to Washington, D.C. and preliminary work on the first phase of the project was complete.

The Directors of the AEC were notified that approval of the loan was being withheld pending solution to the power supply problem. The AEC entered into discussion with NSF on the matter of having the Cooperative in the Twin Cities area and, in October 1936, a one-year contract for wholesale power was signed.

The staking of lines for the first project was under way by March 1937, and in 1938 the Sherburne County Association and a group from the northern part of Washington County decided to join the Anoka Electric Cooperative. The first line to be energized was in the Crooked Lake area in March 1938. As of December 31, 1983, 45 years later, the AEC serves 51,134 members.

COMMUNICATION

WCCO radio is a familiar household word in this part of the northwest and has been since October 2, 1924.

The original WCCO transmitter building was constructed in Anoka Township in 1924. The location, which is the City of Coon Rapids now encompasses, was the site of radio broadcast transmitting facilities and twin aerial transmitting towers which made WCCO, at 5,000 watts of power, the largest radio station west of the Mississippi in 1925. The site, originally surrounded by farmland, is on old Highway No. 10 (now Coon Rapids Boulevard) and as early as 1930 the station began sending signals out over two 200-foot antennas as far as Honolulu, the Virgin Islands, and Mexico.

A new 50,000-watt transmitter was installed, and by September 1932 WCCO was one of the most powerful clear channel radio stations in operation in the United States. The present familiar WCCO radio antenna in Coon Rapids was installed in 1959, allowing the station to serve more listeners. This antenna is 654 feet in height.

WCCO celebrated its 50th anniversary on the air in 1974. The City of Coon Rapids and the entire northwest have enjoyed the benefits of having such a "good neighbor" for 60 years. The distinction and pride felt by the members of this community in having shared in the history of Coon Rapids communications facility is a reflection of the spirit which has resulted in a healthy growth of the City of Coon Rapids.

WCCO RADIO

The Coon Rapids skyline was distinguished by four WCCO transmitting towers in the mid 1930’s. The two west towers were constructed of concrete, each tower 220 feet in height. The two south towers were built 30’ south of the others. The WCCO towers were 300 feet tall. The two west towers were torn down in the mid 30’s.

The Anoka County Union, one of the pioneer newspapers in Minnesota, was founded by George Gray of Monticello, saw its first light of day Aug. 31, 1865, and has been published regularly since that time.

Two other newspapers, including the Coon Rapids Herald, started publication later and the three papers now fall under the banner of ABC Newspapers and form-part of Anoka County Union and Shopper Inc. The Anoka Herald was purchased April 1, 1959 and became the Coon Rapids Herald soon afterward.

Granville S. Pease, master printer, came to the Union April 2, 1866 and purchased the business in June 1866, continuing as editor, publisher-owner until retirement in 1916. Granville “Dad” Pease was an interesting, prolific and witty writer, who kept improving. After his death it became a power in early newspaper circles in Minnesota.

T.G.J. Pease, Granville’s son, assumed the role of publisher and editor in 1916, managing the newspaper and large commercial printing plant, and, in 1934, started the Anoka County Shopper. In 1948 “T.G.,” as he was known, stepped down his son, Arch G. Pease, purchased the business, remaining active up to the present. Thomas B. Pease was president of the firm in April 1971, succeeding his father, Arch G. Pease.
The newspaper's first home was a frame building on the northeast corner of Main and Ferry Streets, Anoka, moving a few months later to the east side of the Rum River; another move a year later, then in 1872 a new home was erected across from the present Anoka County Hall. Another move in 1884 to new quarters at First and Jackson; then after a fire in Aug., 1884, to a new building east of the present Thurstons.'

In 1907, a new building was occupied on the banks of the Rum on Second and Harrison, which served until January 14, 1953, when the plant was settled in the new union building on Jackson Street.

The eighth and final uprooting and move was made April 1, 1980, into a new all-steel structure at 4101 Coon Rapids Boulevard, Coon Rapids, across from Mercy Medical Center.

SHORTLINE

One of the most anticipated developments awaited by the early residents of Coon Rapids was a "Shortline" or "Electric Line" railroad which would provide convenient transportation between Minneapolis, Coon Rapids, and Anoka. For over twenty years residents of the area waited with impatience, and in March of 1898, preparations began with the acquisition of land.

In April 1898, the legally qualified voters of Anoka Township voted to issue bonds for the building of an "electric line" from Anoka to Minneapolis. The bond issue passed by 51 to 3. "Only three lonesome individuals" reported the Anoka papers, "were found among the voters who want to walk."

A meeting was held May 22, 1909, at which the route of the electric line was determined: "To run the right-of-way along the road between Anoka and Minneapolis", and all right-of-way had been secured with the exception of 20 or 30 lots.

Those attending the meeting were: C.A. Nelson, C.J. Swanson, Tom Coleman, Charles Gibbs, L.H. Hoyt, C.W. Ball, Adolph Bergeron, Frank French, Joe Simson, John Coleman, Andrew Jenson, William Beckebach, Charles Barney, Patrick Manley, and the Dunn brothers.

The line was completed to the Coon Creek Dam in January 1913 and supplies for the construction project were being hauled from Minneapolis via the Minnesota and Northern Railway. By June regular trips were made by the gasoline engined "trains" from Minneapolis through Coon Rapids to Anoka.

It was determined in December 1914 that gasoline-powered engines were no longer feasible and the lines were electrified using power generated at the dam. In 1915 the electric "trolleys" made seven trips a day through Coon Rapids.

Trolley stations were built along the line in Coon Rapids and were named by neighbors such as, "Hannah Station" (on Hanson Boulevard), "Coleman Station" and "Foley Station". These yellow "streetcars" were a familiar sight until 1939.46

COON RAPIDS DAM

This photo was taken during the construction of the Dam in 1913. A small company of workmen accomplished 3,000 board feet of labor in the dam. A total of 800 carloads of crushed rock and 42,000 cubic feet of concrete had been used. The water was raised 15 feet behind the dam.

While Anoka Township was well recognized in the County, it had minimal identification in the out-state area. With the coming of the railroad in the 1860's and the subsequent naming of "the Coon Creek Cut off" at Coon Creek, the area gradually came to be called by its most widely known feature. With the proposal to build a dam at the foot of Coon Creek in 1898, the name became more widely used.

The ANOKA HERALD of February 4, 1898, illustrates the first local mention of the dam, "A bill to give the Twin City Transit Company permission to dam the Mississippi River below Coon Rapids passed the House...so the big scheme is now not only possible but probable."

The ultimate question as to the location of the dam became a issue as the Company preferred placing it in Fridley near Rice Creek. Landowners above the proposed site, however, were bringing influence to have it built near Anoka. Mr. Dunn at Coon Creek practically holds the key to the situation, as his farm would be damaged more than any other piece of ground along the river. If the dam were built below his farm he would lose all his rich bottom lands, some of the finest farming lands in the county, and his valuable clay beds would be seriously damaged.

Very little activity took place until 1909, but the project was still "very much alive". In October the following newspaper article appeared: "For the past two years there has been talk of a dam which certain mysterious persons were to construct at Coon Creek Rapids. The matter has been kept very quiet. A comparison of deeds filed in Anoka and Hennepin Counties reveal that all land on both sides of the Mississippi River between Anoka and Coon Creek Junction has been purchased by the Great Northern Development Company of Duluth... only recently did it acquire the last parcels necessary to its plans. The point at which the powerhouse is to be erected is at one of the narrowest portions of the river."

CITY GOVERNMENT OPERATIONS

CITIZEN'S OFFICE

The City Attorney is the chief legal officer of the City and is responsible for the administration and supervision of the overall legal activities of the City. The City Attorney represents the City in matters concerning land acquisition and property condemnation as well as advising the Council and administrative staff on legal procedures and requirements involved in conducting City affairs.

In addition the City Attorney serves as a member of the City Manager's top level management team and Budget Review Committee. The City Attorney also acts as negotiator for the City with recognized bargaining units and serves as chief administrative officer of the City during the absence of the City Manager.

Full-time municipal service was authorized in Coon Rapids when provision for that office was included in the 1970 City budget. Prior to this time the City's legal concerns were handled on a retainer basis with private attorneys. Prior to 1973 two Assistant City Attorneys were included in the 1973 City budget.

Leonard Kne is the current City Attorney and has held that position since June 18, 1973. Als Hofstedt is Assistant City Attorney. His tenure, since May 30, 1972, includes a number of months as an intern. Ron Enerson was the first City Attorney (1970-1973). Legal services for the City were performed by Wyman Smith and William Merlin on a retainer basis before that time.

Germaine Krein has been Legal Secretary since June 28, 1976. Joanne Mueller was Germaine's predecessor in that position. Dave Rollwagen is the part-time Law Clerk for the Legal Department.

CITY CLERK

The City Clerk's responsibilities fall into three categories: elections, maintenance of official records, and licensing.

The responsibility for conducting and supervising special, primary, and general municipal elections are in this office. The City Clerk also maintains all files containing official City records. Included in these records are ordinances, projects, resolutions, and Council minutes. The licensing of all those activities for which a license is required by City ordinance is a function of this office. The City Clerk reviews all applications for licenses to ensure compliance with ordinance provisions as well as issuing the licenses.

The City Clerk also acts as the staff liaison to the Charter Commission and is responsible for the publication "Community Newsletter". Other duties include: police, fire, and street census; registration of the City Hall front desk and of the Word Processing Center.

Paul Talbot was the first Village Clerk and his tenure (October 1953 to August 1962) spanned the time of Coon Rapids' transition from Village to City status. Margaret Fensand was City Clerk from August 1962 to August 1963 followed by Norma Werner from August 1963 to January 1968. Mary Olson held the position from January 1968 to December 1970 after which Norma Werner was again City Clerk from January 1971 to April 1974. Betty Bell was Deputy City Clerk from January 1971 until April 1974 at which time she was appointed City Clerk, a position she currently holds.

Presently, the City Clerk's staff includes Lorraine Menge, Burdon Ruhlow, Barbara Williams, Anne-Marie Anderson, Loretta Bucksa, and Kimberly Barck.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

The Coon Rapids City Council adopted an economic position statement on May 4, 1976.

An Economic Development Commission is assisted by an Assistant Planning Director in the development promotion of the City. The Assistant Planning Director assists in planning and coordinating the activities of the Commission and engages in development prospecting through contact with commercial and industrial concerns. Contacts with local and state and local economic trends, industrial and commercial development, and related research.

The City has expressed its position toward economic development in a policy statement which includes: (1) maximize opportunities for personal growth and participation in civic development, (2) promote development in the best interests of the City, (3) project and promote a health and vigorous community image, and (4) establish working relationships with all amenities important to the economic well being of the City.

The present Assistant Planning Director is Joe Grillo. Past Economic Development Commissioners include: Pat Pelstring, Don Levens, Mike Mulrooney, and Duane Leisinger.

ENGINEERING DEPARTMENT

The City Engineer is responsible for administering and directing the activities of the Engineering Department and the Inspection Department. The activities of the Inspection Department are coordinated through the Chief Building Official, who is responsible for daily operations of the Department. The Engineering Department consists of the City Engineer, the Assistant City Engineer, and a Design Engineer, in whom are registered professional engineers, as well as eight Engineering Aides and one Secretary. The Engineering Department is responsible for all public construction including utilities, streets, and public buildings. The Department also keeps all records of existing facilities.

The current City Engineer is William Ottenmann, the Assistant City Engineer is Douglas Vierzba, the Design... and the current is not only swift, but there are rapids known as the Coon Creek Rapids.

Negotiations with John Dunn were successful and 169 acres were sold for the dam site.

The million dollar plant was to be built on the Anoka side of the river, but Hennepin County was designated to receive the entrance fee for the project. It was delayed for three years. On July 7, 1912 it was all resold and 50 men were hired to begin the project. Three months later a village had developed around the dam site including bunks/houses, mess halls, quarters for officials of the school, a hospital, and even its own sewer system. All the amenities of city life were present including fires, weddings, births, deaths, crime, social events, as well as a 30 branch private telephone exchange.

One thousand men were now at work on a round-the-clock schedule, 75 percent of whom were from Anoka County.

Land, water powers, flowage rights, and a federal permit were acquired by Northern States Power on May 13, 1913. Ten days later it was sold to the Northern Mississippi River Power Company, a subsidiary of NSP which carried out the hydro development. Stewart W. Laird was in charge of the construction. Upon completion of the dam he became superintendent of the plant, a position held for over 25 years.

Work on the dam was nearly completed by December 1913, and only a few men were retained through the winter. The numerous camps, stores, offices, sheds, etc. were sold to W.H. MacNeil of Anoka. The “city” by the river was gone and the engineers, laborers, carpenters, and machinists departed.

When completed, the dam contained 42,000 cubic feet of concrete and 800 carloads of crushed rock. The water level behind the dam was raised 15 feet. A force of about 200 men were needed to operate the facility upon completion.

In 1914 wires were strung and the plant was ready to furnish electricity.

The Northern States Power Company purchased all capital stock, assets, liabilities, and property in April of 1916.

Electrical demands, due to the rapidly developing area of service grew so large that by 1966, operation of the plant was no longer feasible. On the 1st December 1968, NSP officially discontinue electrical service and the Coon Rapids Hydro Generating Station, and generating and transmission equipment was removed from the powerhouse.

Ownership of the land and dam was transferred to the Hennepin County Park Reserve District in 1969 to be developed for public park purposes.

The Coon Rapids Dam Regional Park now offers recreational and educational opportunities for the people of the metropolitan area. Visitors may choose from the many activities such as hiking, boating, fishing, water sports, picnicking, skiing and snowshoeing are also popular winter activities.

In 1977 a walkway was built across the pier points of the dam to the west side. This is a popular spot for “river watchers” both winter and summer.

In 1978 a visitor center opened which houses offices, a permanent display of the dam history, many original displays, as well as live animals for the enjoyment and information of the public.

The naturalist staff offer programs each weekend covering a wide range of topics from edible wild plants to fish fileting. Activities offered are “Cattfish Classic” “Fun Fish”, and the tongue-in-cheek “Carp Centennial.”

WHITE CITY

The period of rapid development in Anoka Township resulted in the demise of farmsteads which had served residents from the time of settlement. In the 1950 to 1960 period, second generation residents of this once agrarian community were reaching the age of retirement and the opportunity for security in their “sunset” years by selling their remaining acres to developers was timely. As a result, a very limited number of complete farm settings remained. One of these was the area called “White City” by older residents. On Hanson Boulevard just south of Highway 242 was the site known today as the “Whippel Farm” or “White City”.

The original owner of this property was James A. Lennson, who received a patent from the United States on April 3, 1857. The acreage passed into various ownership until 1929, when it was purchased by Dr. Clarence D. Whipple and his wife Frances of Champign. All of the buildings and the house were painted white which resulted in the local people calling the area “White City.” As the ten buildings covered a wide area and from a distance might appear as a settlement, especially after dark when lanterns lighted windows in various buildings where evening chores were taking place. In January 1941, the farm was purchased by the Zawistowski family who lived in the farmhouse until a new home was built on the land.

The farmlands are now platted and will be developed by John Washburn as Cardinal Heights Plat 9. The original buildings were demolished in the spring of 1984.

ROAD TAX

Monday, June 3, 1878, “Ellis is at work on the Road for me today. My road tax is about $17.50 including Post Office with me on a dollar this year.” Albert Caswell Diary, from the Arthur D. Caswell and Family Papers (Minnesota Historical Society).

TOWN HALL

The need for a suitable meeting place for the Township Board became apparent, and on March 30, 1984. Joseph Wilson and his wife, Villa, filed a Warranty Deed with the Anoka County Recorder that covered a half acre of land. The Warranty Deed was the instrument with which Wilson constructed the building.

In the fall of 1984, a meeting was held at the site of the proposed Town Hall to plan and estimate the cost of the building. The Township officials in attendance were: Martin E. Dunn, Clerk; A. Giddings, Chairman; George Foley and George Updike, Supervisors. At this meeting, the Warranty Deed was presented to the Supervisors by A. Giddings.

The Town Hall was erected that summer and was used continuously until 1946 when it was sold to Earl and Ruby Dunn. As a resident, the Dunn family owned and used the building until 1977 when the building was damaged by a "runaway" automobile to such an extent that it was considered unsuitable for habitation.

The building sits today on its original site at 2527 Coon Rapids Boulevard, on the southeast corner of Yukon Street and Coon Rapids Boulevard.

From 1946 to 1954 the Board of Supervisors met in a garage at the corner of Hanson and 115th where the town road equipment was stored. The equipment consisted of a grader and one truck. This building served as a Town Hall, polling place, and community meeting room. Each time a meeting or election was held the equipment was moved outside.

THE ALBERT JAMES CASWELL DIARY

An excerpt from the diary of Albert James Caswell, pioneer of Anoka Township for the month of June 1880, will illustrate typical events and activities of a resident of Coon Rapids during the 1880's. Little or no punctuation was used in the original and it is presented as written, except for minor clarifications in spelling.

Chapter II

VILLAGE 1952-1959

“"The governments of cities and villages daily touch the lives of the great majority of our people. It is not easy to exaggerate the importance to the people of good city and village government. If a city or village has high standards of integrity and efficiency, the young people who grow up in it will unconsciously learn those standards and transmit them to other communities, to the state, and to the nation.”

HISTORICAL COMMISSION

This Commission was established by Ordinance No. 489 on September 17, 1974. It is comprised of nine members, at least one of whom shall be a member of the Anoka County Historical Society. Gaylord Aldinger has been Staff Liaison of this Commission since its inception.
CHARTER COMMISSION

Charter Commissions are governed by State Statute. The Commission is made up of 15 members appointed by the Chief Judge of the appropriate Judicial District through recommendations of the City Council. The ongoing responsibility of this Commission is to frame and amend the City Charter as may be necessary. (See Chapter II for further information).

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT COMMISSION

This Commission was established by Ordinance No. 394 on June 6, 1952, and is composed of 15 members. Also, representatives appointed by the Anoka-Hennepin Independent School District No. 11 and the Anoka County Board shall be designated as non-voting representatives.

The functions of the Economic Development Commission are: (1) to promote Coon Rapids by projects, large and small; (2) to create and maintain a community with a high quality of life that provides an excellent environment for raising a family and where community pride encourages industrial and commercial growth. The Commission met with the Planning Commission to assure the highest possible land use for the community; (3) to bring about balanced growth; (4) to assist in solving the commercial and industrial concerns of the City of Coon Rapids; (4) to promote and give priority to the development of that industry in cooperation with state, county, and local authorities; (5) to establish the City on matters pertaining to industry and commerce. Joe Grillo is the current staff liaison officer.

VILLAGE

In order to better understand the transition period when Anoka Township became the Village of Coon Rapids, one must be aware of prior political activities which helped to shape the “personality” of the City as it is today. There is never a fine line of demarcation in the process of political evolution, as today’s actions are predicated upon previous events as well as those of the future. The past is truly prologue.

The idea of proposing to incorporate was not a new one to residents of the Township. As early as June 1948, a petition was presented to the Anoka County Board of Commissioners proposing that Anoka Township be incorporated as the Village of Coon Rapids. The petition was validated and an election on the question was scheduled for July 21 when the voters of Anoka Township voted 316 to 141 against the change.

A growing population, home building, establishment of new businesses, and an increasing demand for services convinced Township officials and other local leaders of the need for additional governmental authority than that provided by the township form of government.

In 1950 the Township Board authorized a zoning program, and at a Special Election on November 7, 1950, a vote of 291 to 191 was cast. This was the second attempt to obtain authority to regulate land use and building in the fast growing community of Anoka Township. It was an important step forward, but a popular surge in favor of zoning had taken place.

Five zoning districts were organized and elections were set for naming two members from each district to the Zoning Committee. The results: District I: Theodore Buzzelli and Louis Vocin. District II: Jack McKay and James Whitehead. District III: Erik Heiberg and Leland Sorteborg. District IV: Joe Nelson and Frank Miller. District V: Glenn Haven and Arch Pease.

The Zoning Committee met May 1, 1950, naming Glenn Haven Chairman and Leland Sorteborg Secretary. At the second meeting, a final draft of the building code and zoning regulations was completed. In June 1950 the Township Board appointed Guy Robinson as the first building inspector of the Village of Anoka. From that time all building in the Township was under supervision.

Interest in local government was negligible, as illustrated when only 57 voters went to the polls in the March 1951 Town election. (The 1950 Federal Census showed population of 2,563 residents).

In May 1951 the Township Board authorized the Zoning and Planning Commission members to act in an advisory capacity as Township Councilmen. Suggestions for improvement of conditions in each zone, under this plan, would be submitted to the Township Council for consideration before final action.

Prior to March 1952 certain areas had a considerable concentration of population, including Woodale Park, creek, Joyce Chapel, and along Highway No. 1 and Crooked Lake Boulevard. One hundred eighty-nine homes were built that summer by Furseth Investment Company of Minneapolis, the addition called “Anoka Gardens”, in the area below Highway No. 242 and Coon Rapids Boulevard. The building boom had started.

A formal petition signed by the president of the Federal Cartridge Corporation was presented on May 26, 1952, to the Anoka City Commission. The petition asked that a plot containing 90.65 acres and the Federal Cartridge Corridor be annexed to the City of Anoka. The petition was approved and given first and second reading and an ordinance regarding the annexation was published.

On June 25, 1952, a “writ of Quo Warranto” was filed by the Supervisors of Anoka Township for a hearing before the Minnesota Supreme Court. At the hearing on July 30 a referee was appointed and a hearing held at the Anoka City Hall on October 14 and 15. From the evidence heard at that time, the referee made his recommendation to the Supreme Court, saying annexation was valid and of legal effect. Anoka Township had lost a considerable tax income with the loss of this suit.

On July 18, 1952, a petition signed by 25 freeholders was presented to the Anoka County Commissioners asking incorporation of a part of Anoka Township as the new village of “Coleman Heights”. The petition was not approved as it was not properly drawn, not having a census of the area attached. The residents are in the area south of Woodlawn Park, taking in all of the NSP holdings and extending east along Coon Rapids Boulevard, containing 2,150 acres and 523 residents.

At a meeting on October 6, 1952, the Anoka Township Board gave its unqualified support to the effort to incorporate the Village of Coon Rapids. A committee to arrange a mass informational meeting for all township residents prior to the election consisted of the following persons: Board members Robert G. Hager; Joe Nelson; Roy T. Hodson; Paul Talbot; and Guy Robinson, Township Building Inspector. James Whitehead was Secretary of the Zoning Commission.

The Chamber of Commerce carried the issue to the doors of the residents in a house-to-house campaign.

At the polls on October 17, 1952, residents approved the establishment of Coon Rapids Village by a vote of 833 to 209-0. The voting turnout was the largest in the history of the area.

FACTS

Here They Are!

IF YOU HAVE BEEN ASKED to vote against the Coon Rapids Village, ponder the request carefully. Here are factual, recorded answers to the statements the opposition:

1. —Taxes cannot be raised in a village without a SPECIAL VOTE by yourselves. The county maintains less roads in Anoka Township than any township in the county.

2. —You have voted your town board members into office. You thereby trust their judgment. Your town board ENDORSES this village 100%.

3. —If you want more public services, whether under Village or Township government, you will have to pay more taxes. TAXES WILL NOT BE RAISED unless you want more public service.

4. —Federal Cartridge IS NOT YET part of the City of Anoka. However, we will definitely lose Federal Cartridge Co. and more than 20% of Tax Income unless we become a village. Defeat the village and YOU will raise your taxes by losing Federal Cartridge.

5. —Nothing in the OPPOSITION CIRCULAR is clear, much is misleading. YOU AS VOTERS must consider the issues, the sources and true purposes of the people behind these issues. Ask yourselves—WHO PUT OUT THE OPPOSITION SHEET? Why wasn’t a signature printed? Do not forget that a township area can lose valuable tax property by annexation to other cities and by the township being broken up by small villages founded by people who do not have the interests of all THE PEOPLE in the township or the future of your family. WE MUST BECOME A VILLAGE!

CITY MANAGER

The chief administrator of the City is the City Manager. The City Manager is appointed by the Council and serves at its discretion. He/she attends all Council meetings and serves as advisor for and makes recommendations to the Council. Under the direction of the City Manager, through a professional staff, the day-to-day operation of all the City’s services is put into effect.

The duties of the City Manager include: Enforcement of the Charter and the laws, ordinances, and resolutions of the City; appointment and removal upon the basis of merit and fitness and subject to applicable civil service provisions, if any, of the City Clerk, all heads of departments, and all subordinate officers and employees in departments, exercise control over all departments and divisions of the City administration; keeps the Council fully advised as to the financial condition and needs of the City, and is responsible for the preparation of and submittal to the Council of the annual budget; the preparation and submittal to the Council for adoption of an administrative code incorporating the details of administrative procedure.

ADVISORY COMMISSIONS

Because of the increasing number of issues and the growing need for citizen leadership in community affairs, the City Council appoints many public spirited citizens to serve on various advisory boards and commissions. Nothing is so vital to the progress of the City as the interest and activity of its citizens in community projects and City government.

Examples of citizen participation over a period of 25 years include: 12-16 citizen active commissions as well as two standing commissions and the special ad hoc Budget Evaluation Commission.

CABLE COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

This Commission originated by the passage of Resolution No. 73-23 which created a citizens advisory committee for cable television. The Commission retained this status until October 27, 1977, when communication by cable television was formed. The current Commission is comprised of five members.

The functions of this Commission shall be to act as an advisory board to the City Council on matters relating to cable communications, to monitor cable communications franchise agreements, and to perform such other duties as the City Council may refer to the Commission. Mr. Hoefstedt is the current staff liaison for the Commission.

Members who have served at one time or another on the original advisory committee for cable television from its creation in 1973 until October 1981 were: Creston Gackle, Marilyn McCrady, Dennis Betschen, Linda Therkelson, John Nash, Chris Zece, Beverly Flaherty, Richard Schaller, Reginald Hemmes, Ronald Kossler, Tim Michaels, Hank Vander, James Francois, and Michael Auger.

Members who are serving on the current Cable Communications Commission are: Reginald Hemmes; Ronald Kossler; Tim Michaels; Richard Schaller; Hank Vander; James Francois; and Hank Vander.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT COMMITTEE

This Committee was established by Ordinance No. 230 on October 3, 1967, and is comprised of five members, one member from the City Council, one from the Planning Commission, one from the Parks and Recreation Commission, one from the City Manager, the Finance Director. The Director of Public Works, the Director of Planning, and three at-large appointees from the general community.

The functions of this Committee are: (a) To develop and periodically review procedures for the handling of capital improvements, whether petitioned for or not. (b) To develop and maintain a five-year capital improvement program anticipating in broad scope the needs of the community, the priorities of improvements, and the ability of the community to bond for these improvements. In the preparation of the capital improvement program the Committee will estimate the ability of the City to bond including annual debt ratio, the analysis of and consideration the bond rating, and compute with (ratios) the immediate maintenance cost for the period covered by the capital improvement program. (c) Upon Council request, review within the allotted time, petitions for capital improvements and the relation of these petitioned improvements to the predetermined priority scheduling, and recommend a course of action to the City Council.

The Mayors are the presiding officer at Council meetings. Presiding officers recognize speakers for the purpose of debate and for making motions and seconding motions of Council procedure. The Mayors are recognized as the official head of the City for all ceremonial purposes, and by the courts for the purpose of serving civil process. The Mayor is also responsible for reporting to the Council any neglect, delinquency of duty, or waste on the part of any officer or department of the City.

Every ordinance or resolution passed by the Council is signed by the Mayor, attested to, filed and preserved by the City Clerk.

The Mayor, as the official head of the City, usually represents the municipality before the State Legislature, Federal and state agencies, and other local governments. The Mayor is also considered to be the head of government by local citizens.

The City Council is made up of five persons, all elected by the citizens of Coon Rapids. There are three Wards within the City: Each Ward elects one Councilmember to represent that Ward. In addition, each eligible voting citizen of Coon Rapids has the opportunity to vote for a Councilmember at large and a Mayor. The Councilmember at Large and the Mayor are elected for two-year terms, each elected in a different year so that the citizens have the opportunity to vote for at least one Councilmember each year. The Council represents citizens elected from each ward are elected for a three-year term. The elective process of the Council is such that two Councilmembers are elected each year—one of the ward Councilmembers and either of the Councilmember at Large or the Mayor.

The Councilmembers are the representatives of the citizens. They are to look out for individual needs of the citizens as well as the welfare of the City as a whole. Although a few duties and responsibilities of the Council are to: Approval of warrants—No order may be issued for disbursement of municipal funds until the claim has been approved by the Mayor and the City Clerk. 1972–Donald Ellis, Mayor; Joseph Craig; James Dahman; Burt Norberg; John J. One of the immediate actions of the new Village Council was to appoint Wyman Smith as the first Village Attorney. He was retained to assist in the legal work relative to the formation of the Village.

The City placed the planning of the Village in the hands of the University of Minnesota with the general plan being the responsibility of Joseph Mund, who was assigned to work with Lloyd Wolf, Joe Nelson, Herb Miller, and A.F. Neitzman of the planning committee.

By February 1953 building permits totaling $2,859,244 had been issued since the adoption of a building and zoning code on June 5, 1950. During the next few months commercial and residential building would rapidly change the face of the Village.

Orrin Thompson, a Minneapolis builder, who had been constructing new housing developments in Richfield and Bloomington planned to begin a 600-house project in Coon Rapids in 1954. The new addition was called “Northdale” on Foley Road and County Road A (Northdale Boulevard).

The annual election of November 27, 1953, became one of the most contested since the Village was organized a year before. Five candidates filed for Mayor, three for the single open Council post, and two for the one position on the Zoning Commission. Glenn V. Haven, Chairman of the Zoning Commission since its organization, was elected Mayor. Joe Nelson, the first Mayor of the Village, did not seek re-election.

The Village continued to grow at a rapid pace. During the 47 months of the operation of the Zoning and Planning Commission, a total of 1,179 building permits were issued. The market value of the new buildings was approximately $6,770,000.

The first building bond issue was approved by voters in November 1954, by a vote of 1021 to 744 to erect the first public building in the Village—a fire station on Coon Rapids Boulevard, just west of the "Y", at a cost of $25,000 (now NSFSC building).
Village Manager after having served as Administrative Clerk.
Upon his resignation on February 25, 1965, Leslie Mason, Mayor, was named as Village Manager. Burt Norberg was nominated by the Council to preside in the Mayor’s absence.

In March 1958 Thomas Forsberg, Municipal Judge of the small office space next to Champion Auto Store. The address was 9941 Bluebird Street.

In November 1954 Orrin Thompson announced plans to build 600 homes in Coon Rapids the following year. Thompson said to be the largest developer in the country. The "Orrin Thompson era" in Coon Rapids lasted for over 15 years and was responsible for construction of over 3,000 homes, a central water system, townhouses, a country club with a swimming pool, and parks and recreation areas in the developments.

Some developers of this period were: Daily and Herda, Furseth, Butler, Hipp Construction, Rippberger, and others.

A petition was presented at a special meeting of the Village on January 12, 1954, by residents of the Mississippi Oaks Addition in Fridley who desired annexation to Coon Rapids, as they felt "Coon Rapids was more progressive". On January 20, 1954, Ordinance No. 21 was adopted, making Mississippi Oaks a part of Coon Rapids Village. The area consisted of 191 acres with a population of 141.

A new address system went into effect in February of 1956. Rural route numbers 3 and 4 were discontinued and only street addresses were used. Four categories of street names were chosen: trees, birds, floral and Indian names. The committee to re-name and number the existing roads and streets consisted of Roland Anderson, Guy Robinson, Jim Whitehead, Robert Peterson, Kingsley Bronson, Joe Nelson, Dick Furseth, Robert Hagen, A.T. Dingman, Harold Bartholow, and Robert Hayford.

The estimated population of the Village in July of 1957 was 9,000 and rapidly growing.

Orrin Thompson proposed in July 1957 that he construct a $250,000 water system to serve the homes in Thompson Park and offered it to the City as a municipal water system. This proposal required approval, and at the election in August it was voted to establish a municipally owned and operated water system. The system, complete with well, chlorinator, pump, and 130 connections was turned over to the Village for operation. Final acceptance of the 500-family capacity water system occurred November 1, 1958.

The fast-growing population, future planning, and provision of services resulted in additional responsibilities for Village officials, who held full-time occupational positions. A need for a competent administrative staff was apparent.

In November 1957 Coon Rapids voters approved the change to a Standard Plan "B" or Manager-type government. Under this plan, the Village Manager was able to reduce Council’s time devoted to administrative activity. At the first Council meeting of January 1958, Robert Peterson was appointed City Manager.

From a tiny settlement centered around farming and the brickyard industry in 1886, the area that has become the City of Coon Rapids is perhaps the most progressive and innovative community in the state. This development was distinguished by a high quality of life that is to be admired. These qualities did not just happen — they occurred as a result of a community’s vision of the ideal environment in which to live, work, and play. August 1958.

coen Rapids City Charter prescribes the form of government but it is the people who “make it work”. The Mayor and Council members are the key officials. They set policy and determine budgets and programs of services, which have an impact on every citizen as well as on the future growth and development of the entire community.

An increase in government activity due to growing development in late 1959, made it apparent that larger quarters to house the various City departments was imperative. Rental space in Coon Rapids Shopping Center and other quarters was costing the City in excess of $6,000.00 annually.

Several public meetings were held to inform residents of this need in late 1959, and a site was selected near or adjacent to the fire station on Coon Rapids Boulevard.

The City Hall Bond Issue of $132,000 was approved April 12, 1960, by the voters 406 to 398. Construction began that summer on the two-unit City Hall which was occupied and officially opened for business June 1, 1961. The east wing consisted of offices for the City Manager, Water, Finance, Inspection, and Assessing Departments, plus the office of the City Clerk, voter registration, and the City Planner. At the required ten percent of voters cast ballots in the last election that occurred in 1961.

Chapter 1-1300, CHARTER OF CITY OF COON RAPIDS.

See note 2 above.

Election Data, Coon Rapids City Clerk's File (October 1952-1963).
According to the minutes of the Village Council of July 23, 1955, a motion was approved to authorize negotiations with Richard Hipp for a lease of one year for space in the Coon Rapids Shopping Center, in the rear of the barber shop, for use as Village offices. These quarters are now a part of the large dining room in the Sportsman’s Restaurant. In January 1958 the Village offices were moved around the corner to a small office space next to Champion Auto Store. The address was 9941 Bluebird Street.

In November 1954 Orrin Thompson announced plans to build 600 homes in Coon Rapids the following year. Thompson was said to be the largest developer in the country. The "Orrin Thompson era" in Coon Rapids lasted for over 15 years and was responsible for construction of over 1,000 homes, a central water system, townhouses, a country club with a swimming pool, and parks and recreation areas in the developments.

Some developers of this period were: Daily and Herda, Furseth, Butler, Hipp Construction, Rippberger, and others.

A petition was presented at a special meeting of the Village on January 12, 1954, by residents of the Mississippi Oaks Addition in Fridley who desired annexation to Coon Rapids, as they felt "Coon Rapids was more progressive". On January 20, 1954, Ordinance No. 21 was adopted, making Mississippi Oaks a part of Coon Rapids Village. The area consisted of 191 acres with a population of 141.

A new address system went into effect in February of 1956. Rural route numbers 3 and 4 were discontinued and only street addresses were used. Four categories of street names were chosen: trees, birds, flowers and Indian names. The committee to re-name and number the existing roads and streets consisted of Roland Anderson, Guy Robinson, Jim Whitehead, Robert Peterson, Kingsley Bronson, Joe Nelson, Dick Furseth, Robert Hagan, A.T. Dingman, Harold Bartholow, and Robert Hayford.

The estimated population of the Village in July of 1957 was 9,000 and rapidly growing.

Orrin Thompson proposed in July 1957 that he construct a $250,000 water system to serve the homes in Thompson Park and offered it to the City as a municipal water system. This proposal required approval, and at the election in November 1957 it was voted 98% in favor of establishing a privately owned and operated water system. The system, complete with well, chlorinator, pump, and 130 connections was turned over to the Village for operation. Final acceptance of the 500-family capacity water system occurred November 1, 1958.

The fast-growing population, future planning, and provision of services resulted in additional responsibilities for Village officials, who held full-time occupational positions. A clear need for a competent, administrative staff was apparent. In November 1957 Coon Rapids voters approved the change to a Standard Plan "B" or Manager-type government. Under this plan, the Village Manager was able to reduce Council's time devoted to administrative activity. At the first Council meeting of January 1958, Robert Peterson was appointed Village Manager after having served as Administrative Clerk. Upon his retirement on February 25, 1965, Leslie Mason, Mayor, was named as Village Manager. Burt Norberg was nominated by the Council to preside in the Mayor's absence.

In March 1958 Thomas Forsberg, Municipal Judge of the small-office space next to Champion Court requested that a member Charter Commission be named by the judge. The petition was signed by approximately 120 persons over the required ten percent of voters who cast ballots in the last election. By State Statute a Charter Commission member must be a free holder who had lived in the Village for at least five years.

The preparation of the Home Rule Charter was in anticipation of a request for city status. The Charter allowed greater freedom in the exercise of local government, the formation of a ward system, and facilitated a more area-wide representation on the City Council.

The City Charter is, in a sense, a local constitution approved by local voters which is subject to change by them or in certain cases by the Council. An excerpt from the Charter of the City of Coon Rapids defines the Charter guidelines as: "The form of government established by this Charter is the City-Manager plan. The Council shall exercise the powers of the Board of the village and shall be responsible to the City Manager for the proper administration of all affairs relating to the City." A charter may provide for any form of municipal government as long as it is consistent with state laws applicable to home rule charter cities.

Members of the Coon Rapids Charter Commission at the time of its passage on June 9, 1959, were: Kingsley D. Bronson; Constantine Burchette; Howard M. Fleury; Marion Fletcher; A.T. Flynn; Robert C. Hagen; Glenn V. Haven; Robert E. Lawrence; Robert M. Lommen; Harald Medin; Irving Nelson; Blanche W. Nelson; Guy V. Robertson; Leon R. Petersen; Paul Talbot, and Thomas Forberg, Legal Advisor. The Charter Commission completed its work and studied more than a year and a prepared Charter was presented to the Mayor and Council to be submitted to the voters. Much of the Home Rule Charter was based on the model charter of the League of Municipalities and contained many changes in the original plan.

The date of June 9, 1959, was scheduled for a special election to determine the acceptance or rejection of the proposed Charter. On this date the voters rejected the change by a margin of 172 to 59. A majority of 55 percent was needed to authorize the Village to become a City. The Charter vote carried, with a total of 74.45 percent of the votes cast. The vote was ratified June 13, 1959.

Coon Rapids Township had become a City of the Fourth Class.

From a tiny settlement centered around farming and the brickyard industry in 1889, the area that has become the City of Coon Rapids is perhaps the most progressive and innovative community in the state. This development was distinguished by a high quality of life that is to be admired. These qualities did not just happen — they occurred as a result of a community's vision of the ideal environment in which to live, work, and play. Augustus Cole and men and women have given their time and considerable talent in order to create and develop a community where one could live out one's life—a rare ideal in a transient society.

The Coon Rapids City Charter prescribes the form of government but it is the people who "make it work". The Mayor and Council members are the key officials who set policy and determine budgets and programs of services, which have an impact on every citizen as well as on the future growth and development of the entire community.

An increase in government activity due to growing development in late 1959, made it apparent that larger quarters to house the various City departments was imperative. Rental space in Coon Rapids Shopping Center and other quarters was costing the City in excess of $6,000.00 annually.

Several public meetings were held to inform residents of this need in late 1959, and a site was selected near or adjacent to the fire station on Coon Rapids Boulevard.

The City Hall Bond issue of $152,000 was approved April 12, 1960, by the voters 406 to 398. Construction began that summer on the two-unit City Hall which was occupied and officially opened for business June 1, 1961. The east wing housed offices for the City Manager, Water, Finance, Inspection, and Assessing Departments; the west wing was divided into three areas: Police Department offices and jail, a combination courtroom and council chambers, the Coon Rapids Branch of the Anoka County Library. Open house was held July 23, 1961.

Plans were completed and construction had begun in August 1964 on an $83,425 addition. The cost of the second story edition was included in the 1964 budget and bonding was unnecessary. The addition was completed in February 1965.

An addition made to the Police Department quarters in August 1972 was made possible by the issuance of Public Building Bonds in the amount of $125,000.

The last addition to City Hall took place in 1978, when the two initial units were connected on the north side by construction of additional office space. The move to new quarters took place in January 1979, when the addition was occupied by the offices of the City Manager, City Attorney, Financing, Assessing, City Clerk, Public Works, Fire, Engineering, Inspection, and Planning Departments. Construction costs for the building's addition were $243,000 through a HUD grant and $292,794 via City funding.

The ambience of City Hall is not derived so much from its architecture, but the pleasant, friendly, professional attitude exhibited by all City employees.
The Mayor is the presiding officer at Council meetings. Presiding officers recognize speakers for the purpose of debate and for making motions and seconding motions of Council procedure. The Mayor is recognized as the official head of the City for all ceremonial purposes, and by the courts for the purpose of serving civil process. The Mayor is also responsible for informing the Council of any neglect, dereliction of duty, or waste on the part of any officer or department of the City.

Every ordinance or resolution passed by the Council is signed by the Mayor, attested to, filed and preserved by the City Clerk.

The Mayor, as the official head of the City, usually represents the municipality before the State Legislature, Federal and other governmental agencies, and other local governments. The Mayor is also considered to be the head of government by local citizens.

The City Council is made up of five persons, all elected by the citizens of Coon Rapids. There are three Wards within the City. Each Ward elects one Councilmember to represent that Ward. In addition, each eligible voting citizens of Coon Rapids has the opportunity to vote for a Councilmember at large and a Mayor. The Councilmember at large and the Mayor are elected for two-year terms, each elected in a different year so that the citizens have the opportunity to vote for at least one Councilmember each year. The Council representatives elected from each ward are elected for a three-year term. The elective process of the Council is such that two Councilmembers are elected each year—one of the ward Councilmembers and either the Councilmember at large or the Mayor.

The Councilmembers are the representatives of the citizens. They are to look out for individual needs of the citizens as well as the welfare of the City as a whole. Although a Councilmember has many important functions, some of the most important are:

- Approval of Warrants — No order may be issued for disbursement of municipal funds until the claim has been approved by the Mayor and the City Manager. The residents reside in the area south of Woolen Park, taking in all of the N59 and extended east along Coon Rapids Boulevard, containing 2,150 acres and 523 residents.

At a meeting on October 6, 1952, the Anoka Township Board gave its unqualified support to the effort to incorporate the Village of Coon Rapids. A committee to arrange a mass informational meeting for all township residents prior to the election consisted of the following persons: Board members Robert G. Hager, Joe Nelson; Roy T. Hudson; Paul Talbot; and Guy Robinson, Township Building Inspector. James Whitehall was Secretary of the Zoning Commission.

The Chamber of Commerce carried the issue to the doors of the residents in a house-to-house campaign.

At the polls on October 17, 1952, residents approved the establishment of Coon Rapids Village by a vote of 835 to 209-0-0. The voting turnout was the largest in the history of the area.

FACTS

Here They Are!

IF YOU HAVE BEEN ASKED to vote against the Coon Rapids Village, ponder the request carefully. Here are factual, recorded answers to the statements they use:

1. —Taxes cannot be raised in a village without a SPECIAL VOTE by yourselves. The county maintains less roads in Anoka Township than any township in the county.
2. —You have voted your town board members into office. You thereby trust their judgment. Your town board ENDORSES this village 100%.
3. —If you want more public services, whether under Village or Township government, you will pay more taxes. TAXES WILL NOT BE RAISED unless you want more public service.
4. —Federal Cardridge IS NOT yet part of the City of Anoka. However, we will definitely lose Federal Cardridge Co. and more than 20% of tax income unless we become a village. Defeat the village and YOU will raise your taxes by losing Federal Cardridge.
5. —Nothing the OPPOSITION CIRCULAR is clear, much is misleading. YOU AS VOTERS must consider the issues, the sources and true purposes of the people behind these issues. Ask yourselves—WHO PUTS OUT THE OPPOSITION SHEET? Why wasn’t it signed or printed? Do not forget that a township area can lose valuable tax property by annexation to other cities and by the township being broken up by small villages founded by people who do not have the interests of all the PEOPLE in the township or the future of your family. WE MUST BECOME A VILLAGE!

CITY MANAGER

The chief administrator of the City is the City Manager. The City Manager is appointed by the Council and serves at its discretion. He/she attends all Council meetings and serves as advisor for and makes recommendations to the Council. Under the direction of the City Manager, through a professional staff, the daily running of the City is put into effect. The duties of the City Manager include: Enforcement of the Charter and the laws, ordinances, and resolutions of the City; the appointment and removal upon the basis of merit and fitness and subject to applicable civil service provisions, if any, the City Clerk, all heads of departments, and all subordinate officers and employees in departments, exercising control over all departments and divisions of the City administration; keeps the Council fully advised as to the financial condition and needs of the City, and is responsible for the preparation and submittal to the Council of the annual budget; the preparation and submittal to the Council for adoption of an administrative code incorporating the details of administrative procedure.

ADVISORY COMMISSIONS

Because of the increasing number of issues and the growing need for citizen leadership in community affairs, the City Council appoints many public spirited citizens to serve on various advisory boards and commissions. Nothing is so vital to the progress of the City as the interest and activity of its citizens in community projects and City government.

Examples of citizen participation over a period of 25 years include: Land Use, Elections, Police, Recreation, Community streets, Annexation, Special service districts, some ad hoc Budget Evaluation Commission.

CABLE COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION

This Commission originated by the passage of Resolution No. 73-23 which created a citizens advisory committee for cable television. The Commission retained this status until October 27, 1972, when the position of communications COO was formed. The current Commission is comprised of five members.

The functions of this Commission shall be to act as an advisory board to the City Council on matters relating to cable communications, to monitor cable communications franchise negotiations and, in such other duties as the City Council may refer to the Commission. At Hoefsted is the current staff liaison for the Commission.

Members who have served at one time or another on the original advisory committee for cable television from its creation on 7/13 until October 1972 were: Creston Gacke, Marilyn McCrady, Dennis Betsmen, Linda Thelkenson, John Nash, Chris Zeeco, Beverly Flaherty, Richard Schaller, Reginald Hemmes, Ronald Kolessar, Tim Michaes, Hank Wander, James Francois, and Michael Auger.

Members who are serving on the current Cable Communications Commission are: Reginald Hemmes; Ronald Kolessar; Tim Michaes; Richard Schaller; Hank Wander; James Francois; and Hank Wander.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENT COMMITTEE

This Committee was established by Ordinance No. 230 on October 3, 1967, and is comprised of one member from the City Council, one from the Planning Commission, one from the Parks and Recreation Commission, the City Manager, the Finance Director, the Director of Public Works, the Director of Planning, and three at-large appointees from the general community.

The functions of this Committee are: (a) To develop and periodically review procedures for the handling of capital improvements, whether petitioned for or not. (b) To develop and maintain a five-year capital improvement program anticipating in broad scope the needs of the community, the priorities of improvements, and the ability of the community to bond for these improvements. In the preparation of the capital improvement program the Committee will estimate the ability of the City to bond including annual debt service, and take into consideration the bond rating, and compute (with ratios) the immediate maintenance cost for the period covered by the capital improvement program. (c) Upon Council request, review within the allotted time, petitions for capital improvements and the relation of these petitioned improvements to the predetermined priority scheduling, and recommend a course of action to the City Council.

Members of the Capital Improvement Committee: 1967—Thomas Nutting, Norman Werner, Eugene Lindholm, John Cottingham, Donald Olson; 1968—Donald Olson, Norman Werner, Eugene Lindholm, John Cottingham, Donald Olson, Robert Voth; 1968—Donald Olson, Robert Voth, John Cottingham, William DataLoader, Harry Smith, Donald Olson, Howard Harmon, Thomas Nutting, Norman Werner, Eugene Lindholm, John Voss, Ordinance No. 1968-285 (provides for three at-large members). Donald Olson, William Otten, Robert Voth, Richard Jakobsen, Howard Harmon, Donald Olson, David Zapf, 1969—Thomas Nutting, Robert Voth, Richard Jakobsen, Howard Harmon, Donald Olson, Robert Voth, John Cottingham, Donald Olson, William Otten; 1970—John Cottingham, Donald Olson, William Otten; 1972—John Cottingham, Donald Olson, William Otten, Donald Olson, Ronn Voth, Orren Frickle, Donald Stein, Howard Harmon, Donald Olson, and Richard Moore. 1972—1973—John Cottingham, Donald Olson, William Otten, Donald Olson, William Otten, Donald Olson, Howard Harmon, Donald Olson, and Richard Moore. 1974—John Cottingham, Donald Olson, William Otten, Donald Olson, and Robert Voth. 1975—John Cottingham, Donald Olson, William Otten, Donald Olson, and Robert Voth.
This Commission was established by Ordinance No. 394 on June 3, 1952, and is composed of 7 members, 5 of whom are representatives appointed by the Anoka-Hennepin Independent School District No. 11 and the Anoka County Board. The other 2 members are appointed by the Board of Commissioners of the City of Anoka.

The functions of the Economic Development Commission are:
1. To cooperate with the County in the development of the City with the Planning Commission to assure the highest possible land use for the community;
2. To promote and give priority to the development of the City in the interest of the people of the City;
3. To serve and assist in the development of the City by providing advice and counsel.

In 1950 the Township Board authorized a zoning program, and at a Special Election in November 1950, the voters of Anoka Township voted 216 to 141 to authorize the change.

Village 1952-1959

In order to better understand the transition period when Anoka Township became the Village of Coon Rapids, one must be aware of prior political activities which helped to shape the “personality” of the City as it is today. There is never a fine line of demarcation in the process of political evolution, as today’s actions are predicated upon previous events as well as those of the future. The past is truly prologue.

The idea of proposing to incorporate was not a new one to residents of the Township. As early as June 1948, a petition was presented to the Anoka County Board of Commissioners proposing that Anoka Township be incorporated as the Village of Coon Rapids. The petition was validated and an election on the question was scheduled for July 21 when the voters of Anoka Township voted 216 to 141 against the change.

A growing population, home building, establishment of new businesses, and an increasing demand for services convinced Township officials and other local leaders of the need for additional governmental authority than that provided by the township form of government.

In 1950 the Township Board authorized a zoning program, and at a Special Election in November 1950, the voters of Anoka Township voted 216 to 141 to authorize the change. This was the second attempt to obtain authority to regulate land use and building in the fast growing community of Anoka. The first attempt, in 1943, was defeated, but a popular surge in favor of zoning had taken place.

Five zoning districts were organized and elections were set for naming two members from each district to the Zoning Committee. The results: District I: Theodore Buzelli and Louis Voinc; District II: Jack McKamy and James Whitehead; District III: Erich Hohmann and Leland Sorensberg; District IV: Joe Nelson and Frank Miller. District V: Glenn Haven and Arch Peake.

The Zoning Committee met May 1, 1950, naming Glenn Haven Chairman and Leland Sorensberg Secretary. At the second meeting, a final draft of the building code and zoning regulations was completed. In June 1950 the Township Board appointed Guy Robinson as the first building inspector of the Town of Anoka. From that time all building in the Township was under supervision.

Interest in local government was negligible, as illustrated when only 57 voters went to the polls in the March 1951 Town election. (The 1950 Federal Census showed population of 2,563 residents.)

In May 1951 the Township Board authorized the Zoning and Planning Commission members to act in an advisory capacity as Township Councilmen. Suggestions for improvement of conditions in each zone, under this plan, would be submitted to the Township Council for consideration before final action.

Prior to March 1952 certain areas had a considerable concentration of population, including Woodland Park, Creek, Joyce Chapel, and along Highway No. 1 and Crooked Lake Boulevard. One hundred eighty-nine homes were constructed that summer by Burseth Investment Company of Minneapolis, the addition called “Anoka Gardens,” in the area bounded by Highway No. 242 and Coon Rapids Boulevard. The building boom had started.

A formal petition signed by the president of the Federal Cartridge Corporation was presented on May 26, 1952, to the Anoka City Commission. The petition asked that a plot containing 90.65 acres and the Federal Cartridge Corporation (Exposed 0, Dianne Johnson, Melvin Schueler) 7/5/33, Richard Borden, Vernon Kuenen, Eugene Merriam, and Cynthia Kiltinis, 1976–1958, David McCauley, Donald Olson, and Donald Stein. In 1952, the population reached 3,561. Lorraine Fujii, the first female mayor, was elected in 1955.

1952-1959

"The governments of cities and villages daily touch the lives of the great majority of our people. It is not easy to exaggerate the importance to the people of good city and village government. If a city or village has high standards of integrity and efficiency, the young people who grow up in it will unconsciously learn those standards and transmit them to other communities, to the state, and to the nation."
HUMAN RIGHTS COMMISSION

This Commission was established by Ordinance No. 252 on July 16, 1968. It is comprised of nine members, at least one of whom shall be a high school student and at least one of whom shall be 55 years of age or older.

The purpose of this Commission is to secure for all citizens equal opportunity in employment, housing, public accommodations, public services, public education, and full participation in the affairs of this community by assisting the State Department of Human Rights in implementing the Minnesota State Act against discrimination and by advising the City Council on long-range programs to improve community relations in the City of Coon Rapids. TOWNSHIP

September 3, 1908. "At Hiltown, who is employed on the farm of his brother-in-law, Irving Smith at Coon Creek, is laid up with several broken ribs, fractured arm, and is in critical condition as a result of the collapsing of the wooden bridge over Coon Creek near the brickyards. Hiltown had driven onto the bridge when the entire 40-foot span collapsed at once. Driver, load and horses were tumbled into the creek bottom, 15 feet below." September 10, 1908. "County Commissioners, in special session, voted to install a steel structure here." [County Road No. 1] THE ANOKA COUNTY UNION, July 25, 1876, Section 5, Col. 16.

TOWNSHIP
1878-1892
Prior to 1878 business relating to Anoka Township was transferred to the townships of 1876. In 1878, Anoka gained City status and was removed from Township jurisdiction, the focus of Anoka Township government shifted to the small settlement of Anoka. The elected Town Board of Supervisors met in homes, but when a large attendance was expected, they convened in the schoolhouse.

While the official minutes of the Town Board are missing from 1878 to 1952, one must assume the Board acted favorably upon resolutions and motions which resulted in those developments which would enhance the quality of life for residents of the Township, i.e., railroad, schools, dam, road improvements, etc.

There are possibly few issues which politically polarized the voting community and consequently no urge to replace members of the Board, who were performing in an acceptable manner, but for the election of March 1910 and the considerable interest taken in the Anoka COUNTY UNION of March 10, 1910, carried this story: "In only one town was the liquor question an issue and that was in the town of Anoka. The people have been made against the saloon by the organization of an anti-saloon league, public meetings, outside speakers, etc. The vote was a disappointment to the NO-LICENSE side as the vote stood 200 to 125 in favor of the PRO." The saloon at Coon Creek will remain. This little fight hardly rose a ripple of any kind outside the township in this county, but outside of this town was watched keenly." 1878: "T.W. Lang was elected Justice. 1913: Charles M. Barney, Supervisor. Ned (Martin) Dunn, Clerk; J.F. Wesp, Treasurer; and Land, Constable. 1915: Two Justices were elected; J. Davis and H. Wanamaker; E.F. Perkins and William Tiggle, Constables. Votes for Liquor License--22, Votes Against Liquor License--56. (Mansfield approved an amendment to this Ordinance, $200,00, and for the Bridge Fund received $1,000. 1916: Funds approved for: Roads and Bridges, $1,000; Town Fund, $200. 1919: The Road and Bridge budget received $1,500; the 1919-1920 budget presented was for $3,000. 1925: C.F. Hays, Supervisor. B.F. Reddell, Supervisor. 1929: Pattern, Treasurer, 15 votes in opposition; G.A. Burrell, Treasurer, 46 votes no opposition; C.H. Parlin, Assessor, 46 votes no opposition; B.F. Reddell, Supervisor, 31 votes in opposition; B.F. Reddell, Supervisor, 46 votes no opposition. 1880: Apparently the chairman and supervisors did not run this year. Those elected were: C.W. Bryant, Clerk; A.J. Caswell, Treasurer; Michael Tiggle, Assessor; Thomas Foley, Road Overseer; and John Dunn, Justice. 1882: Jared Bensen, Chairman (opposition); Dr. Gustav Borge, Supervisor. 35 votes to oppose; William Dunn, Treasurer; Michael Tiggle, Assessor; and Charles Young and Charles Underwood, Constables. 1883: One person received all the votes; tied; E. McDowell, Supervisor. 1885: Jared Bensen, Chairman; Patrick Manley, Supervisor with a total vote of 118; J.H. McCauley, Supervisor; James Tiggle, Supervisor; James Fowler, Clerk; William Tiggle, Constables; and John Coleman, Assessor. 1889: The Chairman elected this year is unknown, however, the following were placed in office: Zachary Taylor Hanson (after whom Hanson Boulevard was named) and L.E. Purdy, Supervisors; George R. Campbell, Assessor; and Thomas Dunn, Constable. 1894: A.E. Giddins, Chairman; George R. Campbell, Supervisor this year; B.F. Reddell, Clerk; T.A. Preston, Treasurer; and C.H. Fitich, Assessor. 1896: Zachary Taylor Hanson, Chairman; Nels Bergeron and James Tiggle, Supervisors; James Fowler, Constables; 1900: James Lemon, Supervisor (replaced James Tiggle); Groitus Giddings, Treasurer; and George Foley, Assessor. 1907: The Town Board was composed of four Town Board members, but P.D. Tigue was elected Assessor; Tony Tronson, Frank Bergeron, James Tigge and Irving Smith, Road Overseers; with C. Tronson elected Constable. 1908: Andrew Monito.

TAX LEVY LIMITATIONS COMMISSION/BUDGET EVALUATION COMMISSION (AD HOC)
The Coon Rapids City Council has, when necessary, created ad hoc commissions to make in-depth studies of various subjects which may require clarification or where additional study is required. One such study is for the Community Safety Council. Bill Thompson has served as staff liaison for the Safety Commission since 1974. There was no designated liaison officer before that time.

Members of this Commission: 1969–"Pat" Cleath, Chair; Florian E. Gutzmer; Newell Chester; Stanley Rhyn; Wilfred Gutzmer; Wayne Johnson, Jr.; Nona Kalsich; Ralph Kays; Dick Sandell; Dean Stensrud and Harvey Mattson. 1973–1974–Florian E. Gutzmer, Chair; Thomas Zwick; Peter Beberg; Sam Gruenhagen; Jerome Jackson; Raymond John; John Dunn; Donald Wiersma; Virginia Murphy; and Loren Cybsey. 1975–Florian E. Gutzmer, Chair; Thomas Zwick; Peter Beberg; Jerome Jackson; Raymond John; John Dunn; Donald Wiersma; Virginia Murphy; and Loren Cybsey. 1976–Peter Beberg, Chair; Jerome Jacobson; Ray J. Johnson; Donald Wiersma; Donald Gruenhagen; Ralph Gruenhagen; Duane Weimer; Larry Loken; and Roger Grondahl. 1977–Peter Beberg, Chair; Jerome Jacobson; Ray J. Johnson; Donald Wiersma; Donald Gruenhagen; Ralph Gruenhagen; Duane Weimer; Larry Loken; and Roger Grondahl. 1978–Peter Beberg, Chair; Jerome Jacobson; Ray J. Johnson; Donald Wiersma; Donald Gruenhagen; Ralph Gruenhagen; Duane Weimer; Larry Loken; and Roger Grondahl. 1979–Peter Beberg, Chair; Jerome Jacobson; Ray J. Johnson; Donald Wiersma; Donald Gruenhagen; Ralph Gruenhagen; Duane Weimer; Larry Loken; and Roger Grondahl. 1980–Peter Beberg, Chair; Ray J. Johnson; Donald Wiersma; Donald Gruenhagen; Ralph Gruenhagen; Duane Weimer; Larry Loken; and Roger Grondahl.

Each of the Steering Committee members were assigned to the various departments and were responsible for going out. Approximately 60 persons responded, and took their appointed places on the subcommittees. The seven individual projects were then formed, with an objective to evaluate the various departments involved in the budgeting process. As an example, the Public Safety Subcommittee reviewed the operation of the Police Department, Fire Department, and the Public Safety Department. When they examined the activities of each department and its manager, how each activity was maintained, what resources were allocated, how efficiently used, as well as the projected resources necessary for the future.

All study committees had ready access to City staff, Council established boards and commissions, who assisted in answering questions, documenting, and the preparation of reports. The work was approximately an investigation, deliberation, and preparation of recommendations to the City Council. This does not reflect the many hours the City staff gave to the project.

The result of this effort was the ability to advise the City Council in the areas where money might be saved in City operations as well as a recommendation that some service levels be increased. The study also revealed means by which revenues could be increased to such a degree that the current level of service would be maintained without an increase in the tax levy.

In 1981, the Steering Committee was reactivated to review the City's activities, what services and programs were... wanted, what additional services were needed, and what could be afforded. At this time, the name of the Committee was changed to "Budget Evaluation Commission," as the objective was no longer related to the tax levy question.

Each year the Steering Committee meets with the City officials to review annual budget proposals and compare them with Commission goals.

The entire Commission was again recalled in March 1984 to consider: each activity level of service and determine whether or not it showed signs of diminishing revenue sources, identify alternative means of providing services, examine staffing levels, and finally to prepare a report looking at short-term needs and projected needs over a five-year period.

This is a very time-consuming project; however, it is a very valuable service to citizens to be informed of what happens in government. It gives them a chance to speak directly to elected representatives who have hands-on knowledge of local government in action.

It is not known as a certainty, but it appears that few, if any, have a Budget Evaluation Commission with the involvement of its citizens as does Coon Rapids. Budget hearings are commonplace in most cities but by the time the hearings occur the budget is in place and difficult to change.

As Mayor Bob Lewis said, "I don't think we (the council) feel we are totally bound by it (the Commission's report), but you better have a very good reason to deviate from it."

and the current is not only swift, but there are rapids known as the Coon Creek Rapids. Negotiations with John Dunn were successful and 169 acres were sold for the dam site. The million dollar plant was to be built on the Anoka side of the river, but Hennepin County was designated to receive the energy. The project was delayed for three years until December 1912 all was resolved and 50 men were hired to begin the project. Three months later a village had developed around the dam site including bunkhouses, mess halls, quarters for officials, a school, a hospital, and even its own sewer system. All the amenities of city life were present including fires, weddings, births, deaths, crime, social events, as well as a 30 branch private telephone exchange.

One thousand men were now at work on a round-the-clock schedule, 75 percent of whom were from Anoka County. Land, water power, flowage rights, and a federal permit were acquired by Northern States Power on March 15, 1913. Ten days later it was sold to the Northern Mississippi River Power Company, a subsidiary of NSP which carried out the hydro development. Stewart W. Laird was in charge of the construction. Upon completion of the dam he became superintendent of the plant, a position held for over 25 years.

Work on the dam was nearly completed by December 1913, and only a few men were retained through the winter. The numerous camps, stores, offices, sheds, etc. were sold to W.H. Webb of Anoka. The "city" by the river was gone and the engineers, laborers, carpenters, and machinists departed.

When completed, the dam contained 42,000 cubic feet of concrete and 800 carloads of crushed rock. The water level behind the dam was raised 15 feet. A force of about 200 men were needed to operate the facility upon completion.

In 1914 wires were strung and the plant was ready to furnish electricity.

The Northern States Power Company purchased all capital stock, assets, liabilities, and property in April of 1916. Electrical demands, due to the rapidly developing area of service grew so large that by 1966, operation of the plant was no longer feasible. On the last day in December the formally operating Coon Creek Rapids Hydro Generating Station, and generating and transmission equipment was removed from the powerhouse.

Ownership of the land and dam was transferred to the Hennepin County Park Reserve District in 1969 to be developed for public park purposes. The Coon Rapids Dam Regional Park now offers recreational and educational opportunities for the people of the metropolitan area. Visitors may choose from the many activities such as hiking, boating, fishing, snowshoeing, cross-country skiing, and picnicking. Skating and snowshoeing are also popular winter activities.

In 1979 a walkway was built across the pier points of the dam to the west side. This is a popular spot for "river watchers" both winter and summer.

In 1978 a visitor center was opened which houses offices, a permanent display of old dam related memorabilia, many visual displays, as well as live animals for the enjoyment and information of the public.

WHITE CITY

The period of rapid development in Anoka Township resulted in the demise of farmsteads which had served residents from the time of settlement. In the 1950 to 1960 period, second generation residents of this once agrarian community were reaching the age of retirement and the opportunity for security in "their" years by selling their remaining acres to developers was timely. As a result, a very limited number of complete farm settings remained. One of these was the area called "White City" by older residents. On Hanson Boulevard just south of Highway 242 was the site known today as "the Whipple Farm" or "White City."

The original owner of this property was James A. Lannon, who received a patent from the United States on April 3, 1857. The acreage passed into various ownership until 1929, when it was purchased by Dr. Clarence D. Whipple and his wife Frances of Champign. All of the buildings and the house were painted white which resulted in the local people calling the area "White City." The ten buildings covered a wide area and from a distance might appear as a settlement, especially after dark when lanterns lighted windows in various buildings where evening chores were taking place.

In January 1941, the farm was purchased by the Zawisowski family who lived in the farmhouse until a new home was built on the land.

The farmlands are now platted and will be developed by John Washburn as Cardinal Heights Plat 9. The original buildings were demolished in the spring of 1984.

ROAD TAX

Monday, June 3, 1878, "Ellis is at work on the Road for me today. My road tax is about $17.50 including Poll tax, but I will have more on a dollar this year." Albert G. Caswell Diary, from the Arthur D. Caswell and Family Papers (Minnesota Historical Society).

COON RAPIDS DAM

This photo was taken during the construction of the Dam in 1913. A small concrete dam was being built by the city at this time. The dam was constructed to bring the water level of the Mississippi River below Coon Rapids. The dam was built to control the flow of water and prevent flooding.

DAM

While Anoka Township was well recognized in the County, it had minimal identification in the out-state area. With the coming of the railroad in the 1860's and the subsequent naming of "the Coon Creek Cut off" at Coon Creek, the area gradually came to be called by its most widely known feature. With the proposal to build a dam at the foot of Coon Creek in 1898, the name became more widely used.

The ANOKA HERALD of February 4, 1898, illustrates the first local mention of the dam. "A bill to give the Twin Cities Transit Company permission to dam the Mississippi River below Coon Rapids passed the House... so the big scheme is now not only possible but probable".

The ultimate question as to the location of the dam became a question as the Company preferred placing it in Fridley near Rice Creek. Landowners above the proposed site, however, were putting their influence to have it built near Anoka.

"Mr. Dunn at Coon Creek practically holds the key to the situation, as his farm would be damaged more than any other piece of property along the river. If the dam were built below his farm he would lose all his rich bottom lands, some of the finest farming lands in the county, and his valuable clay beds would be seriously damaged."

Coon Rapids

Very little activity took place until 1909, but the project was still "very much alive". In October the following newspaper article appeared: "For the past two years there has been talk of a dam which certain mysterious persons were to construct at Coon Creek Rapids. The matter has been kept very quiet... a comparison of deeds filed in Anoka and Hennepin Counties reveal that all land on both sides of the Mississippi River between Anoka and Coon Creek Junction has been purchased by the Great Northern Development Company of Duluth... only recently did it acquire the last parcels necessary to its plans. The point at which the powerhouse is to be erected is at one of the narrowest parts of the river..."
Engineer is Tom Mathisen. Engineering Aides are Ron Sample, Chap Conger, Tim Hallberg, Gary Beckenstein, David Full, Jim George, Mike Manners, and Mike Sheehan. Chris Monetti and Cheryl Ridout are Department Secretaries. The Chief Building Official is responsible for the enforcement of the building, plumbing, and housing codes as they apply to the City of Coon Rapids both by personal inspection and direction of the staff.

The Building Inspection Department is headed by Chief Inspector Jack Dorholt. Ben Amborn is the Building/ Mechanical Inspector and Tom Flynn is a Building Inspector. Sandi Michaels is the Secretary of this Department. Joe Prause was formerly Chief Building Inspector and retired in 1980.

FINANCE DEPARTMENT

The City's Finance Director is responsible for administering, supervising, and directing the financial activities of the City. Divisions of the Finance Department which are directed by the Finance Director including Assessing, Accounting, Liquor operations, Ice Arena operations, Golf Course, Utility Billing, and Treasury Management.

The Director is accountable for preparation of the annual financial report, assistance in preparing the annual budget, and ensuring compliance with state and federal accounting regulations in the handling of the City's money. The Finance Director is designated as the chief administrative officer in the event of the absence of both the City Manager and the City Attorney. Under the Finance Director's supervision is Management/Budget Analyst Kay Schmidlach.

There have been only two Finance Directors since the office was created in July 1959. Lyle Haney succeeded Norman Werner in that position in 1969.

One of the functions of the Finance Director is supervising the Accounting Division. This Division, under the direction of the City Assessor, maintains the Assessing and Utility Billing operations of the City. The City Assessor coordinates and supervises the financial and clerical employees involved in the appraisal and assessment of all real property in the City. The preparation of special assessment rolls, coordination of utility billing, and the control of the real property records, are functions of this office. The City Assessor also serves as staff liaison to the Historical Commission.

The present City Assessor, Gaylord Aldinger, has served in that position since February 1969. Lyle Haney was City Assessor (1967-1968), having taken over the position from Fern Bergeron who had been Assessor since the Village days. Members of the Assessor's staff are Dennis Monique, Doug Holt, Judy Dold, Edem Knowlton, Adrienne Hedman, and Anita Schramm. Sharon Marquart does the utility billing and Maxine Bates the accounting. Mary Ness serves as part time bookkeeper.

The Accounting Division, also a function of the Finance Department, is composed of three sections - Accounting, Treasury, and Payroll. This Division is presently headed by Ruth Franklin, Director of Accounting/City Treasurer. The Payroll section is under the direction of Shirley Herness. The Accounting and Treasury functions are under the direction of Ruth Franklin, with the assistance of Assistant Treasurer Kevin Youk and Accounting Clerk Selma Erlanson. Walter Shepard was City Treasurer from 1967 to 1961. The City's liquor and recreation enterprises (see City Enterprise section) are also under the direction of the Finance office. Richard Johnson directs the liquor operation. His assistant is Mary Ness. Store employees are Lillian Kroll, Gerd Rapp, and Diane Fetting. Steve Krogstad is in charge of the Ice Arena. Dick Tollette manages the Golf Course and Jim Nicol is the Groundskeeper.

FIRE DEPARTMENT

The science of fighting fires dates to early Roman times. Hand operated pumps, first used in China in the second century B.C. served as the chief means of fighting fires in Europe for many centuries. A crude leather hose was devised in Holland during the late 1600's, and the first fire engine, with treadle-operated pumps, went into service in England about 1725. Steam-operated pumps pulled by horses became popular in Europe around 1850.

In colonial America, the first fire protection was provided by bucket brigades, made up of lines of men passing buckets of water by hand. The earliest paid fire department was established in Boston in 1660. The first volunteer fire department was organized in Philadelphia by Benjamin Franklin about 1735. Thirty years later in George Washington imported the first fire engine from England, and presented it to the volunteer fire company of Alexandria, Virginia, of which he was a member.

Although the process of firefighting has changed as modern technology developed, one ingredient remains much the same—the hardy civilians who serve in either volunteer or paid positions.

The City of Coon Rapids has a fire department that serves the needs of the community. The department is composed of dedicated firefighters who are trained to handle any emergency that may arise.

Anoka Township, through Council authorization, had a mutual aid agreement with the North Suburban Mutual Aid Association as early as 1948. The intention of this agreement was to augment the quality of fire service to the township.

Ordinance No. 9, passed by the Village Council in December, Utility Billing, orders the implementation of a computerized billing system and establishes the rates for such services.

The City of Coon Rapids has a strong fire department that serves the needs of the community. The department is composed of dedicated firefighters who are trained to handle any emergency that may arise.

The City of Coon Rapids and the entire northwest have enjoyed the benefits of having such a "good neighbor" for 60 years. The distinct and pride felt by the members of this community in having shared in the history of City of Coon Rapids, this fire communications facility is a reflection of the spirit which has resulted in a healthy growth of the City of Coon Rapids.

WCCO RADIO

The Coon Rapids skyline was distinguished by four WCCO transmitting towers in the mid-1930's. The first two towers were constructed in 1931, standing 200 feet in height. The two 300-foot towers were added in the mid-30's.

The Anoka County Union, one of the pioneer newspapers in Minnesota, was founded by George Gray of Monticello, saw its first light of day Aug. 31, 1865, and has been published regularly since that time.

Two other newspapers, including the Coon Rapids Herald, started publication later and the three papers fall under the banner of ABC Newspapers and form-part of Anoka County Union and Shopper Inc. The Anoka Herald was purchased April 1, 1959 and became the Coon Rapids Herald soon afterward.

Granville S. Pease, master printer, came to the Union April 2, 1866 and purchased the business in June 1866, continuing as editor, publisher-owner until retirement in 1916. Granville “Dad” Pease was an interesting, prolific and witty writer, who kept improving the paper. When he died it became a power in early newspaper circles in Minnesota.

T.G.J. Pease, Granville’s son, assumed the role of publisher and editor in 1916, managing the newspaper and large commercial printing plant, and, in 1934, started the Anoka County Shopper. In 1948 “T.G.,” as he was known, stepped down and his son, Arch G. Pease, purchased the business, remaining active up to the present. Thomas B. Pease became president of the firm in April 1971, succeeding his father, Arch Pease.
As the area population changed from farms to residential development, a new and larger church became necessary. The cornerstone ceremonial ceremony at the site of the projected church on Hanson Boulevard near Highway 10 took place on June 4, 1953. The cornerstone-stone of the new church was laid in November 1953, at which time Epiphany Education Foundation will have 840 day students in Kindergarten through 9th grade.

Information about Epiphany Parish was provided by Father Bernard Reiser, Pastor of the Church.

ELECTRICITY

In this era of microwave ovens, personal computers, dinner switches, and cordless telephones, it is difficult to imagine an everyday existence without electricity. However, many will remember with great nostalgia such things as the warm glow of gas lights, the hum of the electric fan replacing the “good old days” when the family played games in the light of an Aladdin lamp.

The Rural Electrification Administration was created by the federal government in 1935 for the purpose of assisting rural areas to extend utility services through a loan program which carried a two percent interest.

On January 3, 1936, a meeting was held for all farmers in Anoka County to determine the amount of interest in setting up an organization in association with the REA program. This meeting was held at the Coon Rapids schoolhouse (L.O. Jacobs and Don Jones). The official Village Council minutes of October 1, 1935, reveal that the Fire Chief’s annual salary was $300.00. Volunteers first received pay for firefighting in 1970. Prior to that time the department was reimbursed the men for gasoline used in responding to fires.

In November 1954 the voters approved construction of the first fire station in the Village, to be built on Highway 10, across from the Coon Rapids Shopping Center. The station was completed in 1955.

Volunteer pay in 1958, was placed on a point basis to be paid for time the men were on call out. The pay scale was determined by the amount of money budgeted to the "out" account. A firefighter was credited with one point for each fire he attended. At the end of the year, the amount of points accumulated by the entire department was divided into the amount of the salary of an average firefighter and the amount of each fire call was worth. The amount of the individual fire calls was then multiplied by the number of fire runs with which an individual was credited.

In 1959 volunteers were assigned night watches at the fire station to assist in fire and ambulance calls. At that time the rate was raised to $15.00 per night, while on duty.

A special election was scheduled for April 12, 1960, to vote on a bond for construction and equipment of a fire station to exceed $51,215.00 (Fire Station No. 2). The result was a vote of 576—YES to 225—NO. (City Clerks File, Citation: "Electoral results for Fire Station No. 2 election, April 12, 1960" [unpublished]). See Police and Fire Civil Service Commission for further data.

On March 28, 1964, the Council moved to accept and award the bid on a new fire rescue truck to Art Goebel Ford in the amount of $4,166.00. The next large equipment purchase was approved by the Council on February 16, 1965, when the City Council purchased a brand new Rosenbauer Safety Equipment truck for an International Harvester fire truck and pumping apparatus for $24,430.00 (Official Council Minutes, February 16, 1965). (Repayment of a portion of city funds on a vehicle previously purchased on full-time duty. By January 1969, the full-time staff included 12 full-time men with 32 "call men", and in 1971 the fire department was run on a 24-hour basis.

In 1972, volunteer pay was raised to $5.50 per fire call for the first hour, and $2.25 per one-half hour additional. The men were also credited with $5.00 for a training session. These monies were payable at the end of each calendar year.

Fire Station No. 1 was closed in July 1975. Fire Stations Nos. 2 and 3 still in use. No. 1 on 401 - 116th Avenue was built in 1960, at a cost of $51,215.00. Fire Station No. 3 at 2831 - 113th Avenue was first occupied in September 1970. (Official Council Minutes, July 17, 1974).

The Coon Rapids Fire Department, in its 30 years of existence, has been served by many dedicated individuals. While it may be impossible to name each person who has served, an attempt is made to enumerate the exceptional firefighters shown in the 1983 Annual Report of the Coon Rapids Fire Department. They are: Harold Bartholow (1953-1974); Norman Beckwall (1953-1974); Russell Bednar (1953-1974); Ralph Nelson (1953-1974); Horace F. Hutchinson (1953-1975); Owen Hyland (1953-1978); William Leach (1966-1982); Richard Keyser (1966-1970); Donald Lester (1973-1974); Donald Park (1973-1974); Ralph Paul (1973-1974); Butler Peterson (1962-1981); Doug Peterson (1956-1970); John Ponting (1959-1978); Joseph Reimer (1953-1974); Doug Rogers (1953-1974); Arnold Strand (1953-1974); James Whitehead (1953-1974), and Kenneth Ystebø (1953-1974).

There have been two Coon Rapids Fire Chiefs in the 32 years of the Department’s existence which illustrates their competence and dedication to the community. The first, Harold Bartholow, served from 1953 to 1974 as the department responded to population growth and consequent need for solid planning of the Fire Department. The present Fire Chief, William F. Thome, has been in place since March 1974. Through 1983, the Department’s equipment has been upgraded and a necessary increase in personnel has taken place.

The full-time firemen are assisted by 20 public spirited volunteers who serve on "call" as necessary. They are: Jerald Botko, Douglas Boeoth; Lewis Brostrom, Michael...
The Old Age Assistance Program was passed August 14, 1935, and its impact was felt by county poor houses since it provided grants on a monthly basis to needy individuals 65 years and older if they did not live in public institutions. The average monthly grant was $18.40.

Almost as soon as the old age assistance became available, many residents moved away from the poor farm in order to qualify for a grant or “pension.” Where the numbers of in-mates was small, the farming operation unprofitable, or the buildings in need of extensive repairs or replacement, the County Board simply closed the facility and disposed of the property. Anoka County closed the Poor Farm in 1936.

Those who died while residents were buried in unmarked graves at Joyce Chapel Cemetery, or Oakwood Cemetery in Anoka, in the areas called “Potters Field”.

JOYCE CHAPEL

On the corner of Hanson Boulevard and 115th Street stands a modest frame building which was built in 1902. It was the first church building in Anoka Township.

Many early residents of what is now the city of Anoka were Irish Catholics who attended services at St. Stevens in the town of Anoka. Protestant worshipers also traveled to Anoka or to Chamin to attend the various churches there.

In 1900 James Carter, an Anoka blacksmith and member of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Anoka, desired to establish a church for the Protestant farmers east of the City. The Carters taught Sunday Bible classes in the “Wilmot School” (District No. 50) to farm children after the morning services in Anoka.

Reverend E.C. Clemens, pastor of the Methodist Church in Anoka, held a revival in July of 1901 for this new group, assisted by the Carters, at which 25 persons joined the infant church. These new members were organized into a Bible class with membership in the Anoka church.

In December 1901 the quarterly conference of the Anoka Methodist Church incorporated the new rural congregation under the name of Joyce Chapel, after Bishop Isaac W. Joyce, Methodist Bishop of Minnesota. The Anoka conference elected Reverend Walker Fielder as presiding Elder and James Foot, Secretary. The first trustees were: B. Shattuck, C.W. Ball, C.E. Pendel, John P. Swanson, Gust Borg, and James Carter.6

B. Shattuck donated a one-half acre site for the church building and cemetery. In January 1902 the corner stone of the property was laid by Joseph Holm. The work of building began in earnest directed by Erick Johnson. All labor was donated by the members.

Using a nail keg as a pulpit, James Carter preached the first sermon to members seated on chairs and boxes brought from home. The nail keg was replaced the following Sunday by a “Timber Table” made and presented by the Reed and Sherwood Lumber Company of Anoka. The Chapel, free of debt, was dedicated on July 17, 1902, by Bishop Isaac W. Joyce.

This is the joyce chapel as it appeared in 1912. The building was built in 1902 and is now the Lang real estate office at 115th and Hanson Boulevard. In 1902 the church had no pews but purchased the lot with the intention of using it as a temporary Village Hall.

Dr. Clemens was transferred to the Duluth district in October 1903, and Joyce Chapel was left in the hands of James Carter. Carter conducted the first funeral service in the Church for Eugene William, the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Swanson. This was the first interment in the churchyard adjoining the church.7

Physical ties with the “mother” church in Anoka were severed in November 1909, as Joyce Chapel membership was growing and the congregation was in a stable financial position.

It is interesting to note the pastorates of two women who were “able to stir the congregation to greater activity than ever before”. One of these women was Reverend Mrs. Ina Gates Stout, a Free Baptist minister, appointed to Joyce Chapel in October 1917. During her pastorate a unique event was initiated. The Baptists of the area, having no church of their own, were invited to organize a class and worship with the Methodists. This was an unusual but a good cooperation between the two groups. Each group contributed jointly to their local church, but gave separately to their missions. Mrs. Stout served as Pastor from 1912 to 1916, during which this cooperative effort of Methodists and Baptists brought about a number of improvements in the church. Joyce Chapel doubled its membership and thousand dollars in improvements in the property. Reverend Stout also organized a Ladies Aid Society, a Christian Endeavor Society, and a Farmers Club.

The other woman pastor was the Reverend Edith Grays, an ordained Methodist minister, who became Pastor when her husband, Reverend Crawford Grays, pastor of the Old Anoka Church, became ill and had to curtail his activities. Reverend Edith Grays took over work at Joyce Chapel where she served until 1928. The church and Sunday School flourished under her direction and the church was painted outside as well as wallpapered and painted inside. During her pastorate all outstanding bills were paid in full.

PARKS

In the past, metropolitan areas were developed without benefit of city planning, and the tendency was to build on all available land. The result was vast residential areas without any type of park. Very little or no thought was given to the area’s on the need for “breathing” or open-space. The recreational opportunities offered by parks. Coon Rapids in its progressive, forward-thinking manner has, since its formation, also seen the importance to Coon Rapids in providing park areas for leisure activity. Eports to create local parks for the enjoyment of residents and provision of safe play areas for youth have been a priority for the Department. A key to its success has been the careful and deliberate development of city parks, open areas readily available to the comparatively low volume of population, but as builders acquired and developed larger areas, the City planners recognized the need for off-street recreation areas. The Planning Commission as early as 1954 required a percentage of each development area to be set aside for neighborhood parks. This original percentage of 7 percent has increased to 10 to 18 percent of the total land within each new addition. A park dedication fee may be paid in lieu of actual park property, but this is not completely uniform throughout the city. Park property is also required by the City through tax forfeiture.

Scattered throughout the City are plots of undeveloped parkland which may be sold to pay for park expansion. These areas may be used by people as they would use any other City park and they offer a unique opportunity for those interested in nature study. Many of these sites are suitable for hiking, picnicking, and informal games.

There are 27 developed and seven undeveloped city parks. Developed parks are: Acorn, Aiken, Burt, Oaks, Crooked Lake Beach, Delta, Erlandson Nature Center, Al Flynn (formerly Nolin), Liberty, Kentland, Mason Road, Moor, Nelson, Parks, Parkside, Pepermistick St, Phesants Ridge, Prospect, Riverview, Riverwood, Rockside, Sand Creek Athletic Field, Sand Creek Golf Course, Twin Field, Vineyards, Woodcrest (first City park), and Woodview. Undeveloped park areas are Lundgren Park, Robinson (formerly Egret Park), Sherbok, Woodland Heights, and Emmons Park, a new park located on Technology Drive. Under the care and direction of the Department, parks are maintained to an aesthetic quality.

Park equipment is purchased by bond issue or dedication fees which are set aside for improvement and purchases of existing park sites and purchase of additional property for parks.

In addition to parks, other recreational opportunities provided by the City include: Coon Rapids Bunkers Hills Golf Course (among the best known golf courses in the United States); outdoor swimming at Crooked Lake and Clay Lake Beaches; indoor pools at Riverwind, Northdale and Coon Rapids Super High Schools; and the Coon Rapids Cook Ice Arena. (See information on Coon Rapids Dam Regional Park– Chapter I.)

The current Director of the Human Services Department is Terri Melnychenko. A staff member since January 1975, Melnychenko succeeded Don Wegscheider as department head during 1981. The current Associate Director is Jacky Frentz.

The Counseling Division functions under Rule 29, and is a State-approved mental health center. The Center provides individual and marital family counseling. The residents of Anoka County, under State and Federal requirements, the Counseling staff includes Jacky Frentz, Pat Rygg, Clay Sankey, Pat Peverell, Stan Rosenthal, and Bill Roults, M.D. The Melnychenko is a medicinal clinic providing low-cost health care to Anoka County residents. Pat Rygg is the Center Coordinator and is assisted by Volunteer Coordinator Barbara Schmidt and a group of approximately 40 volunteers.

The Teen Center is coordinated by Jacky Frentz. Lee Johnson is the Director and is assisted by Dan Sadowski. This Division is operated as a recreational drop-in center for Coon Rapids youth.

Another program operated at this facility is the Trailblazer Program. This Program provides work experiences for the 14 and 15 year olds of Coon Rapids. The Program is coordinated by John Havens, assisted by a staff of four. Additionally, the Center was the location of the Music Hall and with that comes the responsibilities of that position.

The Senior Activity Center is an educational, recreational, and nutritional program center for senior citizens. The current Coordinator is Cindy Zink. The Center offers a variety of activities which are available for all ages.

Support staff for the Human Services Department include Receptionist Edith Sheldon, Secretary Carole Mathena, and Typist Laurie Holden.

(See North Suburban Family Service Center for a history of NSFS.)

The Human Services Department is composed of four divisions: Counseling, Clinic, Teen, and Senior Divisions.

The Director of this Department is responsible for administering and directing the activities of the North Suburban Family Service Center (NSFS). Activities in which the Center is engaged include the operation of a Teen Center, counseling programs, the Nucleus Clinic, Trailblazers, and the Senior Citizens Division. The building housing this Department is located at 1323 Coon Rapids Boulevard.

The current Director of the Human Services Department is Terri Melnychenko. A staff member since January 1975, Melnychenko succeeded Don Wegscheider as department head in July 1981. The Associate Director is Jacky Frentz.

The Counseling Division functions under Rule 29, and is a State-approved mental health center. The Center provides individual and marital family counseling. The residents of Anoka County, under State and Federal requirements, the Counseling staff includes Jacky Frentz, Pat Rygg, Clay Sankey, Pat Peverell, Stan Rosenthal, and Bill Roults, M.D.

The Nucleus Clinic is a medical clinic providing low-cost health care to Anoka County residents. Pat Rygg is the Center Coordinator and is assisted by Volunteer Coordinator Barbara Schmidt and a group of approximately 40 volunteers.

The Teen Center is coordinated by Jacky Frentz. Lee Johnson is the Director and is assisted by Dan Sadowski. This Division is operated as a recreational drop-in center for Coon Rapids youth.

Another program operated at this facility is the Trailblazer Program. This Program provides work experiences for the 14 and 15 year olds of Coon Rapids. The Program is coordinated by John Havens, assisted by a staff of four. Approximately 155 Trailblazers were bused for work-related experience through this program each summer.

The Senior Activity Center is an educational, recreational, and nutritional program center for senior citizens. The current Senior Center Coordinator is Sandy Denker. Debbie Hibler held this position until March 1984.

The Senior Center Activity Planner is Connie Dussell. The Coordinator for the Outreach Program is Arlis Twaddle and the Coordinator for the Transportation Program is June Difford. Rachel Smid and Dolores Schenk coordinate the Senior Center and Nancy Rasmussen coordinates the Volunteer Program.

Support staff for the Human Services Department include Receptionist Edith Sheldon, Secretary Carole Mathena, and Typist Laurie Holden.
the required 27,000 tons of coal and/or 81,000 barrels of oil necessary to run the plant each year.

The diary of Albert James Caswell, an early settler and member of the Town Board, wrote on September 15, 1888, "I went to the brickyard near Coon Creek and bought 500 bricks—paid $3.00."

THE ANOKA COUNTY UNION of July 27, 1909, stated, "The Anoka County Board of Equalization met last week. The Board seemed to be in a peevish mood, for they raised valuations right and left. The warmest hit is the brickyard at Coon Creek. The raise there amounted to 400 percent." Many of the red brick buildings in the city of Anoka today were built of brick from the Coon Creek area after the fire in 1894. The demand for a new brick for paving city streets began at the turn of the century and some existing brickyards changed from manufacture of building material to that of paving bricks. These bricks were dense and quite large, being about nine inches by three and one-half inches and were economical and practical for well-traveled streets.

For many years the chimney of the Minnesota Clay Company stood at the corner of 86th Lane and East River Road, a sentinel of the first locally-based industry in Anoka County. The chimney was severely damaged when struck by lightning during a storm on July 25, 1980, and the remainder demolished in the interest of public safety.

RAPID THRASHING

"A job was put on the Coleman Brothers of Coon Creek last Saturday. They were threshing wheat with horse power on the farm of George Smith three miles below the city, and some interested parties thought it would be a good joke to time the work done without the knowledge of the Coleman Brothers. The suggestion was accepted and at the end of the hour twenty bushels of wheat was found to be the result. Parties who have work done by these gentlemen and their machine say that they never had better work."

THE ANOKA COUNTY UNION, September 9, 1880, p. 5, col. 4

POOR FARM

Earlier generations were brought up with a reverence for God, the hope of Heaven, and a fear of the poor house.

In the years prior to Social Security, Medicare, and financial assistance programs, indigents were cared for in County-sponsored homes which were supported through taxes and other means of revenue. The National poor house population reached its peak in the 1920's, but by 1923, the number of residents, officially referred to as "inmates", showed a decline. However, in this same year, the Minnesota poor house population, which constituted less than one percent of the states aged, was still on the increase.

Eighty-eight percent of Minnesota poor houses/farms were managed by County officials through a salaries superintendent. This appears to have been the practice in 1904 in Anoka County as John D. Wilcoxen is shown as "Supervisor of the Poor Farm." 7

The Anoka County Poor Farm was located in Sections 9 and 10 in Anoka Township on land now used as the Coon Rapids High School athletic field, and consisted of 200 acres. The indigent residents lived here free of charge in exchange for assistance with the farm and household chores. All food stuffs were raised on the farm and any surplus was sold for additional income. There was a vegetable garden, a herd of cows, a flock of chickens, and horses which were used in the farming operation. The Anoka County Farm consisted of a large two-story frame house. The manager and family lived on the ground level with the residents occupying the second floor, usually two to a room. On the residents floor was a dining room, cupboard, and sink, as well as separate dishes. Food was prepared by the manager’s wife and carried to the family in a food container.

Also in the Personnel Department is the position of Personnel Technician/Administrative Aide. Colleen Klipstein currently holds this position and has been a staff member since September 7, 1971. Sara Tolfelson is Clerk/Typist for the Department.

The Purchasing Department is responsible for purchasing on an informal or contract basis, including writing and revising specifications, writing requests for Council action, expediting back orders, and maintaining a current file of price lists and catalogues for both suppliers. The Purchasing Department maintains contacts in the trade field, explaining the City's position on purchasing procedures and bidding. The Agent also compiles a file of purchase information upon which the City relies to make insurance coverage decisions. He/she also receives all purchases and processes all invoices. The present Purchasing Agent is Mickey Ferrran. She has been on the City staff since September 5, 1978.

The Assistant to the City Manager, in the capacity of Purchasing Director, supervises this Department. William Fetles was Purchasing Director from 1973 to 1978.

POOR FARM

The house and outbuildings of the Anoka County Poor Farm were located on land now known as the Coon Rapids High School athletic field. Photo courtesy of the Anoka County Historical Society.

The first County Poor Farm was on property owned by S. Farragut and leased by the County in 1898. The buildings burnt in 1900, at which time the County Board purchased the Case farm. In 1902, there were five residents and in 1923, the number remained the same.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hoffman were managers in 1923 and efficient ones. In the previous year there was a revenue of nearly seventeen hundred dollars from the milk alone. The Hoffmans were assisted by their children, Gladys, Frances, Lauretta, Leonard, and Ervin.

In the 1920's eighty acres of the Poor Farm were leased by the State of Minnesota as a part of an experimental agricultural project. As a result of this project, Canary grass was introduced to Anoka County. Alfalfa was also grown and commercial fertilizer was tested.

The farm manager was William G. Smith from 1926 through 1928 and he was followed by George Chamberlain from 1928 to 1936 when the farm was closed.

PERSONNEL/PURCHASING DEPARTMENT

The Personnel and Purchasing Departments are combined into one office. The Director of these departments is Miriam Porter, Assistant to the City Manager, who joined the City staff on August 16, 1962.

The Assistant to the City Manager, in the capacity of Personnel Department, performs many administrative duties including the supervision of the City's personnel activity. Additional duties of the Director include assisting department superintendents and the City’s negotiating team, assisting in preparation of the annual budget, and other administrative tasks as defined by the City Manager. Others who have served in this administrative capacity in the past are Kevin Frazell (1978-1983), Robert Middaugh (1976-1978), and James Main (1972-1976).

PLANNING DEPARTMENT

The Planning Department consists of three divisions: Planning, Housing, and Zoning. The Director of this Department is responsible for directing the activities of the City’s Planning Department, which involves interdepartmental planning and zoning. These activities include the preparation and maintenance of the City’s Comprehensive Plan, development of long range plans, review of plans and plans for new developments within the City, Code enforcement, and zoning.

The Director is also responsible for preparation and administration of Federal and State grants, and County grants dealing with community development. The Director serves as the staff liaison to the Planning Commission.

The current Director of the Planning Department is Lee Starr, who has been on the City staff since May 30, 1980. Planning Department staff members are Joe Grillo (Assistant Planner), Donald G. Reader (Administrative), Richard H. Packer (Planner), Evelyn Turner (Associate Planner), and Cheryl Bennett (Associate Planner/Zoning Administrator). Joe Grillo directs the Housing Division with the assistance of Yvonne Schwartz. Diana Rite is Secretary for the Planning Department.

POLICE DEPARTMENT

In early times the public peace was guarded by military bodies. When the Normans conquered England in 1066 they found the county divided into Counties, or Shires, with a Shire-Reeve at the head of each. The Normans turned this situation into a system of public safety, making the Shire-Reeve, or "Sheriff", the chief law enforcement officer in his county.

The slang term "cop" is often applied to a policeman in the United States. One explanation is that in earlier times, when policemen were called Constables, an officer, when writing his report would write C.O.P. after his name, meaning "Constable on Patrol".

During the Township and Village periods of Coon Rapids, protection of the residents was the responsibility of Constables, who apparently served two-year staggering terms. (See Chapters I and II for names of Constables, 1882-1956).

As residential development took place and the population grew, the problem of domestic crime accelerated.

In February 1957, a meeting of local leaders and representatives of the Coon Rapids area was called to discuss the possible formation of a full time police department. This meeting was prompted by a series of break-ins at the Coon Rapids Shopping Center, Thompson Park Homes, and Anoka Gardens. Vandalism in the village parks was also a problem. Darrell Bomberger and Horace F. "Hutch" Hutchinson were village Constables at the time, and the County Sheriff’s office also provided regular patrols via sheriff’s cars.

Shown in this 1959 photo of the Coon Rapids Police Department are Chief Al Bomberger, seated, and Blanche Nissen. Back row, left to right: H. H. Hutchinson, Marty Ganster, Tom Mevisser, and Darrell Bomberger.
Bomberger. A long time resident, Chief Bomberger was highly qualified, having been a full-time deputy with the police force since 1950. He served as the first Anoka County Probation Officer in 1955 after having been Anoka Township CONSTABLE for nine years.

In January, 1957, Constable Horace F. "Hutch" Hutchinson was appointed an Officer at $50.00 per month, plus mileage of 7 cents per mile for use of his personal car in the performance of patrol duties, the same as Constable Darrell Bomberger.

During the first three months, 8,817 miles were patrolled, 297 radio calls were received, 135 arrests were made, and 112 complaints were answered.

The Police Commission, organized in April 1957, consisted of Thomas Cooper, Frank Miller, and Arthur McCauley. Due to community growth and development, deer hunting in the village was prohibited in November.

Robert Mevissen was named as the first full-time patrolman in March 1958, and in September 1959, Chief Bomberger named a force of five men: Robert Mevissen, Marty Ganzer, Darrell Bomberger, and Horace F. "Hutch" Hutchinson, a part-time officer. In January 1960, Dick Super became the sixth member of the police force.

The police report of 1960 showed 2,831 radio calls answered, 1,232 complaints investigated, and 537 arrests.

In three years, 1960 through 1963, the population had grown to a point where the Police Department had to employ additional officers. In November 1963, there were 19 police officers, 25 civilian Department employees, 10 regular patrolmen, 1 Juvenile Officer, 1 secretary, 2 patrol cars, and 1 investigation car. This car was purchased via bid from Burke Studebaker for $1,715.24.

Chief Al Bomberger, resigned May 5, 1965, and Sergeant Stephen K. O'Keefe was appointed the next day as Chief of Police (of the Fridley tornado) to Interim-Chief until Patrick Nelson was appointed to that position. A year later the police force consisted of 20 persons. In 1970, Gerald Nelson was named Chief. In 1972, there were 48 sworn and 58 personnel. The force employed 10 full-time police officers, 21 fully-equipped police cars, one motorcycle, and one snowmobile.

Public Works Department

The Director of Public Works is responsible for administration and supervision of all public works maintenance activities as well as direct supervision of the Streets, Trees, Parks, Utilities and Building and Fleet Maintenance Divisions. Additional responsibilities include serving as a member of the negotiating team in establishing labor agreements between the City and the Public Works bargaining unit. The Director also serves as staff liaison to the Parks and Recreation Commission.

In February of 1952 the completed addition was dedicated. It contained ten classrooms, an office, and a library.

On April 8, 1952, an election was held to reorganize 26 Anoka County school districts and five Hennepin County districts into one large district. This was approved with voters of Coon Rapids Consolidated School District No. 2 casting 196 yes votes to 89 no votes. In July of 1952, the Coon Rapids educational system became part of Anoka-Hennepin Independent School District No. 220.

During the 1950’s, several new subdivisions were developed, making housing available in large numbers on easy purchase plans. A large percentage of home buyers were young families with children of elementary school age, and the impact of the rapid surge in population was in the elementary schools. The Junior High School in Anoka, which served the entire District No. 220, would be the next to feel the impact of growth. In 1955 it became clear that plans would have to be made for additional facilities. In 1956 Anoka Junior High School had an enrollment of 1,334.

In April 1955 the Board of Education purchased a 40-acre site on Northdale Boulevard from Alfred and Hannah Bomberger for $12,000. Toltz, King, Duval and Anderson were retained as architects and the Coon Rapids Junior High School was built at a cost of $1,452,529 and opened in September of 1958.

In 1957 the Minnesota Legislature enacted a law requiring the State Commissioner of Education to assign a number to each school district within the state for all educational purposes. As a result, Anoka-Hennepin Independent School District No. 220, was assigned District No. 1. As more and more subdivisions were added and the area grew, additional schools became critical. Growth within the area is reflected in the following enrollments for District No. 11, kindergarten through grade 12:

Brick Chimney

This 109-foot high chimney was located at 86th Lane and East River Road. The building chimney was a silent witness to the brickyard operations. It was demolished on July 2, 1980, after being struck by lightning and severely damaged on June 25, 1980.

The current Public Works Director is Russ Ward who has been a member of the City staff since January 1978. Bill Ottensmann was the previous director. Marge Miller is Secretary to the Public Works Director and was employed by the City on June 3, 1976.

The Foreman of the Streets Division is Eugene Gage. As of June 1, 1984, Gage had served the City the longest. His employment began on October 2, 1959. Present members of the Streets Division are Vernon Weiss, Donald Card, Dick Michaelson, Chris Gorgerson, Jeff Neomerov, Harold Neumann, Dean Word, Larry Glose, Robert Hosteller, and Charles Nevala.

The Parks Division is presently headed by Foreman Dick LaBeau. Members of his division are Donald Lodge, Eugene Beckman, Conrad Haase, Harold R. Johnson, David Johnson, Art Powley, Jerold Jorgenson, Ronald Main, Charlie Geringer, Jerry McDaniel, Robert Larson, Gerald Beckwell, and Randy Christensen.

William Dunn is the Foreman of the Utility Division. The present employees in this Division are: LeRoy Moon, Douglas Frisch, Vern Bates, Bruce Johnson, LeRoy Sibell, Gary Dahlberg, and Michael Kieley.

The Trees Division is under the direction of Former Lowell Laboratories. Members are: D. Kent Stupk, and Doug Meyenburg are members of this staff.

The Fleet/Building Maintenance Division is presently composed of eight members under Foreman Glen Rogers. Mechanics are Craig Borchardt, Tom Dahlheimer, Stephen Yost, and Greg Cribin. The Building Maintenance crew is composed of Jerry Holtom, Ken Phelps, and Lloyd Tye.

In accordance with the establishment and operating procedures as contained in Minnesota Statutes Chapter 340.353, and the City Code Chapter 5, Sections 204.206, Coon Rapids opened the first City-owned liquor store in May 1959.

The location of Coon Rapids Municipal Liquor Store No. 1, which is the currently owned liquor store which opened in April 1962. After 20 years the store was moved in October 1982 to a new site at the corner of Northdale and Foley, where a free-standing City-owned building was erected for this enterprise.

Municipal Liquor Store No. 3 was opened in the Red Owl Family Mall in May 1967, and while the liquor store has since changed locations within the Mall, it has been operating in the same facility for the past 17 years. This store is included in the City’s plan to build a free-standing, City-owned building to house Liquor Store No. 3. At this time (1984), the City is looking at properties in the area in order to facilitate construction of an appropriate building.

The rationale for the establishment and location of liquor stores was based upon economic market theory of supply and demand. Supplies are purchased from private wholesalers and sold in the Municipal Liquor Stores at a competitive retail price.

The City is moving toward a “discount liquor concept” at this time. Selling at discount prices will increase volume and at the same time will lower the percentage of rents and labor costs. Dick Johnson, manager of the two remaining municipally owned Coon Rapids Liquor Stores believes the population has become price-conscious due to the economy, and as surrounding municipalities have moved toward the discount liquor concept it is beneficial for Coon Rapids to follow this trend.

Since 1955 in excess of $1,700,000 has been transferred to the City’s General Fund from liquor profits, and represents the operating expenses of the City. Liquor profits then continue to be substituted for property taxes to provide City services.

The Coon Rapids Liquor Commission authorized a 99-year lease with Anacosta Company on April 24, 1966, for a store in the Northdale Hills Regional Park for development as a golf course as a City enterprise. In August of that year, Mr. David Gill, golf course attorney for the City, wrote to the Coon Rapids Commission of Fire Protection that the City was considering the purchase of the golf course. A resolution ordering issuance and advertisement of the sale of $350,000 of Recreational Facility Revenue Bonds was passed by the City Council at a meeting on August 2, 1966. Approximately 160 acres comprised the land area of the golf course upon its opening on July 8, 1968. An 18-hole course, over 7,000 yards in length, and a combination Pro/Pro shop was available for public use at this time.

On April 3, 1973, the Council authorized issuance and sale of $225,000 of Recreational Facility Revenue Bonds for improving the course facilities including construction of a clubhouse and a nine-hole golf course. An additional bond issue of $250,000 was considered for the Executive nine-hole, par 32 course, which opened in 1975.

Foursoe, Inc., owner of the Seasons Restaurant, leased a portion of the clubhouse in March 1973. This privately-owned public restaurant enjoys a Countywide reputation for delicious food, a wonderful view of nature through floor-to-ceiling windows. Russell Weaver, general manager and principal investor since 1979, states “the close working relationship with the Coon Rapids City Council has been of great importance to the success of the establishment”.

Bunker Hills was awarded the National Public Links Championship in 1976. The National Car Open Tournament is held each year at Bunker Hills Golf Course. This three-state open championship is limited to the top 150 qualified entrants out of approximately 400 aspiring contestants of professionals, or those with a five handicap or better. Not the prize, but the prestige gained from participation in the “open” is much sought after.

Coon Rapids Bunker Hills Golf Course’s Dick Tollette has been the “pro” since the course was opened. In 1960, he was named “Third Section Professional of the Year” and in 1963 he received a similar award in relation to the Junior Golf Activities at Bunker Hills Course. Coon Rapids is noted nationally as having one of the best Junior Golf Programs.

Golf Digest magazine ranked Coon Rapids Bunker Hills Golf Course in the “top 50 public courses in the United States” in 1981, and the manager was recently advised that the National Car Open Tournament was committed to extend through 1990, at this location.

In the 15-year history of the municipally-owned golf course, 870,000 golfers have used the facility.

JOE COOK ICE ARENA

Upon recommendation of the Capital Improvement Committee in 1972 the Coon Rapids City Council approved the issuance and sale of $560,000 in Gross Revenue Ice Arena Bonds for the construction of Joe Cook Ice Arena.

The Arena initially provided year-round ice skating, but in the late 1970’s energy costs became prohibitive and it was determined to close the facility for the spring and summer months.

Ice hockey constitutes 100 percent of Arena use from October to March. The largest user is the Coon Rapids Athletic Association. The Coon Rapids High School hockey teams utilize the arena as well as community teams. When first built, Cook Arena was used by Blaine and Anoka High School hockey teams as a practice area.

The Ice Arena is supporting its operating and maintenance expenses; however, the City collects approximately $50,000 annually from property taxes, which is used to pay off the bonds that were issued to finance the construction of the Arena.

NORTH SUBURBAN FAMILY SERVICE CENTER

In the spring of 1971, a group of high school students and teacher Mike Babcock of Coon Rapids Senior High School organized Workshop Inc. Among the concerns were youth employment crisis intervention, low-cost medical service, drug prevention, diagnosis, and education. John Melde of the Coon Rapids Police Department and Dr. William Rodman of the Unity Hospital staff were early supporters of the organization and instrumental in gaining community acceptance.

A Teen Medical Clinic was opened which soon evolved as the Nucleus Clinic in space provided by Anoka-Ramsey Community College. All equal in practice - medical and dental. The clinic’s all-volunteer staff consisted of Dr. William Rodman, Donna Kittelson, Medical Technician, with Norm Nelson and Judy Toensing of ARCC serving as volunteer counselors. They were soon joined by Dr. R.G. Krumm, Lab Technician, and Dr. William Carr of the Silver Lake Medical Clinic. Dr. Carr became Chief of Staff of Unity Hospital in 1973. Unity Hospital provided the laboratory services and today continues to serve the Clinic in this function.

In 1972 a Law Enforcement Assistance Act (LEAA) grant application was approved. With the funds granted the organization moved from the Orrin Thompson business office at Riverview. The County provided $2,500 to move the building to 103rd and Hanson where North Central Gas Company provided a site at one dollar per year.

Through funds provided by the Coon Rapids City Council and the LEAA grant in 1975, a staff was hired. Don Wegscheider, Director; Jack Breslin, Coordinator of Volunteers; and Karen Robinson, Part-time Coordinator of the Clinic and Board of Directors which included Debby Bigelow, Kathy Antus, Mark Gwinn, and Carol Thein.

After the grant was approved, the name was changed to North Suburban Youth Service Center, with Joel Koegelgen as Executive Director and a paid staff of four persons. The Center served an average of 150 to 200 people per month.

John Carlstrom, Youth Coordinator for the City of Coon Rapids and liaison to schools and community organizations, was hired to work with the teens in 1973. Debby Krivotz-Davis joined the staff in 1976 as Family Counselor and was soon joined by one of the founders of the clinic program. Jacky Fregn, Family Counselor since 1978, is now Associate Director. Terri Melnychenko replaced John Carlstrom as the Family Coordinator in February 1976.

In 1961 postal authorities conducted a study to determine space and specifications for a classified postal branch of the Minneapolis Post Office. In February 1963 the Coon Rapids Post Office began operations with two supervisors: Sid Kykendall, Donald Robinson, and three clerks, all transferred from the Minneapolis Post Office. According to present Manager (formerly titled Postmaster), Daniel Wozniak, this branch at that time served all of Coon Rapids, Blaine, Anoka, and Sibley and Anoka. The personnel of the Coon Rapids Post Office has grown from one person in 1869 to 51 carriers, all of whom are motorized with the exception of one foot carrier in a mobile home park.

DUNN HOUSE

On what is now the southeast corner of Coon Rapids Boulevard and Egret stood the “Dunn House”. This site has had a progression of houses, kept as hotels or stopping places for travelers on the United States Military Road.

Prior to 1872 the property was owned by Mary and Isaac Kimball. Isaac Kimball was an early settler of Anoka County, having purchased the Inn at Rice Creek in Manomin (now Fridley) from John Banfield in the spring of 1853. He later became the proprietor of the Kimball House in Anoka. In 1872, the Kimball property was sold to Emily P. Campbell, who in turn sold it to John Dunn in 1880.

While historical accounts indicate that the “original building on the site was built by a Robert Campbell”, it is unlikely that he was actually the builder of the first hotel or inn in that location. Isaac Kimball had been in the hotel business as early as 1853, and would be more apt to have begun such an enterprise than this much-used thoroughfare. By 1872, when the site was sold, traffic on the United States Military Road had trickled to a few travelers, with railway transportation readily available.

Emily Campbell may well have been keeping the house for travelers at the time it burnt, and another hotel began at the time John Dunn purchased the property.

JARED BENSON RESIDENCE

This is a drawing of the Jared Benson residence and stock farm which was located in Section 37 of Anoka Township (now Coon Rapids) The farm was located in the area of Riverside and Coon Rapids Boulevards. Jared Benson came from Winchester County, Massachusetts, to Minnesota in 1856. The sketch is from the illustrated Historical Atlas published by H.T. Andreas in 1874 and republished in 1979 by Unto-Grace, Inc., of Evansville, Indiana.

SCHOOLS

Schools in Anoka County were numbered in order of their organization. District No. 1 was organized in the village of Anoka in November 1865; followed by District No. 2 in Anoka Township in 1856. The original building stood on what is now Coon Rapids Boulevard across from the WCCO Transmitter station in Section 17. By 1869-20 schools districts were functioning within the County. At this time most of the schoolhouses were built of logs. The average school term was four and one-half months.

It is interesting to note that by 1882 only one log schoolhouse remained in the County. Forty-five were frame and one was brick (District No. 2).[4]

In 1876 District No. 2 built a brick school on the northwest corner of the intersection of Crooked Lake and Coon Rapids Boulevards near the site of an earlier schoolhouse. This brick building and the earlier structure both existed for many years, eventually being remodeled as residences.

DISTRICT NO. 2 SCHOOLHOUSE

This brick schoolhouse was constructed in 1876. The building stood near the present intersection of Crooked Lake and Coon Rapids Boulevards. School District No. 2 was the second school district in Anoka County, being organized in 1856. The photo was taken around the turn of the century.

DISTRICT NO. 2

The earliest available school records are from 1867, at which time the following persons were School District Officers for District No. 2: Jared Benson, Clerk; N. Parks and Jacob Schwab, Directors; and A. Worcester, Treasurer.

Mary Molloy, teacher, opened the school on Tuesday, October 23, 1877, for a term of three months. The teacher for the following year was E.A. Braden for a term of four months. Subjects taught included reading, spelling, writing, arithmetic, grammar, geography, and history.[5]

By 1914 the school term had expanded to eight months. The teacher was Mrs. Clara “Casey” Taft, whose salary was also $52.50 per month. This was a one-room school, the schoolroom being 28 feet by 20 feet with a 12-foot ceiling, two outhouses (20 feet apart) which were scrubbed twice a unusual for the passengers to get out of the coach to walk up hills to lighten the load for the horses, nor uncommon for them to push the stagecoach when it became mired after a rain.

Before the railroad, a stage line ran from St. Paul to St. Cloud, the route following East River Road, continuing somewhat south and parallel to the present route of Highway 10.

The trade that had grown up over the Red River Trail between 1820 and 1870 was a major factor in the planning and building of railroads through the area. Travel and freighting over the trails themselves came to a final close in 1872 with the opening of the Northern Pacific to Moorhead.

RAILROAD

The first railroad in Anoka County, the St. Paul and Pacific, was completed from the Twin Cities to Anoka in 1863, pushed to Elk River in 1864 and reached St. Cloud and Sauk Rapids in 1866. The Coon Creek cut-off between Coon Creek and Hinckley was built in 1898-1899 by the Eastern Railway Company of Minnesota. Both lines passed into the possession of the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba Railroad Company. In 1884 the St. Paul and Northern Pacific absorbed into the Northern Pacific. The Coon Creek cutoff was also known as the "Duluth Branch".

HURRAH FOR THE RAILROAD!" THE ANOKA COUNTY UNION

headlines reflected the importance of the arrival of the railroads. The St. Paul and Pacific was succeeded to the Minnesota and Pacific, was completed to St. Anthony in 1862. By December 6, 1863, passenger trains were running between St. Paul to Manomin, with the service extended to Coon Creek by December 9. The trains ran back and forth on the return trip to Manomin, as there was no turn-around at Coon Creek.

THE ANOKA STAR, of November 28, 1863, reported, "We are told the cars are to run as far as Coon Creek, four and a half miles from Anoka. We are looking to hear the whistle!" On December 12, 1863, the headlines exclaimed, "The whistle of the engine is now heard in Anoka!"

Traveling by train was a great deal more comfortable than traveling by stagecoach, although passengers became covered by dust and sand. In 1881, a passenger coach on the St. Paul and Pacific Railroad of the 1870's had upholstered seats, a wood-burning stove, and kerosene lamps.

The cut-off from Coon Creek Junction was laid by the Great Northern in 1899 and this became a switching point which included a large freighthouse and station. Local brickyards and farmers shipped cattle, potatoes, and other farm products from this point, creating a bustling center of activity.*

In 1942, the railroad considered closing the station due to declining shipments. The decision was made by fate when a freight train jumped the track, crashed into the station house, which set ablaze, nearly killing the telegraph operator. The station was a total loss.

POST OFFICE

The Coon Creek Post Office was established February 8, 1869, by the Postmaster General of the United States. On the same day, Moody Caswell was named the first Postmaster. He apparently served in this capacity until October 29, 1874, when his son, Albert James Caswell was appointed to the Postmaster position.†

The Coon Creek Post Office was located at the farmhouse of the Caswell family, which was near the railroad. The mail was "dropped" as the train passed by, a box which was closed, the mail was dropped by the conductor on the train.

According to local tradition, A.A. Bergeron was the next Postmaster when he rented the Caswell farm. He served in this position for several years, moving away when the Caswell farm was sold. The Coon Creek Post Office was discontinued October 14, 1893, and transferred to Anoka, until November 6th of the same year when it was re-established. The post office remained at Coon Creek until February 15, 1905, when it was again moved to Anoka.

POSTMASTER’S CERTIFICATE

This certificate was issued by the Postmaster General of the United States appointing Moody Caswell as the first Postmaster of Coon Creek (Coon Rapids) on February 25, 1869. The original certificate is found in the Arthur D. Caswell Family papers located in the Archives/Mansucript Division of the Minnesota Historical Society and reprinted with permission.

FIRST MAIL

ANOKA-RAMSEY COMMUNITY COLLEGE

Youth Coordinator in 1975, and is presently the Director of Human Services.

The fall of 1977 saw the move to the "new" building, which previously had housed Fire Station No. 1 and the municipal liquor store on Coon Rapids Boulevard.

In 1975 the LEAA grant expired at which time the NSFSC began to have programming. The program was again changed to North Suburban Family Service Center. Edith Sheldon was hired as receptionist, and became known as "Resident Mother" to the staff. In 1975, Moody LeLand Johnson has been Teen Center Director since 1980.

The programs today are somewhat different than those originally offered. The job program was dropped when the County C.E.T.A. Program for teenagers began and others were integrated into community programs.

Services currently offered are:

- Family Counseling—Which includes: Individual psychotherapy, marital counseling, family therapy, group counseling, divorce counseling, psychological testing, chemical dependency, after-care counseling, and community education. The therapy staff includes: Janet Pritts, MFT; Terri Schilling, MA; Nancy Jones, BS, R.N.; Margaret Doig, MSW; and Linda Bussell, RN.
- TRAILBLAZERS: A short-term summer job and recreational opportunity for 150 Coon Rapids youth 13 to 15 years of age.
- Nucleus Clinic—The Clinic serves the target population of Anoka County with a special emphasis on serving women 21 years and under. Services include pregnancy testing and decision counseling, VD testing and treatment, birth control and education. The Clinic is open three nights per week and serves approximately 1,900 persons annually. Teen Center—Cooperative teen programs are offered to the 12-17 year olds. The Commissioner Programs and in 1983 the Teen Center served 600 participants. A drop-in center for Coon Rapids teens is maintained at the FSCC building.  Senior Activity Center—The Center opened its doors in 1980 with Debbie Hibel as Senior Activity Coordinator. A congregate dining program serves 150 meals annually and 600 seniors enjoy crafts, bingo, cards, and other recreational programs, including trips. A van is provided through the joint efforts of Jerry Wright, President of the First Bank of Coon Rapids, and Grant McKay of Coon Rapids City Council. The City of Coon Rapids provides van driver and maintenance.

In 1981 the counseling program at NSFSC was approved by the Department of Public Welfare, State of Minnesota, to become a Mental Health Center.

The goal of the Center counseling program was reached in 1983. The goal was to run the counseling program without cost to the City, except for the per-unit charge for Coon Rapids residents. In 1983 the City paid $19,000 for City residents receiving counseling.

Coon Rapids City Councils have been very supportive of the NSFSC through the years, another example of the City government's recognition of community need.

The story of an institution like Anoka-Ramsey Community College cannot be told without an appreciation for those who have made it possible. Donors and contributors, both individuals and businesses, have made substantial contributions to making it a reality and those who continue to contribute to its improvement and excellence.

Anoka-Ramsey's "people" story really goes back to before 1962 when civic and education leaders in the Anoka County area were working together to combat juvenile delinquency. In 1962 the Anoka County Board of Commissioners, at the specific request of the superintendents of school districts in the County (Anoka, Hemnepin, Spring Lake Park, Fridley, Columbia Heights, and Centennial), formed an Anoka County Youth Employment and Training Program Committee, which later became the Youth Employment and Education Program Committee. On the Board at that time were Edward Fields, Mike O'Bannon, and Al Kordik.

Irving Barrett, Director of Youth services for Anoka County, was appointed to this Committee along with County Attorney Robert Johnson, State Senator Vern Hovius, State Representative Connie Burchett, Superintendents Morris Bridgman (Spring Lake Park), Howard Jensen (Columbia Heights), John Hanson Fridley, A.P. Bergan (Centennial), District No. 11 Board member Leland Sorteberg, and other interested citizens.

Their 40-page report supported their commitment to seeing that a junior college be built in what was, in their opinion, a "college-void" area.

To further their cause, the Anoka County Board of Commissioners in December 1963 appointed a site committee and voted to purchase the land when the site was selected and give it to the State for a campus. Members of the Committee were residents of the five County Commissioner districts: Arnold A Kelling, Harvey Peterson, D.H. Gregerson, Wayne Anderson, and Donald Harstd. Irving Barrett, Youth Employment and Training Program Director for Anoka County, was named to work with the group.

City Councils of Anoka, Coon Rapids, Blaine, Fridley, Circle Pines, and many civic groups and private citizens also participated in these initial efforts and meetings.

The site selection committee met with groups throughout the County, and on October 12, 1964, presented seven sites in the County to the State Legislature, with County Attorney R.W. Gratz, R.P. Jansen (Chairman of the Anoka County delegation. In December Anoka County was chosen as a junior college site. Centennial School District in Circle Pines opened its doors for the temporary home of Anoka-Ramsey in the fall of 1965 while a permanent location was being chosen.

The Minnesota Junior College Board investigated the seven sites in November 1965 selected the "WCCO Radio" site on the Mississippi River, largely because of the student population, traffic flow, and the aesthetics of the area.

The Anoka County Board of Commissioners unanimously voted to approve the purchase of 65 acres from Arthur McCauley and 20 acres from Wilfred Leitschuh and to give it to the state.

Construction began in the spring of 1966 and continued while second year enrollment at the temporary location grew to over 1,000. During the summer of 1967 students and faculty devoted weeks to moving to the new campus.

Anoka-Ramsey officially opened the doors of the new facilities to 1,400 students on September 16, 1967, becoming the first permanent junior college campus in the metro area.

Programs grew and others were added in cooperation with the new Anoka Area Vocational-Technical School which also opened in 1967. The initial Anoka County Youth Employment and Training Program began in 1962 and also had been instrumental in bringing the Anoka AVTI to the Anoka-Hennepin District No. 11.

The first plans of construction included the College Services, Library, Science and Humanities Buildings. The Gymnasium/Activities Building was finished in 1969. Phase III—the Center for the Arts, Fine Arts, and Business/Technology Buildings—was finished in 1972. In 1976, the Theatre Building completed the campus as it now stands.

During this growing process, the State Legislature also changed the names of its junior colleges to community colleges.

Many people of the area maintain a strong commitment to Anoka-Ramsey. Cooperative agreements between Anoka-Ramsey and the Anoka AVTI and between Anoka-Ramsey and the City of Coon Rapids provide educational programs and athletic facilities for area students. Other local agencies and organizations make use of Anoka-Ramsey services and facilities on a regular basis. A few examples are the Anoka Theatre Ensemble, the Outdoor Summer Concert Series, the Arts Do-It Day, and the Social Studies Current Events Contest for high school students.

Recognition has come to Anoka-Ramsey as a result of outstanding work by advisors and students in academics, athletics, and athletics. Full accreditation has been granted by the North Central Association of Colleges and Schools, the National League for Nursing and the Engineering Council for Professional Development. The joint programs in the health services with Anoka AVTI are accredited by their respective organizations.

Committed service area residents have served on the Anoka-Ramsey College Advisory Committee since it began. A total of 38 people have been named to that committee over the years. Currently just 11 people serve on the Cambridge Center Advisory Committee.

The staff of the college has also shown long-standing commitment to the institution. Those who were part of the original 22-member faculty and are still instructors at Anoka-Ramsey include Bill Jackson, Ron Hunter, Phil DeWolfe, Mary Lewis, Joe Glaser, and Loyda Hillgren. One, Bob Cutting, recently retired.

The Personnel Officer, Norma Paulson was also there at the beginning in 1965.

Prior to the selection of Dr. Neil Christenson as President in December 1975, administrative heads were Dr. Emil Wilken and Dr. Ronald Denison.

The students, staff, and area residents continue to help Anoka-Ramsey grow and update priorities to meet the changing needs of the people it serves. The “people” story continues.

The foregoing information on Anoka-Ramsey Community College was prepared by Sandi Hitch, Director of Community Relations for the College and is presented here with permission.

COMMUNITY SCHOOL PROGRAM

In November 1971 the Coon Rapids City Council and Anoka-Hennepin Independent School District No. 11 entered into a Joint Powers Agreement to share in the establishment and funding of a Community School Program. The objective of the Community School Program is to bring together the schools and the community in an effort to share resources to the benefit of all.

Each designated school building, grounds, special facilities and equipment are used by the entire community. Human resources are channeled into the schools where they are made available to the entire community.

The Community School concept consists of three main components: recreation, education, and enrichment for youth, kindergarten through grade 12. Programs are developed to meet local needs as determined by the citizens.

Neighborhood advisory councils assist in forming a meaningful program and they are a vital asset in bringing together people from all walks of life; i.e., representatives from business, community, churches, schools, community organizations, and parents.

Under the terms of the Joint Powers Agreement, the City pays 70 percent of the cost of salaries for the Community School Coordinators and a supplemental dollar amount to

An early reference to the Coon Rapids area is found on a map charted in 1849 by Captain John Pope of the United States Corps of Topographical Engineers shows Coon Creek as “Petebarb.” Translated as “burning coals” in the Ojibwe language, this name may have related to the occurrence of fires in the peat bogs along Coon Creek.

The area which is now the City of Coon Rapids was well known to travelers on the Red River Trail as early as 1837. The colorful metis (Indian and European) known as Bois Brule, “burnt wood,” followed the trail, carrying furs and trade goods to Fort Snelling from the settlement at Fort Garry near Winnipeg, Canada. On the return trip the Red River carts were filled with a variety of supplies which were needed at Pembina and points along the way.

The course of the Red River Trail ran from Point Douglas to Fort Gaines (now Camp Ripley) entirely on the east side of the Mississippi River and, with few exceptions, within a mile or so from the river. (Fort Gaines was changed in 1850 to Fort Ripley as the name “Fort Gaines” had been selected for a fort in Alabama.)

The United States Military Road was renumbered in May 1851 by James Simpson. Construction of the Fort Ripley road began the following year and was completed in 1858. According to Simpson: “The principal rivers to be crossed are, Coon Creek, forty-eight and a half feet wide, a distance from Point Douglas forty-five miles...” A letter from J.W. Bond written to the MINNESOTA DEMOCRAT newspaper in St. Paul, dated 24 May 1851, states, “The road to Coon Creek, five miles [is] very bad and the country to Rum River [from Bantii’s] uninhabited, flat, marshy and very unin- teresting, and undergrowth of bushes and oak opening[s]...” Another description of the terrain: “...from there (the town of Anoka, south) the Red River carts had to battle a succession of severe sandhills along the general course of Anoka County Road No. 1 [now Coon Rapids Boulevard]...” After passing Coon Creek, within present Coon Rapids, the carts arrived at Rice Creek, on the south side of which stood John Bantii’s well-known house and tavern, built in 1849. This historic inn is being preserved by the Anoka County Historical Society. The trace of the Red River Trail ran through Anoka Township Sections 36, 35, and 26 to Coon Creek. Crossing the creek in the northern part of Section 26, it followed north through Sections 16, 17, 8, and 7 to the Rum River at what is now Anoka. From Section 26 through Section 17 Coon Rapids Boulevard follows within a few feet of the original course of the Red River Trail.

STAGECOACH LINE

One of the earliest stagecoach lines in Minnesota Territory ran between St. Paul and St. Anthony in 1849. Trips were made daily with passengers as well as small amounts of freight. Stagecoach travel in summer and “stage sleigh” in the winter months was the most common form of transportation until the coming of the railroads.

Travel by stagecoach was most uncomfortable and time-consuming, with many stops along the way. It was not

IN THE BEGINNING . . .

"To bring together the records of the past where they will be preserved for the use of men living in the future, a nation must believe in three things. It must believe in the past. It must believe in the future. It must, above all, believe in the capacity of its people, so to learn from the past that they can gain judgment for the creation of the future."

each community school to offset program costs for youth participants. The School District pays 30 percent of Coordinators' salaries, the salary of a full-time director, all District support staff, all support clerical staff, as well as all fringe benefits.

At this time there are six full-time and four part-time participating community schools within Coon Rapids. Full-time elementary schools are: Adams, Mississippi, Morris Bye and Sorteberg. Part-time elementary schools are: Hamilton, Hoover, L.O. Jacobs and Sand Creek. The two secondary schools which participate on a full-time basis are Coon Rapids Junior High and Northdale Junior High.10

In November 1963 the Ray Swansenberg property south of Coon Rapids Boulevard was the site of a gathering of people who had dedicated many years to the dream of a modern community hospital. As the earth mover scraped off the sod and the first layer of dirt, the chilled spectators were warmed by the knowledge that their sustained efforts were reaching fruition.

In the mid-1950's the first meeting of the Anoka Community Hospital Association was held and officers were elected. Plans to operate the dining hall at the Anoka County Fair as a fund raising project were made by the Women's Auxiliary. Proceeds of this effort were designated to purchase material for hospital gowns, bedding, etc.

A community survey was developed to define the area to be served by the projected hospital cost, cost of operating the hospital, and other factors. A donation of $5,000 was presented by Charles L. Horn of Federal cartridge Corporation to facilitate the survey. The survey was completed in March 1956 and showed the need for a 65-bed hospital in the Anoka area. Investigation of sites and possible plans for financing the hospital took place during 1956 through 1958.

At the annual meeting in September 1961 the Hospital Association of over 700 members discussed various methods of financing, resulting in a $1,000,000 bond issue for hospital construction. The issue was defeated.

The Anoka Hospital Board voted unanimously on January 30, 1963, to accept the offer of Glenwood Hills Hospital to build a 100-bed hospital for the Anoka-Coon Rapids community. Mayor Joseph Craig of Coon Rapids was named Vice President of the Board at this meeting.

At a meeting February 25, 1963, the membership of the Anoka Community Hospital Association voted to increase the number of directors from 17 to 27. This action was taken to allow the addition of two members from the City of Coon Rapids and two members at large. The Board met on February 27 to approve the following directors from Coon Rapids: Arnold Wichterman, John Steelman, Hugh D. Putnam, Howard Nordstrom, Henry Goldstein, Mrs. Lee Stufler, Don Olson, Leroy H. Johnson, and Harold Bartholomew.

An agreement between Glenwood Hills Hospital and the Anoka Community Hospital Association was signed March 20, 1963. The Board of Directors voted unanimously to build a 300-bed hospital on the Ray Swansenberg property. Swansenberg donated four acres to the hospital project and the remaining ten acres of the tract were purchased.

A contest was held to select a name for the hospital and on May 24, 1963, the announcement was made that the new facilities be named "Mercy Hospital". The cash prize of $100.00 was split four ways, as four people had submitted the same name.

A fund drive over the preceeding months had raised $500,000 of the necessary $600,000 to let bids. Federal Cartridge Corporation agreed to donate $50,000 upon the total reaching $550,000 to bring the funds to the necessary amount. In November 1963 the Finance Committee Chairman announced that a total of $609,033.93 had been collected or pledged. In November 1963 bids for construction of Mercy Hospital were opened and contracts awarded. That same week, a new Board of Directors were elected at the annual meeting. Those placed on the Board from Coon Rapids were: Harold Bartholomew, LeRoy Johnson, Mrs. Norman Beckwall, Iaved Cornelius, and Joseph Craig.

The date for the official opening of Mercy Hospital was scheduled for March 22, 1965, and all was in readiness for that event, but fate had other plans. The need for the hospital was clearly demonstrated on the night of the 17th, when inclement weather prevented an expectant mother from reaching the nearest Minneapolis or suburban hospital. The baby, Mercy Jeannine Melton, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Melton, was born on March 18th, and the hospital was off to a running start!

At the end of 1965 Mercy Hospital had reached its capacity of 144 beds. In 1970, Mercy Hospital became a division of Health Central, Inc., a diversified non-profit health care management and service organization headquartered in Brooklyn Center. A $12,000,000 six-story addition was completed in 1974.

On the tenth anniversary (March 17, 1975) the Mercy Hospital Board of Governors changed the hospital name to Mercy Medical Center to more clearly reflect its increased medical services and facilities.

The adult Mental Health and Chemical Dependency Units were opened in the fall of 1976, and adolescent services were first offered in September 1978. A Home Health Care and Hospice Program was developed in 1979. In 1981 the CT Scan was purchased and a new Short Stay Surgery area was opened.

The current Board of Governors are: Albert Bailey (Chairman), Sherwood Cleveland, Lee Carlson, Neil Christensen (Vice Chairman and resident of Coon Rapids), Joseph Craig (former Mayor of Coon Rapids), Donald Esmary (resident of Coon Rapids), Donald Janiga, MD, Naomi Johnson, Ruben Kravik, Ed Lynde, John Wingard, Ronald Villella, MD (executive officer), Shirley Weidner (executive officer), Jerry Blume (executive officer, Chief Executive Officer), and Charleen Shields (executive officer).

In conjunction, but not associated with the City Parks and Recreation Commission, is the totally volunteer organization of the Coon Rapids Athletic Association (CRAA). This private, non-profit corporation was organized in 1964 with the dedicated purpose of developing recreational activities for City youth. It is governed by a Board of Directors, elected from the membership which is made up of parents whose children are enrolled in any of the programs offered. It is one of the largest all-volunteer athletic associations in the State of Minnesota. The Coon Rapids Athletic Association Auxiliary is a large group of mothers who volunteer their time in the areas of registration, team photos, operation of the concession stands, and coordinating the annual sales of candy and mixed nuts. Through the fund-raising efforts of these important volunteers, registration fees are kept to a minimum. The Auxiliary has generated an average of $20,000 annually for a five-year period. The CRAA Board of Directors works closely with the Coon Rapids City Council, City staff, the Community Services Department of Anoka-Hennepin School District No. 11, and the Community School Directors. No direct tax money is received by CRAA; however, the City’s park facilities are utilized for all recreational programs. The City of Coon Rapids and the School District supply administrative and clerical assistance. The CRAA uses 1,400 square feet of space in the City Garage for storage of athletic equipment through a Joint Powers Agreement. A concession building was erected by the organization at Sand Creek Park for use during their activities. Programs offered by CRAA include softball, soccer, football, basketball, hockey, wrestling, and track. In 1968-69, registration totaled 2,105 and in 1980 had grown to 4,130 participants. Over 200 men and women volunteers serve as referees, umpires, and groundskeepers. Maximum participation is emphasized rather than competition.

HIGHWAY NO. 610 RIVER BRIDGE

While the first official reference to a bridge over the Mississippi River in Coon Rapids is found in the Coon Rapids City Council Minutes of March 16, 1965, rumors of such an event abounded as early as the 1950’s.

City Council minutes reflect the preference regarding the location of such a bridge in 1965 was at the foot of Hanson Boulevard. At this time Resolution 65-11 was drawn by the City Manager, at Council’s request, and the Planning Commission was charged with the study and submission of their recommendations. At the culmination of this activity, it was determined that no funds were available for such an undertaking and the matter was dropped.

In 1970 several communities from Hennepin and Anoka Counties, the Counties of Anoka, Hennepin, and Ramsey, the Minnesota Highway Department, and the Metropolitan Council discussed the steps necessary to initiate the river crossing. The Metropolitan Council was requested to serve as the lead agency for a cooperative study between all the governmental units and agencies. A study team composed of administrative officials from each of these governmental units and agencies was selected. A technical task force composed of professionals was created to provide ongoing technical direction. In July of 1971, a Study Design was prepared by Bather-Ringrose-Wolsfeld, Inc. describing major work tasks to be conducted in the course of river crossing. The Design Study stressed critical involvement and environmental concerns. A contract was executed in March of 1972 between the Metropolitan Council and Barton-Aschman Associates, Inc. on behalf of the other agencies to conduct a further study. Over the course of the next few years, all the governmental units and agencies met several times to discuss the study and various problems associated with the river crossing.

Through a study made by the Minnesota Department of Transportation (MnDOT) in early 1973, the location of the bridge was decided and impact studies determined that no monies from MnDOT, the County, nor the City of Coon Rapids were available for bridge construction at that time. In the late 1970’s MnDOT removed Highway 35 from the Interstate System which freed funds for Minnesota and other projects through the Interstate Substitution Fund. A percentage of this fund was reallocated for immediate impact areas within the metropolitan scope. In other words, this fund created a “whole new funding pot”, according to Charles Hudrich of MnDOT.

The location of the bridge in Coon Rapids is approximately one mile south of the Coon Rapids Dam, or about 88th Street, angling southwest across the Mississippi River to 95th Street in Brooklyn Park in Hennepin County.

The final location of the bridge is not ideal from an engineering viewpoint, but the most desirable location—south of the Coon Rapids Dam and the adjacent residential district—would have required the removal of the homes in that area to accommodate the bridge approach.

The bridge will ultimately accommodate six lanes of traffic, however, the initial phase of construction will allow four single lanes with the future second phase of construction being an identical span parallel to the existing structure which will provide the additional two lanes. Phase two is a planned future project with the construction dates not available at this time.

The bridge approach will over pass Coon Rapids Boulevard, East River Road and the railroad tracks with a major interchange at Trunk Highway No. 10 and No. 47 (same road). Off freeway south bound access to the bridge will be at both Coon Rapids Boulevard and East River Road, egress off the freeway at the same locations will be northbound only.

As the eastern bridge approach crosses an area of wetlands, it is estimated that 500,000 cubic yards of fill material will be needed.

The bridge, designed by the Minnesota Department of Transportation, will be constructed of pre-stressed concrete and of a simple functional design. It will contain 11 spans for a total of 1,325 feet, and the height from water level to the top of the structure is approximately 30 feet.

PREFACE

Coon Rapids, "A Fine City by a Dam Site" - this title is no accident. This book will excite your curiosity to seek out unrecorded information about this City located adjacent to the mighty Mississippi River. There has been no thorough, recorded and documented history of the City of Coon Rapids written previously to this time.

The Coon Rapids Historical Commission has been promoting the writing of a Coon Rapids history for some time. The research and time required to do this was, however, overwhelming for a volunteer commission. As the 25th anniversary year for Coon Rapids as a City came closer, the Commission had stronger feelings about having a documented history of Coon Rapids produced. As budget time approached in 1983 for the 1984 fiscal year, the Commission decided to request funds for research and to write the history. Through two channels, funding for the project was finally approved. The City Council provided funds in addition to funding obtained through the Minnesota Emergency Employment Development Act (MEED).

In December of 1983, Leslie Randels-Gillund was employed by the City of Coon Rapids to research and write the history. Mrs. Gillund is a board member of the Association for Certification for Minnesota Genealogists, Inc. She has compiled and produced a book on Randels Roots and Branches, a well-documented history of her family. She has written articles for the Minnesota Genealogist Newsletter and has had columns in the Sun Newspaper entitled Roots and Branches. She has done research work on history for attorneys, authors, and many individuals. Mrs. Gillund was president of the Anoka County Historical Society from 1975 through 1979. While president, she was coordinator and instrumental in publishing the book Silent Cities, a book on cemeteries in Anoka County. She also helped in compiling information on two other booklets about cemeteries in Champlin and Dayton in Hennepin County. Mrs. Gillund is a certified specialist in Minnesota history research.

The history of Coon Rapids is written in three chapters. Chapter I - In the Beginning - takes you from 1849 to 1952. It was during this era that Anoka Township (Coon Rapids) was in a very rural setting. There were times within this period that activity flourished, such as the brickyards era and the busy times during the dam construction in 1912 and 1913. Population of the Township in 1952, just prior to the time of the incorporation as a Village, was under 3,000 people.

Chapter II covers the period of time in which Coon Rapids was a Village, October 1952 up to June of 1959. Many things happened during the change from a rural setting to a suburban community. Population of the Village went from under 3,000 to just under 15,000 in the short span of eight years. The name Coon Rapids was now becoming known in the greater Metropolitan area.

The next 25 years of the City’s growth, the activities in government and in semi-public development are contained in Chapter III. No city can progress and develop unless it has the help and cooperation of its citizens. Coon Rapids is very fortunate in that respect because many citizens from all walks of life have helped and participated in the government affairs of the City. Those people who have helped in forming the City are mentioned in this chapter.

"The survival of democracy depends upon the ability of a large number of people to make realistic choices in the light of adequate information." This quote by Aldous Huxley is the introduction to Chapter III and precisely identifies why the City of Coon Rapids is known for its progressiveness and leadership in the Metropolitan area.

Ultimately the freeway from the bridge will extend eastwardly from Highway Nos. 10 and 47 through Blaine and will be the new route of State Trunk Highway No. 10 through the County. The total impact of the freeway and bridge on the City of Coon Rapids is impossible to gauge at this time but it will undoubtedly enhance commercial, industrial, and housing development by providing fast, efficient access to the Twin Cities area and to the interstate system. It will provide a fast route south to people of the north suburban area who work in the Twin Cities. An increased flow of traffic is expected on East River Road, however the traffic will be decreased south of the system. Total cost of Phase I of the project is approximately $25,000,000. The date for completion of the project is late 1987. Coon Rapids City Council’s 18 years of continued interest and determination was finally successful. The bridge over the Mississippi River at Coon Rapids is to become a reality.
